BRYAN NOISE IN CONVENTION

Talked to the Galleries and Was Given Hearty Response.

DEFEATED ON VOTE

COLISEUM TICKETS ON SALE

By HENRY J. FORD.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, July 7.—This was Bryan day in the convention. The warmth of his reception more than made up for yesterday's frost. The big hall was rammed, packed and jammed. It seats over 11,000, and not only were all seats filled, but all standing room also was taken. Aisles and doorways were jammed with people standing up and cutting off the view of those seated. There is nothing like order in the management of the convention hall and there is evidently some big leak in the ticket arrangements.

On the sidewalks outside of the Coliseum speculators were shouting: "Here you are for convention tickets," displaying handsful which they sold openly. Inside the hall the heat was stifling, but the rooters were in full voice and eager for the fray. Chairman Williams' voice was completely gone. He used a megaphone, but could not make himself heard even with that. He kept pounding with the gavel, but the galleries were running the convention, and the galleries were not paying any attention to Mr. Williams.

The first Bryan demonstration took place as he entered. There were shouts of "Bryan! Bryan! hurrah for Bryan!" all through the building. The yelling and shouting went on for at least five minutes, and then the Nebraska delegation made a move which spoiled the effect.

Climax of the Bryan Drama.

They raised the state standard and started toward the platform. The only state that followed was little Rhode Island; so the demonstration fell flat and they turned back to their seats. Just then the Georgia delegation displayed a Parker banner and there was a roar of applause for Parker. Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Arkansas, Michigan and other states raised their standards and trooped to the platform. There were counter cheers for Bryan, but the Parker people had much the best of it.

The great act of the Bryan drama came off at the afternoon session. He is a member of the resolutions committee and has been attending the sessions of that committee, but at the same time he has been looking after the proceedings of the credentials committee in relation to the Illinois contest. When the committee's report was presented he took the platform and read a minority report in favor of unseating the Hopkins delegation. He has the tone of an orator's voice and he has been the one speaker who could be heard distinctly. He does not appear to be speaking loudly but the tone is clear and melodious, reaching every part of the hall.

The report was a long document, going into minute details of the Illinois primaries, and soon became tedious, but the audience kept quiet. After submitting it he made a passionate speech in favor of the contestants and at once he raised a storm of which he was the master spirit. He began by saying that he had come to the convention with the hope that nothing would occur to stir feeling or arouse contention, but that all elements would be able to agree upon a platform and a candidate to represent a united party.

Bryan's Bitter Attack.

He still hoped that they would have a platform which could be presented to the country as the platform of a united party, but the issues now raised by the Illinois case involved a fundamental principle of Democracy—the right of the majority to rule.

He then proceeded to make a bitter attack upon the Hopkins delegation, likening them to train robbers, highwaymen, and referring to them as "that gang." As his voice rang through the convention hall his admirers went wild. "Give it to 'em, Billy," "Hit 'em again," were shouted from the galleries and the crowd which had invaded into the aisles. The train robber comparison evoked a tremendous roar. Mr. Bryan rubbed it in by deliberately repeating the train robber comparison and adding that if the credentials of the Hopkins delegation were recognized all train robbers should have to do is to certify over their own signatures that the money was a voluntary contribution taken up for religious purposes.

There were many such savage thrusts, over which the rooters yelled with delight; but it was noticeable that the delegates sat silently and motionless through the speech, which was plainly directed to the galleries. In a later speech, replying to the arguments of those who defended the majority report, he was still more bitter and personal, denouncing Hopkins as a traitor to the Democratic party.

If one can judge by noise, Mr. Bryan had the galleries with him, but the convention went against him by a large majority, voting down his minority report 647 to 200. The incident is regarded as an indication that he means to fight every step of the way.

TURNER OUT OF THE RUNNING

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, July 7.—No memories of the inquisition are rivived by the passing of W. J. Bryan. His elimination as a national Democratic factor, as a man who directs and controls, is being consummated with such infinite skill, with so much tenderness and consideration that the victim is almost unconscious of his transition from power to a place in the ranks of those who follow. Military honors are being accorded him. Over his remains have been fired the party's salute to the dead, and in his last moments he has heard the cheers of those who followed him in the "lost cause" blended with the cheers of those who have vanquished him.

Ex-Senator David B. Hill, the Borgia who has charge of the final disposition of Mr. Bryan, deserves great praise and great credit for the humanitarian policy he has pursued. Hill in the past has been regarded as a man of adamant; a man not possessed of those merciful attributes which today seem to be his most distinguishing characteristic. Those who thought they knew him, and yet who did not, believed that with his return to power he would show no leniency to those who had opposed him. This impression may have fitted the Hill of 20 years ago, or even 10 years ago, but it is not descriptive of the man who is today controlling every material move in the national work of the Democratic party.

Cannot Stop Hill.

Senator Hill so far has had his own way. His position is so invulnerable that he cannot fail of dictating every detail yet to be settled. Nothing can stop him. He has the votes; but as success makes men honest, so also does political rehabilitation invest them with magnanimity in their treatment of those over whom they have triumphed. Senator Hill has known for several days that Mr. Bryan would receive a tremendous ovation at an opportune convenient moment. He knew that in the distribution of convention tickets the friends of Mr. Bryan had full control, and that it was not to be doubted that the galleries and the guest seats would be filled with friends ready at any moment to become delirious in their manifestations of regard for the man who is their ideal, their composite of Populism and Greenbackism, of classism and free silver.

But this knowledge did not disturb Senator Hill. He knew that down in front of the stage, anchored to conservatism with bonds as strong and as unyielding as the standards of the states, would sit the delegates who would have the power to decide all questions. Mr. Hill knew that he controlled more than two-thirds of the delegates. He also knew that while the balcony and pit might cheer itself hoarse, that while Mr. Bryan might bend in eloquent genuflection, and his voice fill with tremendous volume the space which no other speaker could penetrate, that the effect would be like that of a gale on a summer sea. For this reason no effort was made to interfere with the program of Mr. Bryan's friends. It was considered wise that he should be permitted to be happy in his last moment.

Fear of a Bryan Bolt.

Mr. Hill as the close personal friend and director-in-chief of Judge Parker's candidacy has at all times realized that there was grave danger that Mr. Bryan would bolt the action of the convention. He has not underrated Mr. Bryan's strength. That in the west and in the south, as well as in the middle-western states, Mr. Bryan still has a strong following is a matter that Mr. Hill has at no time forgotten.

If Mr. Bryan is to leave the party because he is dissatisfied with the presidential nomination and the platform, it is Mr. Hill's desire that he shall go alone. He has not, and will not, give any provocation which will justify Mr. Bryan's friends in making his grievance a common one with themselves. By Hill's orders, there has been no effort to make gag rule dominate in this convention. Not only Mr. Bryan, but his friends as well, have been and will continue to be given every opportunity to be heard. Such a course cannot change the final result. This Mr. Hill knows, and that he has made this concession shows his broadness of wisdom and his ability to grasp a situation which might have been more difficult to a man of less experience.

"Judge Parker will be nominated upon the first ballot." This authoritative statement Senator Hill made to The Gazette correspondent this afternoon.

Dockery Still the Choice.

There is reason to believe that Senator Hill and Col. James M. Guffey of Penn-

OPENS PARTY DOOR FOR BRYAN TO ENTER

HARRISBURG, July 7.—The Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, Prohibition nominee for president, tonight sent the following telegram to William J. Bryan at St. Louis: "Read Numbers, 10th chapter, 29th verse. Come."

Following is the verse:

"And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Raguel, the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the Lord said, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel."

PARKER IS NEAR THE NOMINATION

EXPECT ADJOURNMENT TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, July 7.—Before night the Democratic convention will have adopted a platform, nominated candidates for president and vice president and adjourned sine die, if the program of the leaders can be carried out. Parker adherents are now talking of securing his nomination on the first ballot, but they do not anticipate that more than two ballots at the outside will be necessary.

The vote today on the Illinois case was a fair test, and it was favorable to Parker. There were 946 votes cast of the 1,000 votes in the convention, the 54 of Illinois being withheld. The negative vote on Mr. Bryan's minority report was 647, which is 20 votes short of the necessary two-thirds to nominate. It represented, with some exceptions, Parker's strength, although it has in it also some of the opposition, including the 32 votes of Massachusetts.

At the same time there were cast on the other side 18 votes of South Carolina and the 26 votes of Kentucky and the 18 votes of Louisiana, making a total of 62 votes from states that have declared for Parker. Deducting the 32 votes of Massachusetts from the 647 and adding the 62 votes of Parker's supporters gives a total of 677 votes, which may be classed as Parker, with some exceptions from the smaller states that did not vote for or against Parker on the contested case. It seems likely that these few votes would be balanced by those who voted in the affirmative today and are likely to vote for Parker tomorrow.

But, in addition to the 677 votes accounted for, there are 54 in Illinois that are ready to come to Parker when he needs them. There is a report tonight that the Illinois delegation, under instructions for Hearst, may feel that they are no longer obligated to vote for him because the Hearst men all joined in an effort to unseat them. At all events, it

FATAL FLOOD IN SMALL STREAMS

A CLOUDBURST AT EXPORT

A cloudburst at the headwaters of Turtle creek and unprecedented rains throughout the environs of the city, caused a flood in small streams last night. The loss to property will be considerable, hundreds of men will be temporarily thrown out of employment, telephone wires in many places are swept away and one life was lost.

Michael Quinter, aged 17 years, while playing with a number of companions on a pond near Holland avenue, Wilkinsburg, last night, was caught in a sudden torrent which burst from a sewer and drowned. The heavy rainfall during the evening had swept an immense quantity of water into the sewer drops and choked the drainage of several blocks along the flooded district. The boys had launched a rude raft near the mouth of the sewer and were floating around in a whirlpool which had been formed. The debris in the sewer gave way under the pressure of the water and the boys were engulfed in the volume which suddenly discharged itself from the pipe.

Quinter's companions narrowly escaped and could give the drowning lad no aid. The Wilkinsburg fire department was called out and struggled for nearly two hours before they extricated the body from the wreckage. The boy was a son of James Quinter, of Belmont avenue, Pittsburgh.

A severe storm visited the village of Export early in the afternoon. The mines of the Westmoreland Coal Company were flooded and compelled to shut down. Several hundred men were obliged to leave their work. The flood swept on down Turtle creek and flooded the cellars of houses in the lowlands of Wilmerding, Turtle Creek and East Pittsburgh. Latrobe suffered and several buildings were reported unsafe by the foundations being undermined by the flood.

The Robinson run valley was threatened with a repetition of last week's disastrous flood by yesterday's heavy rains. Nearly all the foot bridges were washed away and the water rose to the level of the houses in the lower districts of Oakdale, Noblestown and McDonald.

HEAVY LOSSES FOR FARMERS

Oklahoma City, O. T., July 7.—A waterspout, accompanied by terrific wind, passed through Clinton, Okla., and vicinity at midnight last night, in which six persons were killed and several injured. Reports from Araphaie, Weatherford, Geary, Cordell, Anadart and other points in Western Oklahoma tell of great damage by flood.

KANSAS CITY, MO., July 7.—Hundreds of wagons were engaged busily all day removing household goods from the suburbs of Kansas City, Kan., along the Kaw river, while in the west bottoms, near the Missouri-Kansas line, thousands of dollars' worth of goods were either removed from the district or placed upon upper floors. Over 5,000 people fled from Armourdale and many were forced to leave their belongings.

Heavy damage is reported throughout Kansas, from Abilene, near Kansas City, Ottawa and Lawrence, where the Smoky Hill, the Solomon, the Walnut and the Marais and Cygnes rivers are rising at the rate of two inches per hour. The damage to crops will be enormous. In the vicinity of Abilene alone it is estimated that the damage will amount to $250,000. The Kaw has made a new channel at North Lawrence, cutting the west portion off from the rest of the town.

WICHITA, KAN., July 7.—The house of Cass Woods, a park policeman in Riverside park, was washed away and Mrs. Woods and her two children drowned.

The dykes at several places along the Little river gave way before the rush of water which poured down Waco avenue, one of the principal residence streets, in a raging torrent, becoming waist deep. On Main street the Baldmore hotel was flooded, and the water is flowing swiftly within two blocks of Douglas avenue, the main business street. People living within seven blocks of the Little river have been forced to vacate their homes.

TOPEKA, KAN., July 7.—In North Topeka the water is running through the principal streets knee deep and the town is deserted. All last night a constant stream of humanity poured across the big Metan bridge to higher ground on the south side. The well-to-do class of people stored their household goods in the upper stories of their homes and fled.

In Topeka proper the water is three blocks up town from the river channels. Trains on the Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Rock Island are abandoned east and west out of Topeka.

PENNSYLVANIA VOTE DIVIDED

Eleven Delegates Support Bryan on Credential Report.

HEADED BY GARMAN

BLUFF ON VICE PRESIDENCY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, July 7.—Eleven Pennsylvanians went to the aid of William J. Bryan today when the roll was called on the substitution of the minority. J. M. Guffey was absent from the convention when the break occurred and the delegation was under the leadership of ex-State Chairman John S. Rilling of Erie.

Of course, the ringleader of the trouble makers was ex-State Chairman John M. Garman of Nanticoke. About half of the time he can be counted upon to do the thing that Guffey does not want. Garman calls that being independent, but the regulars call him something else.

Guffey was sitting in some conferences this afternoon, presumably to arrange a slate for vice president, and he turned the leadership over to Rilling. Had he been in the convention hall he would have probably kept down the number of Bryan supporters. With the exception of Garman, the excuse is given that the delegates were carried away by the oratory of the man from the Platte.

Bryan schemed hard today to show that he is still a popular man. One is led to suspect that he did "Marty" McTighe's favorite trick and had a number of "chirpers" scattered through the convention at the proper places. When he arrived for the afternoon session it was doubtless the signal for the galleries to break loose. Break loose they did and, through the persistency of the "chirpers," the manufactured enthusiasm was kept up. The vote later in the day showed that the galleries and not the delegates were doing the yelling.

Garman Yelled for Bryan.

John Garman yelled himself hoarse for Bryan, while most of the other Pennsylvania delegates sat in their seats fanning themselves. The trouble maker from Luzerne stood on his chair waving his hat for the Nebraskan. Tomorrow probably the mood will change, and he will be doing the same thing for Parker.

The speech made by Bryan today has done much to lessen him in the eyes of his admirers from Pennsylvania. They think that it ill became a man who had twice been honored with the nomination for the presidency to stand before a national convention and vilify an individual as he did in the case of the Illinois men.

Pennsylvanians are not alone in the expression of the sentiment, for one can hear it from delegates representing states and territories scattered from Maine to California. In the language of the sporting fraternity, they say that he has shown the "yellow." In every hotel lobby tonight the Nebraskan is the topic of conversation. Few men come forth to defend him.

Oddly enough, it is just eight years ago today since Bryan in Chicago uttered his famous "cross of gold and crown of thorns" speech. There he electrified an audience of 20,000 people and brought the Democratic nomination to him. He is the same orator today. He has lost none in ability, but he has lost in prestige. The vote today was too decisive to allow any question of doubt concerning the sentiment of the delegates to this convention. They want to get as far away from Bryan and Bryanism as it is possible to get. They are tired of the crown of thorns and want more of the cross of gold.

Delegation's Vote Divided.

When Pennsylvania was called on the question of substituting the minority report of the credentials committee for that of the majority Chairman Rilling cast the 68 votes of the state against the proposition. Garman demanded a poll of the delegation, saying that no attempt had been made to learn the sentiment of the delegates before the vote was cast. Chairman Williams ruled that a poll should be made. There were 59 delegates present and 11 of them voted with Bryan. The names of the men follow:

Garman and McCormick, Luzerne; Bromley, Philadelphia; Hoyer, Altoona; Koehler, Allegheny; Parker, Mercer; Wilson, Beaver; Petriken, Huntingdon; Pauley, Greene; Kane, Philadelphia; Lincoln, Montour.

Charles P. Donnelly of Philadelphia called attention to the fact that Pennsylvania is operating under the unit rule adopted by the state convention. He said that the vote should be counted as a unit. Chairman Williams sustained him and ordered that 68 votes be credited to Pennsylvania against the Bryan substitute. Pauley, who voted, is acting as substitute for Rheinhart of Greene county.

While the roll of states was being called John Cadwallader of Philadelphia was receiving the votes and shouting them to the secretaries through a megaphone. He took special delight in announcing returns against Bryan.

After Bryan had his first ovation this afternoon the Parker people showed what they could do in the way of enthusiasm. The Georgia banner was carried on the stage. Instantly the standards of other states were rushing for position. Pennsylvania was second to land in the group. Nearly all the delegates were on their chairs cheering the New Yorker.

HAVE FRAMED THE PLATFORM

Convention to Hear Report of Committee This Morning.

BRYANISM IS KILLED

FAVORS REDUCTION OF TARIFF

By L. W. STRAYER.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, July 7.—When the Democratic national convention meets at 10 o'clock tomorrow the platform will be ready to report. The following are the principal provisions of it:

The money plank is conservative and declares neither for the gold nor the silver standard. It declares that owing to the increased per capita circulation existing conditions should not be disturbed and asserts that the money question is now out of politics.

It advocates a reduction of the tariff schedules and denounces protected industries whose products are sold cheaper abroad than at home.

It denounces monopolies that oppose the people and demands the suppression of unlawful combinations of capital. It declares in favor of the eight-hour work day on government contracts and the arbitration of disputes between labor and capital.

It declares against imperialism.

Corruption Is Denounced.

It denounces President Roosevelt for his usurpation of the functions of the legislative department of the government.

It denounces corruption in the public service as exposed in the recent postoffice investigation and condemns the Republican party for its failure to complete the investigation as demanded by the Democrats in congress.

It denounces the substitution of force for arbitration, though it does not specifically refer to the Colorado labor troubles.

It advocates the irrigation of public lands.

It advocates statehood for three territories.

These are the principal planks of the platform, though others may be added.

At a late hour tonight the committee on resolutions was still in session, but the planks above referred to had been adopted. It was confidentially asserted that the document would be completed and ready to submit to the convention at the morning session.

The platform is a Hill declaration in every particular. The radicals were ruled out on every proposition they made, and, although they were let down easy as possible, yet no concessions were made to them. The money plank was framed during the absence of William J. Bryan, but when he arrived at the meeting of the committee in the evening it was found that he had no particular objection to it.

Radicals Not Consulted.

It was said that he would not oppose it so long as free silver was not specially repudiated. Whether he proposes to accept the situation or whether he is reserving his ammunition until the platform is reported to the convention, events will alone prove. At any rate he was very docile in the meeting tonight.

As an evidence of the small consideration the radicals received, it is said that a plank was submitted beginning with the statement that the Democratic party is in favor of a tariff for revenue only. But this was changed so as not to put the party on record as favoring any such radical change in the tariff.

Senator Newlands also proposed a plank to the effect that no corporation should be permitted to earn more than $1,000,000 in a year. This was given very scant consideration. So far as could be learned, every other proposition of radical action was turned down promptly, and when the platform was completed it bore a very slight resemblance to the one adopted at Kansas City four years ago.

Bryan Buncoed Again.

After a session lasting well past midnight the sub-committee of the committee on resolutions met at 10 o'clock this morning and resumed work on the platform. With only half an hour's intermission for lunch they continued at it, and at 5 o'clock had the platform ready for the consideration of the full committee.

William J. Bryan did not have a hand in the formulating of the money plank, much to the surprise of those who were advised of the fact. Bryan was buncoed and it appears to have been another one of those subtle political ways of David B. Hill. Last night soon after the subcommittee went into session, Mr. Bryan called up the money plank and suggested that it might then be considered. But it was passed over with the explanation that it would be better to leave this important matter until after the less important planks had been decided upon.

Again this morning Mr. Bryan asked that the money plank be taken up, and he insisted upon a reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform. It looked then as though the fight was about to be precipitated, and members of the committee were squaring themselves for the contest, when it was again suggested that it would be better to wait until other matters had been disposed of. Bryan showed no disposition to force things, as the appearances indicated that it would be many hours before the platform would be ready to report to the committee.

Got Bryan Out of the Way.

But this afternoon the report of the committee on credentials was made and Bryan went to the convention hall to take up the cudgel against the Hopkins delegation. Bryan heard cheers that were sweet to his ears, and he reveled in the demonstration that told him that while he might not still be in the ascendency, he retained many loyal supporters.

And while this demonstration was in progress, and while Bryan was making the fight in the convention that he hoped would develop great strength for him, the sub-committee on platform was at work at the Southern hotel. Gathered about the big table in the headquarters of the Pennsylvania delegation, the members in their shirt sleeves struggled with the problems that confronted them. But Bryan was still down at the convention hall.

One by one the planks were suggested and passed upon, and finally they came to the money plank. Still Bryan was absent. The awfulness of the situation impressed the few who knew what was going on. The money plank of the Democratic national platform was being framed and William J. Bryan was absent. To be sure he had the privilege of passing upon it as a member of the entire committee, and later in the convention, but the idea of taking snap judgment on him and hewing this important plank without the assistance of the free silver apostle was astounding.

Newlands Did His Best.

Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada, a free silver man, unreconstructed, did the best he could to save the situation during the absence of Bryan, and he consumed about three-fourths of the time in making speeches. First he made a speech on irrigation and the sub-committee gave him a plank declaring in favor of irrigating the arid lands of the country.

But this did not stop Mr. Newlands, and he continued to talk. In baseball parlance he was evidently "playing for rain" or consuming time until Mr. Bryan should arrive. As each plank was taken up Mr. Newlands would contribute his advice copiously. A large clock that hung on the wall opposite where Mr. Newlands was standing had stopped, and a man was sent to wind it. The committee did not care to be interrupted, but when the sergeant-at-arms reached the presence of the man with the clock key, the chairman consented that he should wind it. This process called the attention of the Nevada senator in a delicate way to the amount of time he was consuming and apparently had a good effect.

In spite of the yeoman work of Senator Newlands, the money plank was reached and disposed of. The debate upon it was not so lengthy as was expected and certainly not so long as would have been the case if the committee had waited until Mr. Bryan had returned from the convention. Soon after 4 o'clock a stenographer was sent for to copy some of the planks, and before 5 o'clock it was announced that the awful ordeal was over.

Keenan Wanted a Plank.

The platform was born and was doing well. The only question was whether it would be strangled to death by the general committee which to pass upon it later. The committee had been summoned to meet at 2 o'clock to hear the report of the sub-committee, but at that hour the work was unfinished and a recess was taken until 5 o'clock. At the latter hour the platform was finished, but it was decided that the best course would be to delay action by the general committee until 8 o'clock and a recess was taken until then.

During the morning and afternoon several hearings were accorded those who had planks to suggest. S. A. Cowen of Ft. Worth, Tex., representing the cattle raisers, asked for a plank declaring for a regulation of the inter state commerce to prohibit unreasonable transportation charges. Ex-Senator Charles A. Towne presented a petition signed by 10,000 names asking for the independence of the Philippines. James Fullerton of Montana, asked for a plank demanding the impeachment of President Roosevelt on the alleged ground that he condones the unlawful sales of liquor in the Yellowstone park and refuses to remove the superintendent, Maj. Pilcher.

Col. Thomas J. Keenan of Pittsburgh, was here to try to get ex-Gov. Pattison to have a plank put in the platform favoring the retention of the Isle of Pines by the United States. Capt. Richmond P. Hobson wanted David B. Hill to put in a clause demanding that promotions in the army and navy be made solely by seniority. It was evident that the sub-committee did not give these smaller questions very serious consideration, but concentrated their attention upon the money, tariff and trust planks.

THEY CAN'T PLAY BALL UNLESS PARENTS SAY SO

High School Committee Makes New Rule, Based on Failures at Recent Examinations.

Parents will have themselves to blame if their young hopefuls who happen to be students at the Pittsburgh High school fail in the examinations next year because of their devotion to athletics. That decision was arrived at yesterday by the high school committee of the central board of education, and the members do not doubt that the board will approve this action. A resolution was adopted declaring that all would-be participants in athletic contests must have the written consent of their parents. Several failures at the recent examinations are alleged to have been due to over-application to manly sports, and some parents have blamed the high school management.

The committee awarded the contract for supplying 342 window shades for the Fifth avenue high school building to the Horne-Stewart company for $494, after allowing for the fixtures still serviceable. The contract for supplying coal to the Fifth avenue building was given to the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, which bid six cents a bushel, run of mine grade. The Monongahela company did not bid on the South Side school supply, and the contract went to the Youghiogheny Coal Company at six and one-half cents a bushel. The lowest bidder, the Central Coal Company, got no contract at its offer of coal at $5.95 per 100 bushels.

The committee decided to request the central board to appropriate $10,000 for the improvement of the Bedford avenue high school and $5,000 for the South Side school.

KANSAS AND NEW YORK SIDE BY SIDE AT ST. LOUIS

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL PLATFORM

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—The Democratic national platform, as agreed upon tonight by the sub-committee on resolutions, is as follows:

We, the delegates of the Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, declare our devotion to the essential principles of the Democratic faith which brings us together in party communion.

Under them, local self-government and national unity and prosperity were alike established. They underlaid our independence, the structure of our free republic and every Democratic extension from Louisiana to California and Texas to Oregon, which preserves faithfully in all the states the tie between taxation and representation. They yet inspire the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development. They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration of government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business by uncertainty and pervade the public mind with dread, distrust and perturbation.

The application of these fundamental principles to the living issues of the day constitutes the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our nation. Freedom of the press, of conscience and of speech; equality before the law of all citizens; the right of trial by jury; freedom of the person defended by the writ of habeas corpus; liberty of personal contract untrammeled by sumptuary law; the supremacy of the civil over military authority; a well-disciplined militia; the separation of church and state; economy in expenditures; low taxes, that labor may be lightly burdened; the prompt and sacred fulfillment of public and private obligations; fidelity to treaties; peace and friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the vital principle of republics—these are doctrines which Democracy has established as proverbs of the nation and they should be constantly invoked, preached, resorted to and enforced.

Expenditures of the Government.

1—Large reductions can readily be made in the annual expenditures of the government without impairing the efficiency of any branch of the public service, and we shall insist upon the strictest economy and frugality compatible with vigorous and efficient civil, military and naval administration as a right of the people, too clear to be denied or withheld.

2—The enforcement of honesty in the public service and to that end a thorough legislative investigation of those executive departments of the government, already known to teem with corruption, as well as other departments suspected of harboring corruption and the punishment of ascertained corruptionists without fear or favor or regard to persons. The persistent and deliberate refusal of both the senate and house of representatives to permit such investigation to be made by either branch of congress demonstrates that only by a change in the executive and in the house of representatives can complete exposure, punishment and correction be obtained.

In broader furtherance of that end the federal government should not permit itself to be robbed by entering into contracts with convicted trusts or unlawful combinations in restraint of inter-state trade, existing in violation of law. We believe that one of the best methods of procuring economy and honesty in the public service is to have public officials, from the occupant of the White House down to the lowest of them, return, as nearly as may be, to Jeffersonian simplicity of living.

3—We favor the nomination and election of a president trained in the ways of the Constitution, who shall set his face sternly against executive usurpation of legislative and judicial functions, whether that usurpation be ruled under the guise of exective construction of existing laws, or whether it take refuge in the tyrant's pleas of necessity or superior wisdom.

The Opponent of Tariff.

4—The Democratic party has been and will continue to be the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted, through congressional favor, to draw a heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities, which our political institutions were established to secure, has caused what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These publicly favored enterprises have through trust methods been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition, which was the only check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, by the financial assistance they can give, now control the policy of the Republican party.

We favor a wise, conservative and business-like revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common weal, and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate end of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities" and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation, to wit, the support of the federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity; and keeping also in view, as men of common sense should, existing conditions, however wrongfully, mistakenly or unjustly brought about, and the danger to the cause of tariff reform itself of abrupt and revolutionary reversal of policy.

We should bear in mind, in short, these two things: First, the general principles that the sole derivation of the power of taxation is the support of the federal government economically, effectively and constitutionally administered, and, second, the equal truth that in the assertion of any general principle and in reaching any ultimate end, however sacred and logically unavoidable, due regard, but only due regard, must and should be paid to actually existing conditions.

5. We favor the reduction of tariff taxation upon trust-produced articles to the point where foreign competition may enter the American market whenever trusts and combines seeking monopoly raise their prices to the American consumer above a reasonable and just profit, by such reduction depriving trusts and monopolies of the power to extort from the American people under shelter of American law, prices higher than those charged foreigners for identical articles.

The Money Question.

The discoveries of gold within the past few years and the great increase in the production thereof adding $2,000,000,000 to the world's supply, of which $700,000,000 falls to the share of the United States, has contributed to the maintenance of a money standard of value, no longer open to question, removing that issue from the field of political contention.

Our party having long, earnestly advocated the construction of interocean canal for the purposes of national defense and commerce between the states and with foreign nations, we favor the early completion of the isthmian canal. But while making this declaration and accepting the results as an accomplished and irreversible fact, we cannot too forcibly express our disapproval of the methods by which, in disregard of the usages and obligations of international law and treaty obligations, the canal route has been acquired, or too solemnly record our hope that this precedent of defiant diplomacy may never be used against us to our humiliation and injury.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations designed to enable capital to secure more than its just part of the joint product of capital and labor, and which have been fostered and promoted under Republican rule, are a menace to beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity.

We demand the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the laws already made to prevent and control such trusts and combinations, and we favor such further legislation in restraint thereof as experience shows to be necessary. Corporations chartered by authority of the people must forever remain subject to regulation in the interest of the people.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We recognize the right of capital in all legitimate lines of enterprise to combine for the increase of business, for enlarging productive capacity and for decreasing the cost of production; but then such combination in its purpose or effect creates or tends to create a monopoly in its productions, to restrain trade, or stifle competition to increase cost to the consumer; to control the market, it violates the spirit of our laws, becomes inimical to public welfare and peace and should be so regulated, controlled or prohibited by law as to amply protect the public interests.

We demand that the restraint of such illegal combinations be entrusted to the Democratic party which is not responsible for their existence and which has ever protested against their continuance.

We condemn the Republican system of legislation under which trust monopolies are enabled to exact higher prices for their manufactured products from our own people than they sell them for abroad.

We demand an enlargement of the powers of the Interstate commerce commission to the end that the traveling public and shippers of this country may have prompt and adequate relief for the abuses they are subjected to in the matter of transportation.

The Monroe Doctrine.

We favor the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine in its full integrity.

We favor a liberal trade treaty with Canada.

We favor the reduction of the army and of army expenditures to the point historically demonstrated to be safe and sufficient.

We favor the maintenance and liberal annual increase of the navy as our best defense in our isolated continental conditions against a foreign foe, and a source of no possible danger to our liberties as a people.

We favor the enactment and administration of laws, giving labor and capital impartially their just rights. Capital and labor ought not to be enemies. Each is necessary to the other. Each has its rights, but the rights of labor are certainly no less "voted," no less "sacred" and no less "inalienable" than the rights of capital.

We pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad, and to use all proper measures to secure for them, whatever native born or naturalized and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of laws and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under the covenants of our treaties of friendship and commerce; and if under existing treaties the right of travel and sojourn is denied to American citizens or a recognition is withheld from American passports by any countries on the ground of race or creed, we favor the beginning of negotiations with the governments of such countries to secure by new treaties the removal of these unjust discriminations.

The Democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependents generous pensions, not by an arbitrary executive order, but by legislation which a grateful people stand ready to enact. Our soldiers and sailors who defend with their lives the Constitution and the laws have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must therefore share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles, or aggrandized by executive appropriations out of the treasuries of a prostrate people, in violation of the act of congress which fixes the compensation and allowance of the military officers.

Merchant Marine.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill recently passed by the United States senate as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes and a wasteful and illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy the obstructions raised by Republican legislation to the growth and development of American commerce on the seas.

We favor the upbuilding of a merchant marine without new or additional burdens upon the people and without bounties from the public treasury.

The Democratic party stands committed to the principles of civil service reform and we demand their honest, just and impartial enforcement. We denounce the Republican party for its continuous and sinister encroachments upon the spirit and operation of civil service rules, whereby it has arbitrarily dispensed with examinations for office in the interests of favorites, and employed all manner of devices to overreach and set aside the principles upon which the civil service was established.

We demand the extermination of polygamy within the jurisdiction of the United States and the complete separation of church and state in political affairs.

We congratulate our western citizens upon the passage of the measure known as the Newland irrigation act for the irrigation and the reclamation of arid lands of the west—a measure framed by a Democrat, passed in the senate by a non-partisan, and passed in the house against the opposition of almost all the Republican leaders by a vote, the majority of which was Democratic. We call attention to the great Democratic measure broad and comprehensive as it is working automatically throughout all time without further action of congress until the reclamation roof all the lands in the arid west capable of reclamation is accomplished, reserving the lands reclaimed for homeseekers in small tracts, and rigidly guarding against land monopoly, as an evidence of the policy of domestic development contemplated by the Democratic party, should it be placed in power.

Open Door for the World.

We favor the preservation insofar as we can of an open door for the world's commerce in the orient without unnecessary entanglement in oriental and European affairs and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose, as fervently as did George Washington himself, an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is; if they are inherently unfit for those institutions then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic. Wherever there may exist a people incapable of being governed under American laws, in consonance with the American Constitution, the territory of that people ought not to be part of the American domain.

We insist that we ought to do for the Filipinos what we have already done for the Cubans. And it is our intent, as soon as it can be done wisely and safely for the Filipinos themselves, and after amicable arrangements with them concerning naval stations, coaling stations and trade relations, and upon suitable guarantees of protection to all national and international interests to set the Filipino people upon their feet, free and independent, to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the secretary of war, by pledging the government's indorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine islands to make the United States a partner in speculative exploitation of the archipelago which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of Democratic senators in the last session, will, if successful lead to a permanent entanglement from which it will be difficult to escape.

We favor statehood for Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, statehood for Arizona, statehood for New Mexico and a territorial government for Porto Rico.

We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

JAPANESE FIRE UPON OWN SHIPS

TWO TORPEDO BOATS LOST

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

VLADIVOSTOK, July 7.—A Russian correspondent who witnessed the meetings between the Russian and Japanese squadrons in the gulf of Korea gives the following particulars:

It is possible now to recount with some detail the meeting between the Japanese squadron and our squadron in the gulf of Korea, with regard to which the Japanese have so far been decidedly quiet.

I can contradict wholly the statement that the meeting occurred in the rain, which enabled our cruisers to escape the superior Japanese force. It was a beautiful night and the Japanese night easily have continued their pursuit, but they were apparently disheartened by the miscarriage of their plans, coupled with the fact that they fired on their own torpedo boats, though what damage they did to themselves it was impossible to ascertain.

The Japanese trap for our cruisers was quite cleverly set. Vice Admiral Togo dispatched a squadron fully three times the strength of the Russians, with the intention of meeting them in the strait of Korea, in order to insure a decisive engagement.

A strong flotilla of torpedo boats lay in wait at Taka Saki (the northernmost port of Tsu island), with the intention of dashing out, catching the Russian cruisers between two fires, and forcing them to fight.

It is understood that the plan was to make a desperate torepdo attack, losing the whole flotilla if necessary in order to cripple one cruiser and to make the remainder wait so as to give the Japanese fleet time to catch up.

The plan worked up to the point of meeting the Russian squadron, which, when it saw the superior force of the Japanese, readily retreated to the northward. The Japanese began a stern chase, firing at intervals, but their shells fell one and one-third miles short. We made no attempt to reply.

At this juncture the Japanese torpedo boats shot out from Taka-Saki and for a short time it looked as though we had been badly trapped.

The Japanese torpedo boats, however, did not push the attack with their accustomed dash. They were in an excellent position to cut us off, but they were spread out and never got within torpedo range.

We slipped through their cordon while they were attempting to draw in for a combined attack. Their quick-firing guns opened without damaging the Russians in the slightest, while the heavy guns of the Russian cruisers sent two of the torpedo boats to the bottom. The other torpedo boats fled to the protection of their own squadron, thereby helping us further.

We had no torpedo boats with us, the Russian flotilla having been sent by the admiral on another mission.

The Japanese mistook their own retreating torpedo boats for Russian boats coming to attack them and opened a deadly fusillade which lasted for three minutes. The Japanese torpedo boats spouted rockets and worked their signal lights desperately before the fire of their squadron ceased. We were unable to ascertain the damage which resulted, but it is hardly possible that the Japanese boats escaped the hail of Japanese shells.

The reason why they did not pursue us further is not known, except that the hulls and boilers of the Japanese ships have greatly deteriorated as a result of long service at sea. It is certain that they were not nearly a match for the Russians in speed in the earlier part of the fight, though the squadron included the fastest cruisers in the Japanese fleet, with a speed on paper greatly superior to that of the Russians.

POLICEMAN HARPER CHARGED WITH MURDER

Coraopolis Councils Will Make Investigation of Forest Craig Shooting.

The inquest on the death of Forest Craig, who was shot and killed by Policeman Robert Harper of Coraopolis, June 25, was held yesterday and the coroner's jury recommended that Harper be held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. Craig was shot while trying to evade arrest during a raid on a speakeasy in Coraopolis. While chasing him the officer fired his revolver in the air for the purpose of frightening Craig, and one of the bullets entered his back.

Coraopolis council held a special meeting last night to discuss the shooting. Three men were appointed to make an investigation, as some members were not satisfied with the investigation made by the public safety committee.

Louden W. Belger, aged 35, an electrical engineer of Carnegie, died at the Homeopathic hospital last night from heat prostration.

William Reno, aged 18, of the West End, employed by the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, fell into the Ohio river at Woods landing, near Saw Mill run, yesterday afternoon and was drowned. His body has not been recovered.

A woman about 40 years old, supposed to be Francrysek Muliasco, of 2619 Penn avenue, was killed by a train near Bridgeville on the Panhandle railroad yesterday.

A canvas town was laid out under the trees yesterday, and every form of entertainment, including music, will be offered.

GAS WRECKS BUILDING.

An Oakdale Structure Shattered While the Inmates Were Fortunately Absent.

The building in Main street, Oakdale, owned by the Oakdale lodge of Odd Fellows and occupied by L. Parks, a meat dealer, and John Creese, who occupied the second story as living rooms, was wrecked at 8 o'clock last evening by an explosion resulting from the ignition of gas escaping from a main under the building.

How the gas caught fire is not known. At the moment of the explosion it chanced that no one was in the building. Parks and his two daughters had left but a few minutes before. There were three explosions. The house, a two-story frame, was completely wrecked and the debris caught fire. The flames were extinguished. The house of F. O. Leister, which stands next to the wrecked building, was damaged to the amount of $200.

SAYS SAMUEL SHENKAN HIT HIM IN THE FACE

Constable Auslander Says He Will Sue a Common Councilman for Assault and Battery—Charges Activity Against Gamblers Made Trouble.

Constable Peter Auslander of the Seventh ward is nursing a wounded, swollen face, the disfigurement having been caused, he says, by the fist of Common Councilman Samuel Shenkan coming in sudden and violent contact with the constable's countenance. Auslander said last night that he would sue Shenkan for assault and battery today.

The assault occurred last night, it is said, after the constable had put in a busy day arresting "Big John" McKee, Morris, better known as "Musty" Price, erstwhile Citizens candidate for common council, and several other men on the charge of keeping a gambling house and selling liquor on Sunday. Auslander maintains that the assault, made by Shenkan was because of the activity which the officer and the alderman of the Seventh ward, B. C. Barton, have shown in trying to supporess gambling and illegal liquor selling.

Auslander says that about 10 o'clock last night he was walking down Wylie avenue. He said good evening to Shenkan and some of the latter's friends. Shenkan, he says, called to him and said:

"I understand you said that my campaign for common council cost only $60."

"Oh, no," said Auslander, "I said that all you yourself paid toward the expenses of the campaign was $60."

"As soon as I said those words," Auslander relates, "Shenkan struck me in the face. I would have arrested him, but he was surrounded by friends and I thought better of it. Of course, I don't mean to say that every man in the crowd approved of what Shenkan did."

"Big John" McKee will have a hearing this morning on the charge of keeping a gambling house. "Harry" Harris will be heard on the same charge. Their establishment is said to be at 1616 Wylie avenue. At the same hour and on similar charges, "Musty" Price and Jacob Barnett will be heard. Their room is said to be at 150 Elm street.

Alderman Barton held four negroes for court yesterday on the same charges, made by John Drummond. They are James Shinehouse, E. A. Early, Ellsworth Naffey and Richard Anderson of the Washington club, 114 Elm street. One of the negroes, Barton says, insisted that he had "police protection."

"During the last few months the ward has been overrun by gamblers," said the alderman. "They have come over from the Eighth and other wards. I intend to put a stop to it. More informations will be made tomorrow."

CONVENTION IS FINALLY PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED

tials and permanent organization. The session opened at 10 o'clock, an hour later took a recess until 2 p. m., and adjourned at 6:20 until 10 o'clock tomorrow. During the day, several speeches were made, chief of which was William Jennings Bryan's effort to overthrow the report of the credentials committee and seat contesting delegates from Illinois. The controversy was ended by the rejection of the minority report of the committee, by a vote of 647 nays to 299 ayes. Though Mr. Bryan's speech and his appearance on the floor of the convention was cheered far beyond any previous demonstration, it made few votes. The alignment of delegates proved the correctness of previous estimates of the division between those who favor the radicals and those who are supporting the conservative element which is now in control.

When the result of the contest was announced the report of the committee on permanent organization was made. Representative Champ Clark, who was chosen permanent chairman, addressed the convention. He had prepared and furnished to the press a speech of great length. The hour was so late when he gained the platform, however, that he spoke about 300 words and left his audience to read the remainder.

Unable to Restore Order.

The ovation given to Mr. Bryan was one of the greatest ever transpiring at any of the notable events for which the immense Coliseum is famed. It was begun before the afternoon session of the convention had been called to order and continued for 12 minutes with so much furor that Temporary Chairman Williams and all of his assistants, including 100 policemen, were unable to restore order. Quiet came from the convention only after the Parker forces joined in and by persistent efforts turned the tide by a counter great demonstration for the New Yorker so that the favorite candidate for the nomination for president, finally reaped the harvest of enthusiasm sown for Mr. Bryan.

The inconsistencies of a great unorganized body, such as is formed by the spectators, delegates and alternates making up a great political convention, was aptly illustrated in today's gathering. Thousands of throats cheered Bryan as lustily as they did when he was chosen eight years ago as the Democratic candidate for president. The great tumult to the uninitiated would have been proof positive that the Nebraskan, more than ever, was the hero of his party. And yet, when a banner bearing the inscription, "Georgia's Parker Delegation," was taken to the platform and held aloft where all could see, the applause was directed that way. Without pausing in their enthusiasm the great throng of men and women shouting the name of Bryan, switched to Parker as if their only ambition was to cheer and make a great noise.

Filipinos Thrown Out.

The morning session of the convention was without material interest except for the dissension caused by objection to that part of the report from the committee on rules which provides for the seating of delegates sent by insular possessions. Several delegates discussed the report and roll call was asked for, but the report was adopted finally without resorting to that method of determining the action of the convention, but as a result of a ruling by the temporary chairman, acquiesced in by the convention, which has the effect of refusing representation to the delegates who had come from the Philippines.

It remained for the afternoon session to create that degree of strife which makes a convention interesting to the masses. This was the contest relating to the Illinois delegation. It was known that Mr. Bryan would take an active part in the matter at odds believed to be overwhelmingly against him. The galleries and other space in the hall allotted to spectators, showed how great a drawing card he is. Practically every seat was occupied and the aisles were crowded. On the platform sat distinguished guests in greater number than at any previous session. The increased attendance to a great extent was because of the fact that Mr. Bryan was slated to speak on a matter sure to engender feeling and spirited debate.

The Galleries Cheered.

When Mr. Bryan entered the convention hall at about the hour the convention was to be called to order, the first sound applause in the vicinity of the Nebraska delegation drew every gaze in that direction. As if to make up for the tardy welcome extended to Mr. Bryan on yesterday, great numbers opened the cheering simultaneously from the center galleries. That there should be no misunderstanding in regard to who was the object of the ovation, the Nebraska delegates wrenched from the floor the standard marking their location in the hall and waved the banner high above all others. That was a signal for Mr. Bryan's following to congregate about their leader. Adopting the Nebraska delegation's example other anti-Parker states tore loose their standards and rallied about Mr. Bryan's.

For a short time some degree of organization was maintained among the majority of delegates, but the sight of great human walls forming the galleries, shouting themselves hoarse, throwing and waving hats, umbrellas and coats and many persons on the elevated platform yelling and motioning encouragement, proved too much for the more orderly delegates to withstand. They joined with the demonstrative ones until the thunderous applause was converted into a deafening roar.

As the applause opened Temporary Chairman Williams, who was ready to call the convention to order, started in to subdue it with his gavel. Soon that was drowned out completely. Seeing that he was getting no aid from his fellow convention officials, Mr. Williams contented himself with a desultory pounding with his heavy mallet which could be seen but not heard. The confusion in the hall was unprecedented. Strong-lunged admirers of the Nebraskan openly left the seats in the spectators' reservation and massed about the Nebraska delegation. The noise of the demonstration increased in volume even after it seemed the limit of endurance must have been reached. All other displays of enthusiasm were dwarfed in comparison.

Turned from Bryan to Parker.

After the applause had continued unbroken for more than 15 minutes Temporary Chairman Williams again tried to get the attention of the delegates and motioned the band to play. Again and again he signalled the musicians, only to learn a moment later that the instruments were pouring out all the volume of which they were capable. Not a note could be heard on the speaker's platform unless it was listened for intently.

Then it was that the conservative forces turned to the aid of the chair. They started applause for Parker. His name on a purple banner proved almost as magnetic as Bryan in the flesh. From one idol to another the gathering turned.

The Georgia delegation, carrying the Parker banner, marched to the platform, and the cheering was increased, if that were possible. The applause was general, coming from delegates, from the galleries and other parts of the coliseum. While the delegations participating were different in some instances from those which led the Bryan reception, the galleries did not discriminate. Every movement was the signal for renewed efforts.

The South Carolina standard was held beside the Georgia banner. Inasmuch as the South Carolina delegation was originally anti-Parker, the movement was significant. Other delegations followed it, and soon the standards of Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New Jersey, Alabama and others which could be removed from the floor were lifted over the platform. Some of the standards which were marched to the Parker rally a few minutes before had been a part of the Bryan demonstration. Hissing was started in the galleries when the Parker movement broke out, but it was soon effaced by the shouting masses.

Chairman Used a Megaphone.

When at 2:30 the temporary chairman was able to make himself heard he demanded order and called for the report of the committee on credentials. There was a long delay. Chairman Head of Tennessee could not be found. Mr. Bryan, the custodian of the minority report, thinking that Mr. Head was on his way to the platform to make his report, made his own way to the front and appeared on the stage. That provoked another outburst, which could not be quelled for two minutes or more.

The confusion was so great that Mr. Williams used a megaphone to make himself heard and various delegates used similar instruments in addressing the chair. The chairman of the committee on credentials was called for several times, and then some wag created amusement by yelling, "The convention has lost its head."

Word was received by Mr. Williams that Chairman Head would be delayed a few minutes in getting his report ready for presentation. A motion to invite Gov. Peckham of Kentucky to address the convention was adopted, but he begged to be excused. Bourke Cockran was called for, but he was not in the hall. The band supplied the entertainment during the wait with a concert, appreciatively applauded.

Starting with "The Star Spangled Banner," and followed by "Dixie," the musicians provoked spontaneous applause. "Yankee Doodle," "Hail Columbia" and "Maryland" were played by request, and kept the convention in good humor.

Police Took a Hand.

At about 3 o'clock Mr. Head reached the platform. As he began to read an uproar started and Mr. Williams threatened to have the sergeant-at-arms and police clear the galleries. One man who persisted in his interruptions was removed from the hall.

Mr. Head was listened to attentively as he read his report and moved its adoption. He explained that some of the contests had been brought to the convention in the form of minority reports and suggested that these be acted upon separately. The contest in relation to the District of Columbia delegation was first considered. One of the contestants moved that both delegations be seated and each given half a vote, but his motion was lost. That left the Illinois case the only one before the convention.

By agreement 15 minutes were allotted to each side and Mr. Bryan opened with a statement that he was appearing on behalf of a minority. He launched into a review of the Illinois Democratic convention and referred to Messrs. Hopkins and Quinn, who were in control, as highwaymen. He compared them also to train robbers. The convention, he declared, had been controlled by the minority with "gavel rule." Throughout he was cheered and given close attention.

Major Menzies of Indiana followed, speaking for the credentials committee. He charged Mr. Bryan with ignorance of the facts concerning the hearing before the committee for the reason that the Nebraskan had been in the room not more than three-quarters of an hour.

Mr. Quinn, who was the chairman of the Illinois convention, scored Mr. Bryan for his reference to the methods employed by the Hopkins forces. Mr. Bryan again spoke briefly and the arguments were closed by Mr. Head. Mr. Bryan received greater applause than all the other speakers combined, but when the vote was counted he had less than a third of the voting delegates.

Turmoil in Pennsylvania.

The roll call on Mr. Bryan's motion to substitute the minority report for the majority report proceeded without incident until Illinois was called. The chairman of the Illinois delegation announced that the state would pass. On account of its interest in the result it did not participate.

When Pennsylvania was called the acting chairman of the delegation cast the full vote in opposition to the minority report and sustaining the action of the credentials committee. The delegation is controlled by the unit rule. Radical delegates started a turmoil which forced the chair to recognize a demand for a poll of the delegation. Then was had a roll call within a roll call, which showed that the chairman had been warranted in casting the solid vote for the credentials report.

The remainder of the call showed the convention to be overwhelmingly in favor of adopting the report of the credentials committee. New York's solid vote gave the committee the votes needed to assure it a victory and a defeat for Mr. Bryan.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was made. Mr. Williams named Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas and Representative Cockran as a committee to escort Representative Champ Clark to the platform to assume the chair.

RESIGNS PASTORATE AFTER LONG SERVICE

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Witherspoon Leaves Fifth U. P. Church for Mission Work.

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Witherspoon, who has been pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny for 28 years, resigned his pastoral charge at an adjourned meeting of the Allegheny presbytery held yesterday afternoon at Valencia. The resignation is to take effect on August 1.

Dr. Witherspoon tendered his resignation in order to give all his time to the direction of the work of the United Presbyterian church among the freedmen of the south, in accordance with an order of the general assembly given to him last May. The presbytery adopted resolutions expressing profound sorrow over losing him and wishing him success in his new field. Resolutions of the same nature adopted at a meeting of the members of the Fifth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny when his resignation as pastor of the church was accepted, were also read before the presbytery and spread upon the minutes.

During the session Alexander Mitchell was ordained and installed as pastor of the West Union church, succeeding the Rev. R. H. Park, who went to Cleveland eight months ago. Dr. Thomas Park acted as moderator in the absence of the Rev. Charles F. Wishart. The Rev. J. H. Douds of Evans City preached; the Rev. T. C. Anderson of Tarentum delivered the charge to the new minister, and the Rev. R. G. McCreary of Allegheny addressed the congregation.

A call from the Second United Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg was received from the presbytery of Monongahela for the Rev. Charles F. Wishart of Allegheny presbytery. Mr. Wishart, in a letter to the presbytery, declined to accept the call. The Rev. Dr. W. J. Gillespie resigned the pastoral charge of the Mt. Nebo congregation and the resignation was accepted.

Prostrated by Heat.

Harry C. Walker, aged 22, a Sharpsburg electrician, was overcome by heat at the Fourth avenue station of the Panhandle railroad yesterday and was removed to the Homeopathic hospital. Walker, who was recently married, is a brother of Lieut. Jacob Walker of the Sharpsburg police force and of Officer William Walker of Millvale. He recovered sufficiently to be taken home last night.

More Noise Than Results.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 7.—(Special.)—Forcing open a window, three burglars entered the station at Wynnewood, a fashionable suburb on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, this morning, blew the safe to pieces and made their escape with a few dollars' worth of booty. # CHAIRMAN BOLE DID NOT NOTICE

Finance Committee's Business at Yesterday's Meeting Must Be Done Over.

DID NOT HAVE A QUORUM

Had Assistant City Controller Morrow not discovered yesterday that the finance committee had transacted important business without a quorum, prospective bidders on filtration and hump removal bonds might have had an excuse for disputing the legality of the bonds on the ground that one of the steps leading up to the issue was illegal.

The finance committee of councils had affirmatively recommended the ordinance transferring $15,000 from the Point bridge fund for the expenses of the bond election, Chairman D. J. Bole being oblivious of the fact that he did not have a quorum. As soon as Morrow, who acted as clerk of the committee, learned that according to a recent opinion of the city solicitor, the eight members present did not constitute a quorum, he issued calls for another meeting of the committee, to be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. At this meeting the whole business will be gone over again and made legal.

Yesterday's meeting was called to order by Chairman Bole. The resolution transferring $15,000 was read and affirmatively recommended to councils. Controller Larkin's ordinance, providing for throwing open the custody of the city funds to competitive bidding by the banks, was referred to a sub-committee composed of Councilmen McNally, Zeuger and Heimold. It is not expected that they will report on it in time for the meeting of councils on Monday.

The resolutions for the payment of small bills were affirmatively recommended, and then Councilman Joseph G. Armstrong's ordinance providing that on all new city work contractors shall employ journeymen skilled laborers and that the director of the department of public works shall be fined $100 and costs in case he fails to enforce the provisions of the ordinance, was also affirmatively recommended. An ordinance appropriating $3,000 for a ferryboat across the river at the Point bridge and a resolution providing for advertising for bids on the service were affirmatively recommended.

All this time only eight members were present, but after most of the business was transacted Councilman P. J. Barry appeared. Morrow was reminded, after the meeting had adjourned, that City Solicitor Rodgers recently decided that the presidents of councils were ex officio members of committees; that in counting a quorum they had to be taken into consideration; that as, with them, there are 17 members of the finance committee, there was no quorum until Barry appeared. Before that opinion was delivered it had not been customary to count the presidents of select and common council; in counting a quorum of the finance committee, omitting the two presidents, eight members make a quorum; including the presidents nine are required.

Morrow called the second meeting merely to be on the safe side. He holds that the defect, if it is a defect, would not vitiate the bond election or the bonds issued afterwards, although curative legislation might be required to permit payment of the expenses of the election. This defect, however, could be cured at any time, even after the election, by councils again appropriating the $15,000.

A call for a meeting of common council, to be held at 3:30 p. m. on Monday, was sent out, and a call for select council to meet at the same hour will go out today. The meeting will be mainly to clean up business supplied by the finance committee.

LABOR DAY EXERCISES IN SCHENLEY PARK

Elaborate Arrangements Being Made for Big Demonstration by Organized Labor.

The general committee having the Labor day celebration in charge yesterday decided that exercises will be held in Schenley park immediately after the parade. It was also agreed that a special meeting of the general committee be held Sunday, July 17, to elect a chief marshal. At that meeting the different divisions, five in number, will be organized.

The committee on souvenir struck a snag yesterday when they discovered that some outsiders were soliciting advertisements for a program representing it to be the official one. The general committee learning this prepared a circular letter to be sent to all business houses in the two cities. It reads in part, as follows:

"The general committee of the sixth annual Labor Day demonstration desires to notify all advertisers that there is only one official souvenir and program to be published, and the same is being issued solely by the committee. Solicitors working on the official souvenir will be provided with proper credentials signed by H. C. Williams, who has been elected manager of the souvenir. There is another so-called souvenir being published by persons who have no connection with the labor movement, and not a solitary cent of the proceeds go to labor organizations."

A. M. Storm, business agent of the carpenters, has declined to run for the chief marshalship. This practically leaves the fight between Henry W. Legleitner of the housesmiths and Frank Curran of the painters.

Each union is being appealed to to make an elaborate display in the matter of uniforms, bands and decorations and to compel its members to participate in the parade.

WORK ALMOST COMPLETE.

The Big Store is Expected Soon to Announce Sale of the Gusky Stock.

Indications all point to an early announcement of the great sale of the Gusky stock at Kaufmann's store. There is an air of feverish activity about the "Big Store" these days which can only be attributed to the strenuous efforts being made to get everything in readiness for the sale.

Remembering that Kaufmann's bought the entire Gusky stock, comprising absolutely everything in ready-to-wear clothing for men, women and children, it is not at all surprising that even so vast and perfectly organized an establishment as Kaufmann's should require several days to transfer the goods and get them ready for the sale.

The task is now almost completed, however, and an announcement of the sale is expected any day.

ALASKAN MARKERS TO BE CAST IN PITTSBURGH

Engineers Who Direct the Survey of the International Boundary Visit Here and Tell of Their Work.

One hundred of the aluminum bronze monuments which will be implanted on the snow-clad peaks of the Rocky mountain chain to mark the international boundary between the territory of Alaska and the Dominion of Canada will be manufactured in Pittsburgh. The American share of the contract came to the Pittsburgh Brass Foundry Company, while those to be furnished by the Canadian government will be made in the province of New Brunswick. Dr. William S. King of Ottawa, Canada, and Prof. F. O. Tittman, chief of the United States coast and geological survey, who have been appointed by their respective governments to direct the survey according to the decision of the Alaskan boundary commission, were in Pittsburgh yesterday as the guests of Dr. John A. Brashear. They visited the new Allegheny observatory and other points of interest about the city.

Dr. King is chief astronomer of the Dominion government and stopped here to examine some new instruments which are being manufactured for the Ottawa university by Dr. Brashear. Dr. King returned to his home last night, while Prof. Tittman went to Washington.

It was stated that three years would be required to complete the survey of the Alaskan border. A corps of engineers is in the field and assistants will be sent later on. Dr. King said the work would be extremely difficult. In some places the engineers will be obliged to make their way through almost impassable country, while contending against the rigors of the arctic climate.

The bronze monuments which will be used as markers will be three feet in height and will be imbedded in the earth so as to be practically immovable. They will be placed about a mile apart and in their solitary positions will be conspicuous in that desolate wilderness.

PINK SLIPS GO WITHOUT REBATES

Allegheny County Fire Underwriters Confirm Action of Executive Committee.

NO EXTRA WORK FOR CLERKS

The board of fire underwriters of Allegheny county yesterday afternoon voted for the removal of the "pink slips" from insurance policies covering downtown risks. This means that hereafter the $2 excess charge on the premiums for each $1,000 will be deducted, and more than this, it means that at the same time the hundreds of clerks employed in Pittsburgh insurance offices will get their annual vacations without being hampered by extra work. No rebates will be given.

The underwriters took the action for the removal of the "pink slips" at a very brief meeting yesterday afternoon at their rooms in Fourth avenue. This was the only business before the meeting and it was voted unanimously. The executive committee had been notified by Director Bigelow of the department of public works that the city had complied with the recommendations of the insurance men by providing the amount of water in downtown mains required by the resolution of the underwriters adopted three years ago, when they decided on the increase of premiums and the consequent "pink slips."

"There will be no rebate given," said Fire Marshal W. D. McGill after yesterday's meeting. "The 'pink slips' will disappear from all policies hereafter written, but those bearing the extra charges will continue without alterations until they expire, and no portion of the premium will be refunded. This is fair enough to all concerned, because policies which had a considerable time to run were not ordered to be increased as to the premium when the ruling went into effect. The meeting this afternoon was entirely harmonious, the board simply adopting this resolution, which was referred from the executive committee: 'Resolved, That we recommend to the board that the 'pink slip' charge be repealed.' It would be a gigantic task to make a correct estimate of the amount of money which will be saved to policy holders through this action."

The fire marshal's statement that no rebate would be given will be interesting news to the clerks in the local insurance offices. It was understood that a pro rata amount of the $2 excess would be allowed, and the clerks feared a tremendous amount of extra bookkeeping.

"We may get slim vacations this summer," said one clerk in Fourth avenue as he leaned wearily over his desk. "This is usually a rather dull time and we get our Saturday half holidays and had excellent chances for a full two weeks at the seashore or the mountains. If the rebate is given it means that we will be busy throughout the summer and will have long afternoons six days in the week."

The underwriters decided to simplify matters by beginning the new rule with a clean sheet.

M. AND M. EXCURSION TO BRING SURPRISES

Plans for the Trade-Booming Trip Through the Towns of West Virginia.

The officers of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Pittsburgh are fast completing details for their first trade-extension excursion, which will leave Pittsburgh at 10:30 o'clock next Tuesday morning over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The party will consist of 80 representatives of Pittsburgh enterprises. The special train will consist of a combination car, six Pullman sleepers and a dining car. On the sides of the combined car will be immense streamers, 60 feet in length, bearing the legend "Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, Pittsburgh. First trade excursion."

Reports from towns along the route indicate that keen interest is being manifested in the coming of the Pittsburgh party, and at many of the larger places preparation is being made for the entertainment of the travelers. The plans made by the townspeople in West Virginia will be communicated to the association headquarters before the end of the week. The indications are that some unique surprises are in store for those who participate in the trip as well as for the people who join in the welcoming of the special train.

MASONS LAY CORNER STONE.

New Carnegie Hall Costing $95,000 Occasions Fine Ritualistic Service.

The corner stone of the new Masonic hall being erected at Main and Broadway streets, Carnegie, was laid with appropriate services yesterday noon. About 1,000 people were present. The rituals were in charge of Right Worshipful Grand Master James W. Brown of Pittsburgh, assisted by the officers of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania.

The program consisted of an invocation by the Rev. W. E. Allen, rector of St. Luke's church, Carnegie; examination and testing of the stone by the officers; an address by Samuel Hamilton, district deputy grand master; hymn, "Praise the Lord; Ye Heavens Adore Him," and the benediction by the Rev. Mr. Allen.

The hall is a project of the Masonic Hall association of Carnegie, a chartered corporation, and will cost about $95,000. The foundations, which are now completed, cover an area 70x110 feet. The structure will be five stories and of brick with stone trimmings.

Ministers to Hear Reports.

Members of the Ministerial union will hold their last meeting of the year in the Young Men's Christian association assembly room next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Reports will be given on the Methodist Episcopal Quadrennial conference by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith; of the Baptist anniversary by the Rev. W. G. Partridge, on the Lutheran conference by the Rev. A. J. Turkle; on the Cumberland and Northern Presbyterian General Assemblies by the Rev. Dr. W. F. Sliveus and the Rev. W. R. Farmer, and on the United Presbyterian General Assembly. The Rev. Dr. W. G. Partridge will preside.

NO PLANS TO RAISE THE UNION BRIDGE

Stockholders at Annual Meeting State That They Have No Deals Pending a Sale.

The stockholders of the Union Bridge Company are not making obeisance to the war department. They have not yet planned to raise their structure at the Point to comply with the order issued by the government last year, and the indications are that bitter opposition will be made to every move contemplated by the river interests to clear the channels of alleged low bridges. It is definitely announced that no deals are pending for the sale of the Union bridge to the Pennsylvania or Wabash railroads.

Such is a summary of statements made by officers of the bridge company at their annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. The meeting lasted over an hour and over 80 per cent of the stockholders were represented. Thirteen directors were elected without opposition and its organization was effected by the re-election of the former executive officers.

"The decree of the war department stipulates that the bridge shall be raised to an elevation of 70 feet above pool level of the river on July 26," said President W. V. Callery of the corporation, "but we have made no plans toward that end, and it can be safely said that no work will be undertaken toward the elevating of the bridge on that date. The issue with the war department is in the hands of our attorneys, Rodgers & McCleave, and for the present nothing will be done. This is not the bridge company's move.

"There is nothing in the rumor that a deal is on for the sale of the bridge to the Pennsylvania or the Wabash railroads. As to our willingness to sell, that is another matter and has not been discussed. No offer has been received from either railroad and the question has no significance in today's meeting."

The following directors were elected: W. V. Callery, S. S. Marvin, D. H. Hostetter, Addison Lysle, F. S. Nimick, A. H. Childs, Joseph Ford, Henry R. Rea, John F. Walton, D. C. Byers, Thomas F. Stevenson, J. H. Ricketson, Jr., J. H. Hespenheide. The officers are W. V. Callery, president; Joseph Ford, secretary, and George F. Wright, treasurer.

THREE MEN CRUSHED IN MANOR COAL MINE

Wreck of Coal Cars Magnified by Rumor Into Report of Dire Calamity.

One man was fatally injured and two others were badly hurt by the derailing of a train of coal cars in the Penn Manor shaft, near Manor station, yesterday afternoon. The accident caused much excitement about the mouth of the shaft and it was reported in this city that a cave-in had occurred, endangering a score of lives. Joseph Pacacka, aged 32 years, was crushed, and died at the Greensburg hospital. "Mike" Ondry and "Mike" Carlock, the other victims, were carried to their homes. They will recover.

The men were walking through the mine when the cars left the track and crushed them against the side of the entry. The corridor leading to the shaft became blockaded and it was some time before communication could be established with the mouth of the shaft.

This delay caused the rumor that a disaster had occurred, and the Slav residents of the mining settlements telephoned to the foreign department of the First National Bank of Braddock for priests to be sent immediately to the scene. Two Croatian priests hastened to Manor and in the meantime the news spread throughout the Turtle Creek valley, where scores of Slavs prepared to join the rescuers.

Buying clothes when the season is drawing to a close is the best business proposition we know of—and hundreds of men are of our way of thinking. Here we are offering the very best of Summer clothing for commonest prices (the reductions below speak for themselves), and there are months yet in which to wear them.

You have choice from any style suit that is in vogue, you have choice of any sort of good cloths that go into our clothes and you will find the tailoring on the suits we sell far above the average.

An investment today will put you in possession of a new suit for a price very far below what the suit is worth intrinsically.

And if you have to buy clothes for boys the same argument is applicable.

Men's $15.00 Suits are now selling for $10.00.
Men's $18.00 Suits are now selling for $13.00.
Men's $20.00 Suits are now selling for $14.50.
Men's $22.50 Suits are now selling for $16.50.
Men's $25.00 Suits are now selling for $17.50.
Men's $30.00 Suits are now selling for $22.50.
Men's $35.00 Suits are now selling for $25.00.

Boys' Suits, both washable and non-washable, are now selling for such clearance as these:

Boys' $1.75 and $2.00 Wash Suits for $1.00.
Boys' $3.00 and $4.00 Wash Suits for $2.00.
Boys' $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 Cloth suits for $3.50.

Clearing High Grade Imported Novelty Cottons for Half Prices.

The bewitching frock of some imported cotton stuff is a feminine affair that is altogether admirable—something that man knows little about except to simper over its becomingness.

And now, to wit, this 8th day of July, we are offering women the very finest weaves of imported cottons for the very smallest prices, as the following demonstrates:

Embroidered Panama Suitings, 33 inches wide in champagne color with black embroidered rings, and in white with black dots, cottony stuffs that sold for $1.25 and $1.50 a yard, today 62½c and 75c a yard.
Embroidered Drap d'Alma Weaves of Cotton Suitings are reduced from $1.25 to half—62½c a yard.
Embroidered Eolienne Weaves in Cotton Suitings are reduced to the half line—from $1.00 down to 50c a yard.
Other high-class novelty cottons that sold for 50c and 75c a yard have been lowered to half those prices.

BLACK MISTRALS, the regular 75c grade, 44 inches wide, here today for 40c a yard.
BLACK SEEDED PANAMAS, the regular $1.00 grade, 44 inches wide, here today for 65c a yard.

The De Luxe Spring, is one of those fine springs made of best wire, is put together in such a way as to make it impossible for it to get out of order. It sells for $11.50.

But anyone will find in the long run that the best way is to take the two and pay $21.00.

Friday, July 8, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 14 of this issue.

Pittsburgh is to have the job of making one-half of the bronze monuments that are to mark the boundary between the British Northwest Territory and Alaska, which recalls to mind the fact that this city is as much the leader in brass manufactures as in those of iron and steel. Brass and bronze are not identical, but they are kindred. The governments of this country and Canada are now ready to make the surveys and locate the Alaskan boundary in accord with the decision of the international commission, though "Our Lady of the Snows" has probably not quite forgiven Lord Alverstone for casting the deciding vote upon the evidence alone.

While it is known that the federal grand jury at New York has found indictments in the case of the General Slocum disaster, no names will be divulged until arrests are made. This is wise policy, for otherwise defendants might give "leg bail." It is difficult to see how convictions can be avoided in some of these actions in face of the evidence adduced before the coroner. Negligence was written all over the management of the ill-fated excursion steamer, and if that negligence was not of a criminal character it is hard to imagine what would constitute such negligence in the eyes of the law. Punishment of the offenders will not restore life to the many victims, but it should have the effect of making other steamboat managers more careful for the lives of their patrons.

Reports from Port Arthur are mainly from unreliable Chinese sources. It is quite definitely ascertained, however, that the Japanese are steadily closing in on the fortress, having established a cordon of artillery positions around it. The advance by the west coast has passed Pigeon bay and a large force of Japanese now confronts what is known as the marine camp, defended by some thousands of marines and sailors. There are reports confirmatory of damage to the Russian vessels, reported by Admiral Togo, but denied by the Russians. The Russians apparently consider concealment a necessity at this stage of the operations and denial a means of deceiving the Japanese. Russian ammunition is said to be in good supply, so the Japanese have no choice but to assault if they desire speedy results and there is reason to believe they do.

Col. Bryan was outvoted by more than a two-thirds majority in the committee on credentials. He will be outvoted by a majority as large in proportion in the convention if he brings any issue before that body. Yet four years ago Col. Bryan was the undisputed exponent of Democratic policies and sole judge of Democratic regularity. This complete revolution would be astounding in any other than the Democratic party. It is a rapid change even for that fickle organization. It is true the Democracy opposed the issue of treasury notes in 1862 and then opposed the proposition to redeem them in gold in 1872. But the rapid turns from the gold policy of Cleveland to the cheap money fallacy of Bryan and back again, breaks all records. The Democratic party is a party of negation and assumption. It is now trying to claim some credit for Lincoln and accepting McKinley as a model. In four years it may be applauding Roosevelt.

A cloudburst, attended with fatalities and heavy damage, is reported from the Turtle Creek valley. Last week there was a similar occurrence in the Robinson run region to the westward. Almost exactly one year ago the flood occurred on Brush creek, a tributary of Turtle creek, with its terrible destruction of life and property at Oakford park, Jeannette and Penn. In short, floods of this sort are constant features of every recent year—an indication that we are paying the penalty of denuding the country of all timber. We do not mean that excessive rains and floods were unknown years ago, but simply that they are becoming more destructive. The rains run off the bare hills so much more rapidly that the floods are upon the valleys without warning and the destruction is greater. This is a live problem for consideration and a solution should be found.

Censorship is tightening on both sides to the war in the far east, or rather on the Russian side, for the Japanese could not be more secretive than they have been from the first. That there is considerable fighting, principally of outposts, between the armies of Oku, Nodzu and Kuroki on the one side and those of Kuropatkin, Stakelberg and Kellar on the other is apparent, but there is no reliable information concerning casualties. No doubt both sides are losing quite heavily in the aggregate. The Russians confess they are unable to make out the Japanese plans, though Oku has advanced nearer to Kaichou and Kuroki is pushing forward on the northern roads towards Liao-Yang and Mukden. Nodzu's force, between these two, appears to be standing still, or advancing and retiring alternately for the purpose of confusing the Russians. There is cholera in the Japanese camps at the rear, Minister Allen at Seoul confirming previous reports to this effect, and it is probable the disease may play havoc with the armies on both sides during the rainy season, which appears to have set in. Typhus has made its appearance in the Russian camps and is almost as much to be dreaded.

Clark's Keynotes.

Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, who was chosen permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention, came nearer to fulfilling expectations yesterday than did Representative Williams the day before. Mr. Clark partly followed the lines laid down by the temporary chairman. He attacked President Roosevelt bitterly and amplified the silly charge that Mr. Knox was taken out of the cabinet and made United States senator at the behest of the trusts. Nearly one-third of his speech was devoted to this fabrication, which appears to be the best campaign material the Democrats can find.

Mr. Clark was interesting at times—and original. For example, he declared vociferously that the Democratic party is not the party of free trade, but a modified tariff party. Ignoring the Cleveland demand for "a tariff for revenue only," he denounced the imputation that the Democracy is not anxious to shelter American industries. Then ignoring himself, he asserted that the Democratic party favors a tariff for revenue in three classes—first, luxuries; second, comforts; third, necessities. On the first they would levy the highest duty, and so on. Interpreted, this means that Mr. Clark's Democracy would put the highest duties upon things not produced in this country and practically none upon agricultural products and manufactures of daily necessity. We submit that his plan is worse than English free trade and that the most rabid Republican has never charged his party with more evil intent than that.

In his explanation Mr. Clark went to the same plane as Mr. Williams, who avowed the Democratic purpose to "open the American markets to foreign competition." As against the declarations of these distinguished Democratic leaders, the Republican platform declares undying loyalty to the principle of protection to American labor and American capital. It is no tariff for revenue the Republican party stands for, but that policy of protection that has built up American industries and made this the foremost industrial nation in the world. Every Republican will gladly accept the issue as defined by the Hon. Champ Clark. Every man who has a dollar invested in industry and every man who works for his living, who can understand the meaning of this issue will vote to keep Mr. Clark and his friends out of control of the government.

If the American voters have made one thing more clear than every other, during a series of campaigns, it is that they approve the policy of protection. They have given that principle the most emphatic indorsement, time and again. Mr. Cleveland, by reason of his many other sterling virtues, once misled them into voting for a "revenue only" tariff, and they have never ceased to regret it. They have repudiated that action just as effectively as they have repudiated the dangerous financial doctrines of William Jennings Bryan. They will do it again. A Democratic plank opposing the protective principle will assure the defeat of the party next November by a decisive majority.

The American Peril.

In Germany the "American peril" is as frequently discussed as the "yellow peril," and there the phrase originated. Now it has been transferred to French commercial literature in a warning not wholly without warrant. The writer who points to the dangers that threaten Europe from this side of the water is M. Hanotaux, former French minister of foreign affairs. His article appears as a preface to a volume on national and international commercial statistics recently published by M. Vignes. Power and organization, he says, are the words which respectively describe and justify the eminent situation of the United States. Briefly summarizing the vast resources of America, and pointing to the active and enterprising spirit of its people, M. Hanotaux predicts:

"Tomorrow this colossal empire, master of the Panama route, will place itself between Europe and Asia and will dominate the commerce of the two worlds by controlling the principal road." The great secret of this nation's commercial supremacy M. Hanotaux finds in that "discipline," as he terms it—the outgrowth of organization—"which has created the scientific and terrible apparatus of graduated tariff systems, constantly undergoing alterations behind which the American republic has for the last 15 years been sheltering its crushing progress."

No stronger tribute than this could be paid to the wisdom of that party in this country whose chief glory and commendation are that it has stood rock-ribbed for the policy that has made possible this commercial greatness so feared by the nations abroad. With renewed allegiance to that policy, and with the certainty of a continuation of the administration which has so wisely conserved and applied it, the people of this nation may expect, in the next four years, to see M. Hanotaux's prophecy make long strides toward its consummation.

A Dietary Suggestion.

The concession granted by the meat combine to the people of Pittsburgh was shortlived, it seems. While prices on beef were cut slightly, the announcement is now made of a stiff raise in the prices of lamb and veal. A few days ago we noted the effect of a partial abstention from meat as a means to combat these exorbitant demands of the combination, especially during the heated term, when medical authorities assert the practice will be beneficial to health. In an article written by the editor of the Health Culture magazine, he declares that no one who can stand "three square meals a day" can stand the heat, and recommends that meat be omitted altogether from one's bill of fare during the summer months. He would even include in his index expurgatorius milk, cream, cheese, eggs and fish, all of which he avers are great heat-producing foods. It might seem as though the elimination of such staple articles of diet would reduce a normally healthy person almost to the brink of starvation, yet the writer declares that if people will try for dinner a simple bill of fare composed, say, of peas or beans, potatoes baked or steamed, rice or some other cereal, a vegetable salad and bread and fruit, they will find not only sufficient nourishment, but a marked increase in vitality. While we do not indorse this from the sanitary view, it may be assumed the omission of any of these articles, temporarily, will not be deleterious to health, and the suggestion may point the way to defeat arbitrary attempts to advance the prices of food products.

Down in Old Kentucky.

Our contemporary, the Louisville Courier-Journal, has become a reorganizer of the reorganizers, and Marse Henry advises the leaders at St. Louis to "brush everybody out of the way who gets in the way" of the "simple, transparent truths of original Democracy." Hear him:

> Folly to the rear, Wisdom to the front, gentlemen; no more chasing of Socialistic rainbows; no more shooting of bows and arrows against Krag-Jorgensen rifles; but, equipped with the sinews of war and filled with the spirit of victory—arrayed once again upon the firm foundation of historic Democracy which we have never abandoned except to go to defeat—let the word from one end of the line to the other be this: No Absolutist in the White House, no Absolutism anywhere, at home or abroad; Home Rule, the Separation of Church and State, the Public Order, the National Credit, and a Tariff for Revenue Only! In short, gentlemen, may your Platform be a new Declaration of Independence—not a word longer—your nominee another Jefferson, and the day of your meeting a second Fourth of July!
> Brush everybody out of the way who gets in the way of these simple, transparent truths of original Democracy, of Democracy Unterrified and Undefiled; brush him aside, as either of no consequence, or else in the pay of the enemy; and, having put the flag in the hands of a trustworthy Democrat—the woods are full of trustworthy Democrats—march forth a solid column—a shouting, triumphant column—of Heaven-blessed because Heaven-fearing Democrats, who love their country and mean to save it and its free institutions; save them from the ambition of the would-be Diaz in the White House, from the greed of the Gray Wolves in both the houses of congress; save them from the hand of the Money Devil on the one side, the brand of the Incendiary on the other side, all for the love of God, His Grace and Glory, now and forever. Amen!

Bryan in all his glory couldn't beat that for language. The "peerless leader of the Democracy in 1900, who is the cheerless leader in 1904," was never more eloquent than the Kentucky editor in this outburst. But the Courier-Journal does not confine itself to rhetoric, it sometimes prints useful information. We do not intimate any connection between these things, but this is Mr. Watterson's published recipe for mint julep, which appeared in the Journal a few days ago:

> One lump of cut sugar; enough water to dissolve it. Add one stiff drink of bourbon whisky or brandy. Have a bunch of mint in a glass full of ice on the side. Pour the whisky, dissolved sugar and water over the mint and ice. Don't bruise the mint. Drink at leisure.

Betwixt the kettle and the pot,
The smut, I ween, is hard to choose;
But both the Russ and Jap, I wot,
At least do mutilate the news.

"Put not your trust in uncertain riches," said the Apostle Paul, but had he been living today he would probably have modified his statement to read: Put not your riches in uncertain trusts.

But the saddest of all the sad sights that adorn
Wisconsin's political hall,
Of a boomlet returned to the Wall.

"Parker may be nominated on first ballot—B. & O. may sell its river division," says the Wheeling Telegraph. Surely the connection doesn't portend such gloomy results?

How stupid of that photographer to suppose that a candidate of the old Bourbon party would allow his picture to be taken in water!

"Let us raise the banner of revolt!" shrieks Eugene Debs, Socialist candidate for the presidency. Amoosin' little cuss, isn't he?

The Norwegian output of cod liver oil this season is 16,000 barrels, or nearly six times as much as last season. Drink hearty!

Col. Watterson says he is never sure of anything until it happens. What, not even with a straight flush, colonel?

By the way, has anything been seen of Gen. Miles since the Democratic ship of state touched at St. Louis?

Judge Parker might safely begin to practice now on words of one syllable, such as yes.

We don't care if lamb is up. There are other ways to take our mint.

Talked of in Gotham

By ALEXANDER DODDS.

(BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—Disgusted at the criticism of the American public, M. Santos Dumont took his airship back to Paris today on the Lorraine. The great silk covering with the aid of which he intended to startle the patrons of the St. Louis exposition was badly injured recently. But it is not the tearing of a great hole in the balloon that makes the little Brazilian indignant. It is the hint thrown out that he was the author of the deed, in order to escape participating in the contest, that makes him feel that an injustice has been done him. At present he is undecided whether or not to lay the blame to professional jealousy or to the work of some crank. He is rather inclined to the jealousy theory, because the injured ship was the most successful of all his flying machines. The balloon contained 2,000 pieces of silk and of these over 150 have been cut in such a way as to render it impossible to repair them. The silk will have to be specially prepared, sewed and varnished and then seasoned before the big air bag will again be ready for use. Santos-Dumont is not sure how long this will take, but before sailing this morning he said he was positive that all would be in readiness for the contests at the fair in October. This is the second time that one of his airships has been molested, but he does not connect in any way his mishap of two years ago at the Crystal palace, London, with the vandalism of a few days ago.

Another Case of Professional Jealousy.

The heart of a truck gardener's patient old horse was filled with professional jealousy as it stood in front of the Hotel Imperial and he bit a piece out of the tire of a $3,500 automobile, nearly getting his head blown off by the explosion of compressed air which accompanied the theft of the rubber tidbit. When the horse got through running up Broadway there were enough carrots, turnips and cabbages lying along the Big Lane to rout all the actors off the boards. The horse is said to have resorted to mayhem because the automobile blew smoke in its face. The most remarkable fact about the occurrence is that nobody was injured except the automobile. The horse wasn't angry at a soul on Broadway.

Odell Wants to See the President.

If the president is willing Gov. Odell will make a pilgrimage to Oyster Bay tomorrow to talk over the New York political state. It is rumored here that while Timothy Woodruff is mentioned as a candidate for the state's chief executive, Gov. Odell will do all in his power to have Erastus C. Knight of Buffalo indorsed by Mr. Roosevelt. The president is anxious to have a man on the state ticket who will have drawing power enough to help the national nominees. As Republican state chairman Mr. Odell is said to favor bringing a man from the western part of the state, and he makes Knight the first choice. As the time approaches for the climax at the Democratic national convention, the president's interest becomes more manifest, and he gives close attention to the bulletins flashed over the wire from the convention hall at St. Louis to the executive offices at Oyster Bay.

Managers to Talk It Over.

It was announced today that next January this city will be the scene of the biggest convention of theatrical managers the world has ever known. Every village and city recognized by the important traveling companies will have representatives present to effect a coalition with managers of Greater New York. This is said to have been the scheme of Erlanger, Klaw, Conreid, Hammerstein and other managers when they formed the local organization, and to this end a convention of managers for preliminary work was called for next month. However, innumerable hitches are reported in other cities in effecting local organizations and it was decided to postpone the big convention until the first month of next year.

Her Soul Willed to Deity.

The will of the late Anna E. Park, M. D., filed for probate today, is the most remarkable instrument ever placed on record here. The value of the estate is given as only $1,500. After making a number of minor bequests, such as "the family charts proving us to be the direct descendants of Sir Francis Drake" to her oldest son, and "five dollars lawful money" to her youngest, it gives the following clause: "I do with pleasure bequeath unto my Father, God, my spirit or the ethereal essence of Himself called life, relying on His infinite mercy for a blissful hereafter." It is needless to say Mrs. Park for years had been a devout Christian and a worker in missionary circles.

His Wanted Suicide With Irish Tinge.

Tired of life today, Thomas Heffern, a son of the old sod, decided he would like to die. He went to his friend, Policeman Hickey, of the West Sixteenth street beat, and asked him if he knew of any poison that had green in it, as he wanted to die a loyal Irishman. Hickey mentioned paris green. An hour later Hickey heard cries issuing from the flat house where Heffern lives, and looking up saw his friend waving his arms and calling for an ambulance. When a doctor arrived he found Heffern unconscious on the floor, beside him a "growler" in which he had made a paste of paris green and beer. He had been ill for several days and had endeavored to cure himself with persistent libations of mixed ale. His heart's desire will not be attained this time, for the doctors say he will be released from Roosevelt hospital tomorrow.

Big Jim Gets a New Place.

James McDermott, who for 20 years has been a member of the city police force and who for 10 years has been on the Broadway squad, has resigned to take a new position. During his long service it is said that he has escorted more millions across Broadway than the national government is worth, for he was stationed right in front of the Equitable building. He now goes to guard the offices of J. Pierpont Morgan in Broad street. He is a giant in size and is a general favorite of the hundreds of Wall street men who have had occasion to daily pass his old post. President Roosevelt, when he was police commissioner of New York, removed McDermott from the force, but the courts to whom he appealed restored him.

The Mayor Likes the Cartoons.

Mayor McClellan enjoys the political cartoons, and the city hall attaches collect them for him from papers all over the country. Today a clerk showed him a skit in which a donkey, with immense haunches and prodigious ears, was the centerpiece—a ludicrous portrayal of asinine bewilderment. "Very clever, indeed," mused the mayor. "The chap who drew that hadn't made up his mind whether the Democracy at St. Louis would take its orders from headquarters or hindquarters."

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

It wasn't hardly half bad according to the Chicago Tribune, which keeps tab on Fourth of July accidents. In its issue of July 6 it gives the following figures:

Dead from injuries received in connection with celebrating the Fourth, 52; injured, 3,049.

Following is the official count for last year: Killed, 467; injured, 3,967; deaths from tetanus, 407; total killed and wounded, 4,434.

So you see this year's holocaust was hardly half bad, and yet bad enough. However, its victims are not all in, and the official count may make a big difference.

* * * * *

Have you ever thought about the number of people that die each year? While death is not a pleasant subject to dwell upon, nor even profitable, yet it will not be out of place to call it up occasionally, lest we forget.

The population of the world in 1900 was about 1,600,000,000, or something more than a billion and a half. Of course you cannot comprehend such vast numbers, but they will do to figure on.

The estimated number of deaths each year is 45,000,000, or 123,000 daily.

How many is this per minute?

But if figures do not lie to beat the band the birth rate is greater than the death rate, so that the world is in no great danger of being depopulated, the cry of race suicide to the contrary notwithstanding.

The number of deaths in New York each year is about 75,000, so that the Slocum disaster becomes a very small affair, and will not likely be noticeable in the aggregate at the end of the year.

A daily list of deaths in this city would not be a very short one, but a list of births would be considerably longer.

* * * * *

The effects of civilization on the birth rate are most surprising, so much so that one is almost compelled to stop and inquire whether civilization is really all that it is cracked up to be.

In our New England states, the home of culture and the very hot-bed of civilization, the birth rate has fallen off more than one-half in the past century, so that it is now below the death rate.

If these figures show anything it is that a high state of civilization is inimical to the race, and that modern culture tends to physical degeneracy.

The era of large, or of reasonable large families seems to pass away with the advent of civilization and culture. This is not only true of our own country, but of all others. The European countries that show the greatest decline in the birth rate boast of the highest culture and refinement.

There has been a good deal of philosophizing over this, and various reasons have been assigned, the favorite one being that the quality of the children is so much improved that fewer are necessary. And yet the fact stands out everywhere that the better men and women of the world come from large families.

The conclusion of some leading sociologists that it is because the modern woman tries to shun motherhood is more commonly accepted as the true cause.

* * * * *

Just how civilization, religion and mental culture tend to demoralize the race, or beget degeneracy, is not clear; nor is there any line of sound reasoning that appears to lead to this unwelcome and most discouraging conclusion.

There is a cause for it, however, that is so patent that all are able to recognize it, and to understand the why and the wherefore of it.

This cause is riches or love of money. Rich people are notorious for small families, and mainly because babies and growing children interfere with their pleasures and social functions. This is not a charge trumped up for the occasion, but the real explanation as offered by the people themselves.

There is a whole lot of truth in the saying that poor people are as great for children as the rich are for horses.

And from your own knowledge, are the few children of rich parents superior to the many children of the poorer classes mentally, morally or physically?

From which of these classes does the country draw its ablest and most efficient men?

* * * * *

That there is widespread demoralization among the fast sets, which are necessarily the rich sets, there can be no doubt, for it is plain to be seen, besides they make no bones of telling it.

This is not true of the wealthy set.

Wealth does not consist alone of dollars and cents, but is made up largely of wisdom, good morals and Christian worth.

The word wealth has a more wholesome sound, somehow, than riches. The latter suggests the clink of coin and of glasses, while wealth carries with it a suggestion of real worth, stability and helpfulness.

Riches are usually inherited or gotten quickly, so that those who possess them know not what to do with them except to let them go as easily as they came. Their first fruits are idleness, and idleness means degeneration, which leads to demoralization and sinfulness.

Wealth does not beget idleness. On the other hand it encourages its possessors to make the most out of it that is possible by judicious investments in schools and institutions for the permanent betterment of the race, and particularly in men who have in them the elements of true manhood together with social qualities of a high order.

* * * * *

Are these things not worth preaching about? Are they not up-to-date themes, and are the people not deeply interested in them? Does not the desire for riches, or the love of money, lead to perdition?

Then why, in the name of all that is good, don't our preachers preach boldly concerning it?

Some say they cannot afford to do so on account of the rich folks who contribute liberally to the support of their churches.

This is not true of a Christian preacher. It cannot be true of any one who honestly tries to follow the teachings of the Master. But it may be true of some who stand in the pulpit, much as some other men stand in meat stalls in the market places—for the money there is in it.

That some of our leading educators, particularly those belonging to the laymen class, are taking account of it is shown in several of the baccalaureate addresses recently delivered, notably those of President Hadley of Yale. Following is a brief extract from the sermon of the latter:

"Gentlemen of the graduating class, the really fundamental thing in a man's life is his choice of a religion. Two religions are today struggling for the mastery. There is the religion of Mammon, whose dominant purpose is selfishness and whose creed is indifference to moral considerations, except so far as they may be regarded as instruments of individual advancement. There is the religion of God, whose purpose is service and whose creed is loyalty to something larger than themselves. * * * These were the ideals of Christ, which he held through temptation and suffering. Whoever follows Him in this spirit has the right to call himself a Christian and to claim the promises of the Christian faith—the promise that whosoever will lose his life for Christ's sake and the gospel's, the same shall find it."

Williams' Speech

Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, the temporary chairman at St. Louis, devoted 15,000 words yesterday to a speech elucidating the Democratic party's newest attitude. But he failed utterly to develop a single issue vital enough or distinct enough to base an aggressive campaign on. Nor is any such issue likely to be found in the rewritten Democratic platform. The Democratic party, repenting past sins, will simply throw itself on the mercy and charity of the American voter. It will ask the American people to vote out an administration of varied and brilliant achievements, whose policies are known and tested, and to vote in an administration of untried quality and unknown and undiscoverable political tendencies. To this counsel of indecision and timidity there can be but one answer. The Democratic party was beaten in 1896 and 1900. But it fought then in the open and boldly. It will be beaten again this year. And its defeat will be soothed by no reflection that it left the field after an honest struggle, without cloaking its true colors or masking and stultifying its true record.—New York Tribune (Rep.).

No party platform within current memory has ever been so grievously mishandled as the Republican national platform when it passed under the demolishing examination of John Sharp Williams in his speech at St. Louis yesterday. The reading of that speech is a pleasure which no sensible man will forego, a duty which no candid American can without reproach neglect. Mr. Williams' logical, orderly and connected review of the Republican position helps to a just understanding of public events and the recent course of our political history. In details, in individual planks, the Chicago platform has been subjected to a fire of successful and destructive criticism.—New York Times (Dem.).

The contrast of the two speeches at the opening of the two national conventions is the contrast of the two parties. The Republican party moves forward in its great work of actual government with sure and stately tread and distinct and brilliant accomplishment, while the Democratic party stands by and simply picks flaws. So at the opening of the Republican convention Mr. Root in measured terms and exact statement recounted the living, vital deeds of Republican administration, and Mr. Williams at the opening of the Democratic convention simply carps and cavils. Mr. Williams himself forces the contrast. He makes it by making his speech an answer. The comparison is thus inevitable. Mr. Root's speech was strong, affirmative, symmetrical and convincing in its constructive force. Mr. Williams' speech is loose, negative and disjointed in its sole function of criticism.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.).

Mr. Williams outlined a platform better, because more concise and pointed, than the wordy one that has been published as his. He corrected the fairy tales put forth by the orators and platform makers at Chicago as history, and he countered neatly on the Republican pretense of especial efficiency in "doing things" by showing that the party was now, on the contrary, "a party of passivity, or non-action, of obstruction to reform and progress—in a word, a party whose only sacred precept is the shibboleth which maketh them known one of them to the other, a shibboleth drawn from the gambler's table, 'stand pat,' a precept born of cowardice and fear to move." The Republican claim to credit for good crops and rich mines, which will logically have to give way to a confession of guilt whenever crops fail and lodes pinch out, was fittingly ridiculed. Mr. Williams has made a sensible appeal to a sensible citizenship. It is a good beginning of a promising convention.—New York World (Dem.).

The speech of Representative John Sharp Williams made yesterday when chosen temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention will be read with delight in all parts of the country. It is a reply to the great speech of Elihu Root at the opening of the Republican convention in Chicago; a scathing criticism of the platform and the policies of the Republican party, and a forecast of Democratic intention. The speech is a terrible reading between the lines of Mr. Root's closely reasoned and carefully cogent argument in which the Republican party was deified as a dispensing Providence and the Democratic opposition held responsible for all mistakes and default. Mr. Williams did not have the time to smooth the rough places in his speech or to compress his thought. It is a ramble, like the speech of "Uncle Joe" Cannon at Chicago, but it reads well. It hits to hurt. The discussion of the platform is no less vigorous. It is a merciless exposure of the stand pat, do-nothing policy which allows the people of the country to be plucked under the tusks of the elephant without effort or intent of restraint.—Philadelphia Record (Dem.).

Mr. Williams had a more difficult task to perform than had Mr. Root in a corresponding position at Chicago, and his speech is pitched on a contrasted key—that of political diagnosis rather than of historical and legal argument. Mr. Root's address was mainly a summary of recent American history, admirably adroit and well arranged, passing lightly over subjects of dispute and assuming for the dominant party the entire credit for all the great achievements of the nation. Mr. Williams had no difficulty in finding the weak points in this method of treating history, though so much of his speech as relates to Mr. Root is sarcastic and jocular in tone, and, in contrast with the calm and dignified rhetoric of the former secretary, it is disappointing.—Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.).

The speech of John Sharp Williams as temporary chairman of the Democratic convention at St. Louis was looked forward to as the keynote to the Democratic platform. It is nothing less than a satirical review of the speech of Mr. Root at Chicago and a running comment on the Republican platform. While satirical hits may amuse a convention, they are not apt to promote the fortunes of a party. The public expects from the mouthpiece of a national convention serious treatment of the issues which it is expected to support.—Baltimore American (Rep.)

PERSONALS

G. W. Mover of Berlin, Germany, passed through Pittsburgh last night on his way to St. Louis, to visit the fair. He is an attorney and represents the United States Steel Corporation in Germany. He is here on a three month's trip, during which he will visit plants of the corporation.

Mr. Mover said: "Despite the fact that Germany does its utmost to supply its own demands in steel products, a large amount of material is imported from the United States. The principal exports to Germany are rails, tubes and structural iron. There are a few locomotives sent over but Germany is now making a fairly good machine that answers the needs of railroads. Germany is determined to harness electricity as much as possible. Many of the short line railroads are using electric power instead of steam. Some of their electric lines have speed equal to the American lines, but the equipment is not up to the American standard."

The Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, accompanied by his family, left last night on a several weeks' trip to points in Kentucky. Dr. McEwan has several relatives in that state, some of whom he has not seen for many years.

Hugh Young, president of the Federal National bank, returned last night over the Pennsylvania railroad from an eastern trip. A large part of his time was spent in fishing.

John Algeo, a New York broker, stepped from the Pennsylvania limited upon its arrival at the Union station last night. The train was several minutes late owing to a freight wreck near Bradenville. "We were held back for two hours and here we are only 20 minutes late," he said. "That is sufficient evidence that the train traveled over 60 miles an hour. I have been a passenger on the limited numerous times, but never in my life did I witness such speed. The time is not far off when it will be a common occurrence for a train to go 100 miles an hour."

CRANK LETTERS REACH ESOPUS

CANDIDATE NOT FRIGHTENED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ESOPUS, N. Y., July 7.—Divulging the existence of a plot against his life, Judge Alton B. Parker received a letter from the west today, in which the writer cautioned the recipient to remain close to his home and protect himself against bodily harm.

In the letter Judge Parker is told that there is a plot on foot among certain persons now in the west to take advantage of the first opportunity to inflict bodily injury upon him, even to the point of death. The writer cautions Judge Parker to remain at home, but in event of the latter finding it necessary to make a trip away from home, to safeguard himself against assault by vigilant companions. The signature to the letter could not be read, and there is a possibility that it really became a scrawl to prevent the identity of the writer becoming known. It cannot be learned tonight where the letter was mailed.

Just Genial Crank.

There is no suggestion in the letter that the plot is being developed by anarchists or those who are concerned in it, or are seeking vengeance against Judge Parker, who is probably to be the Democratic standard bearer, to seek to wrest the government from the control of the Republicans. In fact the letter is very vague.

It is for this reason and the illiteracy displayed in the letter that Judge Parker contents himself in the belief that the letter has come from a person whose mind is disordered.

There are other letters and postal cards coming in the daily mails now from persons about whose mental obliquity there can be no doubt. One who is frank enough to sign his "A lunatic," has already sent his first postal card and prominently put on it "No. 1," and Judge Parker is expecting postal cards from this source numbering from 2 to perhaps 1,000. On a postal card received today a true semicircle was drawn. Over it was written the motto, "Safe and Sane Democracy."

"A lunatic" then went into a general denunciation of Democracy and particularly that brand known as "safe and sane." The trend of the argument was that there is no such kind of Democracy and never can be.

The prospect of a new railroad station at Esopus outweighed the doings of the Democratic national convention in the mind of Judge Parker today, if one might judge from his conversation. It is a fact, however, that he watched the bulletins telephoned to his house from Kingston with an interest which even his extraordinary calm demeanor could not quite conceal.

No Fear of Rain.

His drive this afternoon with Mrs. Parker and their little grandson was of brief duration and some of those familiar with the judge's movements admitted that he remained rather closer at home than usual. An interesting aspect of this drive appeared in the fact that it was begun in spite of an overcast sky and a light sprinkle of rain, and illustrated indirectly one of the marked characteristics of the man—his disregard of weather conditions.

Division Supt. Christies of the West Shore railroad stopped at Esopus this afternoon and definitely announced that Esopus would have a fine new station within two weeks. He admitted that the probability of Judge Parker's nomination had a good deal to do with hurrying work on the station.

Judge Parker tonight discussed the new station, but maintained his usual reserve when politics was mentioned.

Part of the judge's time today was occupied in sitting for his portrait to a New York artist whose name is withheld. There are to be several more sittings. Judge Parker refused to say for what purpose the portrait would be used, intimating that decision upon that point awaited the completion of the picture.

He sat for some time this afternoon before the camera of a New York photographer. This sitting was at the photographer's own request, but it is assumed that the photographs will be used in the campaign should the Judge be nominated.

Something of a sensation was created at Kingston tonight by the arrival of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Mrs. Rockefeller at the Eagle hotel. The rumor got abroad that he had come to see Judge Parker, but Judge Parker's secretary pronounced the story preposterous. Mr. Rockefeller, it is understood, will go to the Catskills tomorrow.

WINDOW GLASS WORKERS AGREE TO CONSOLIDATE

Rival Unions Will Merge to Fight the Machine Glass Factories.

It was learned yesterday that the two independent window glass workers' organizations intend to merge for the sole purpose of fighting the American Window Glass Company and the original workers' union, known as Local Assembly No. 300, K. of L. The consolidation will probably take place at Cleveland next Tuesday, when the United States Window Glass Workers, which is the third organization formed, and the Window Glass Workers' association, the second, which seceded from the K. of L. body, meet in joint convention.

The question of operating machine glass factories during the summer months will be one of the important subjects settled at this joint convention. The United States Window Glass Workers will be represented by 50 delegates and the Window Glass Workers' association by 35 delegates.

The machine plant factories are just now occupying the attention of the officials of the new organization. For 50 years, according to President John Phillips of the United Workers, no plants have been operated during July and August. This year the American Window Glass Company is operating six machine plants.

The company owns 10 factories which are equipped with machines, three of them being idle by the company's desire and the fourth, located at Kensington, because the men refused to continue working during the two hot months.

President Phillips has just completed a visit to all these plants in an effort to have the machine workers affiliate with his organization. If his efforts are successful, the K. of L. organization will have no further hold on the window glass industry.

ODELL TO VISIT SAGAMORE HILL

With Chairman Barnes He Will Discuss New York Politics With President.

BUSY TIMES AT OYSTER BAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 7.—President Roosevelt expects to have busy times for the next two days at least. Tomorrow Gov. Odell and William Barnes of Albany will be here to talk over the Republican program in the state, and Saturday Senator Fairbanks is expected here to discuss the larger affairs of the national campaign. He will probably remain at Sagamore Hill until Monday.

The governor and Mr. Barnes, who is chairman of the state Republican executive committee, are expected to arrive here on the noon train. They will be met by the president's carriage and driven at once to Sagamore Hill. The Republican slate will, of course, be the topic of chief discussion after luncheon. The president will tell the governor and Mr. Barnes his views as to who should be chosen as the candidate for governor, and the United States senatorship will also be talked of. But, of course, the talk will be of an informal character, and the president will avoid saying anything that might be construed as dictation.

The president passed the greater part of the day in his library, looking over official papers that have been accumulating for a week. During the day he received frequent bulletins, telling him of the progress of the St. Louis convention. He told a neighbor who called this afternoon that he had been "loafing" with his family for five days.

"And now," said he, "I am going to get my coat off and go to work."

Mrs. Roosevelt drove down to the village today and attended a meeting of the St. Hilda's guild, where she spent two hours sewing on a child's dress and chatting with other members of the guild.

Several persons came here today expecting to see the president, but were stopped by secret service men on the hill, because they had no appointment. This happens every day. No one who has not previously made an official appointment through the secretary gets beyond the big gate that opens the way to the president's grounds.

LOOMIS' DISAPPEARANCE IS STILL A MYSTERY

State Department Issues Statement Saying Communication from Ellis Gives No Light.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Instead of being cleared up, the mystery of the disappearance from the Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Kent Loomis of Parkersburg, W. Va., is as dark as ever. This statement was given out at the state department this afternoon:

"W. H. Ellis has written a very long and formal statement, which he has forwarded from Paris to F. B. Loomis regarding the disappearance of the latter's brother from the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. and the efforts made to find him. No new or important facts, however, are set forth by Mr. Ellis. The main points concerning the mysterious disappearance have already been cabled by the press from Paris, Plymouth, London and Bremen. Mr. Ellis goes into great detail concerning the voyage and the routine life on board the ship. His statement seems in all essential ways to correspond with those of the officials of the steamer and with the statements made by several of the passengers. Mr. Ellis reports that Mr. Loomis had not been drinking to excess; that when he last saw him he was on deck about 11 o'clock and that there was nothing in his appearance to indicate that he was not in full control of himself and in possession of all his faculties. Employes on the steamship who knew Mr. Loomis best corroborate these statements of Mr. Ellis. Consul-General Gowdy, in commenting on Mr. Ellis' letter, says: 'I think it will be realized from this statement that he has told the facts.'"

COMPARES TWO YEARS.

Controller Shows Differences in Municipal Collections of 1903 and 1904.

City Controller Larkin yesterday gave out a comparative statement of the municipal revenues in 1903 and 1904, up to June 30. The statement shows that in aldermen's fines, six times as much was collected this year, compared with last year; for switch licenses, five times as much was collected; the mayor's office produced more than $7,000 less than last year; the street railway company has paid nothing, while last year it paid $20,140. In 1903 the street and sewer collections amounted to $906,824 43, and this year only $472,742 71.

So far the collections by the city solicitor's office are $243,000 less than last year, and the amount paid to the city treasurer is behind last year's payment, $281,000, or $524,00 in all.

BOROUGH OFFICIALS WILL ENJOY VACATIONS ON PAY

A committee appointed by the North Braddock borough council to investigate the cost of opening Roy street, North Braddock, from Lobinger avenue to Hawkins avenue, reported last night that the sites which would have to be bought aggregate in cost $9,500. The matter was referred to the property committee of council and an attempt will be made to buy the properties at a lower price. The borough officials and all salaried men on the payroll were granted a fortnight's vacation with pay. Clerk John C. Jouss reported collections for the year of $55,349.98 from all sources. There were 72 cases of smallpox in the borough during the year.

FIRST ACTION AGAINST SABBATH BREAKERS

Twenty informations against employes of Kennywood park were sworn out yesterday before Justice J. Clyde Miller of Homestead by P. T. Gamble, charging the defendants with breaking the Sabbath laws. This is the first action taken this summer against the promoters of Sunday amusements. The ministers in the Monongahela valley have not been active and it is believed that Gamble is prosecuting the cases on his own account. It is expected that other informations will follow.

Want Old Members to Return.

At a special meeting of Camp Friend W. Jenkins, No. 16, Service Men of the Spanish war, at its armory, 111 Federal street, Allegheny, this evening, an effort will be made to regain the original members who have been suspended through non-payment of dues. At the June meeting of the camp it was decided to reinstate for a small sum suspended members, and many of these have signified their intention of taking advantage of the opportunity to again become active members of the camp.

After a Valuable Site.

Negotiations are reported to have been started again by the National Tube Company for the purchase of the property of the Consolidated Coal & Coke Company at Riverton, McKeesport. The property is at present occupied by a saw mill, and includes the land lying between the two properties of the tube company. The land is valued at $200,000, and if secured by the company will give two miles of unbroken frontage on the Monongahela river.

Car Wrecks Building.

Owing to the failure of the brakes to work a Rebecca street car crashed into Cruikshank Brothers' building, Island avenue, Allegheny, yesterday morning and crushed in the corner of the building at the same time demolishing two plate glass windows. Motorman Lewis Liebold, who was in charge, was rendered unconscious but was not seriously injured. There were no passengers on the car.

Father Fined for Cruelty.

W. A. Cox, colored, was fined $20 by Justice J. Clyde Miller of Homestead yesterday, on a charge of cruelty to his 11-year-old son, whom it is alleged, he tortured by holding lighted matches to the boy's face.

TALE OF HORSE THAT FELL DEAD

Son of New York Broker Is Accuse of Riding Too Hard and Is Sued for $1,000.

HE BRINGS COUNTER SUIT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., July 7.—Griswold H. Peabody, son of a New York broker, is in trouble as the result of an accident. Peabody's wife has been stopping at the Phelps sanitarium. He came Friday to join her.

With a local man, they hired horses that night and went for a ride about the city. They were seen by several, it is alleged, pushing their animals to their utmost speed, and finally Peabody's horse dropped under him. Peabody's foot was broken by the fall. The horse died with blood oozing from his eyes and nostrils. A post mortem next day showed its lungs were congested and diaphragm ruptured. Liveryman Judd asked settlement, but Peabody refused, claiming the horse was in bad shape and he should be paid for getting his foot crushed. Judd swore out a complaint, charging Peabody with cruelty to animals. Today he was convicted in Justice Bidwell's court and given a fine and costs of $81.35. He made no defense. His attorney at once appealed the case to the circuit court. Two local men went on his bond, which was set at $200. Judd has sued Peabody for $1,000 for the death of his horse and Peabody has sued Judd for $5,000 for injury to his foot.

Judd claims to be able to prove that the whole party were drinking at Greenman cafe before the ride.

Mrs. Peabody is the daughter of John T. Berry, a millionaire stock man of Dallas, Tex., and is now in Washington, Pa., visiting relatives. She is absolutely fearless on a horse.

PENNSYLVANIA FARMS WILL HAVE FINE CROPS

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Discusses Conditions and Promises Good Results.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., July 7.—"All things considered, this year promises to be a favorable and prosperous one to the Pennsylvania farmers," said Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Martin today.

Mr. Martin said that wheat will possibly not average more than 50 per cent of full crop, and that much injury has been done to the crop in Fayette and adjoining counties by the Hessian fly. The oats crop is promising and a yield above the average is predicted. Grass and pasture is everywhere abundant and the hay crop is the largest ever grown in the state. The corn crop is, in most localities, backward and unpromising. The acreage of potatoes is possibly less than last year, but gives promises of a good yield.

Mr. Martin reported that nearly all vegetables have made rapid growth and promises a good crop. He predicted a large apple crop and said that pears, plums and cherries in most localities are abundant.

"In Allegheny and part of Westmoreland counties," continued Mr. Martin, "heavy storms and cloudbursts have destroyed the crops on numerous farms. A blight has seriously affected the wheat crop in portions of York, Adams and adjoining counties, which was only sectional in its ravages."

SUSPENDED OPERATIONS.

Carnegie Steel Co. Refuses to Run Hoop Plants at Present Wages.

Operations have been suspended at four of the hoop plants of the Carnegie Steel Company—two at Youngstown and one each at Girard and Warren. These were the only plants of the company operating under the wage agreement of the Amalgamated association. The reason of the shutdown is on account of the new wage scale not being arranged.

At the conference held in Pittsburgh a month ago, it was found impossible to agree upon a scale. The company offered to pay the puddling scale, but insisted on reductions in the finishing mills, ranging from 28 to 60 per cent. The conference adjourned to reassemble at the call of either side. The company met a committee of workers employed in the mills affected and offered the same scale as that presented the wage committee. The men refused to accept it and the meeting adjourned without coming to any understanding.

The indications are the company will open the mills in a few days on a non-union basis. Should this be the case, the Amalgamated association will have no hold on any hoop mill belonging to the United States Steel corporation.

Boy Charged With Stealing Whisky.

After a long chase Officer Thomas Carroll arrested Harry Shoemaker, aged 17, of 828 Charles street, Pittsburgh, yesterday afternoon on East Ohio street, Allegheny. The boy is alleged to have taken two quart bottles of whisky from a delivery wagon. In his flight the boy dropped the bottles and the bouquet that filled the East Ohio atmosphere started several thirsts.

BRYAN STALKS WITH SPIKED SHOES OVER ILLINOIS DEMOCRATIC BOSSES

TRAMPLED PEOPLE'S RIGHTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—In presenting the minority report of the committee on credentials, the principal feature of which was the Illinois contest on delegates, W. J. Bryan addressed the Democratic national convention as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of this Convention: I came to the convention in the hope that we would be able to agree on platform, on candidates, and have nothing to stir the feelings or rouse contention. (Applause.) I still hope that we shall be able to agree upon a platform we can present to the country as the platform of a united party. (Prolonged applause). I will go further than that. I still hope that we shall be able to present to the country a ticket behind which can stand a united party (loud cheers and applause). And, I regret that I am compelled to come in at this time and present a subject upon which your votes will be asked. That if there is one Democratic principle more fundamental than another it is the right of a majority to rule. (Applause.) If you destroy the binding force of this principle there is nothing that can hold a party together.

In the state of Illinois the majority was not allowed to rule; that convention was dominated by a clique who deliberately and purposely boldly trampled upon the rights of the people of Illinois. My friends, the evidence shows that no band of train robbers ever planned a robbery upon a train more deliberately or with less conscience than they did (applause), and these men who planned it and who carried it out have the audacity, the impudence and the insolence to say that they certify that what they did was regular, you cannot go behind their certificates.

Compared to Train Robbers.

If that is good law in a Democratic convention it ought to be good doctrine in a court, and if it is good doctrine in a court, then the only thing that train robbers have to do in the future is to make a report of train transactions over their own signatures. (Great laughter and applause.) I reply that after they have committed their crime, all that train robbers will have to do is to certify over their own signatures that it was a voluntary collection taken up for religious purposes, and deny you the right to go behind the returns. (Laughter and applause.)

They tell you that the law of the party in Illinois permits the state committee to present the chairman, and they deny the right of the convention to override the wishes of the committee. Such a doctrine would be un-Democratic if true, for such a doctrine would permit a past committee to fasten itself upon a new convention and dominate a new set of delegates. (Applause.)

But my friends, that is not all; for John P. Hopkins two years ago (the same chairman of the same committee), presented the recommendation of the committee and asked a vote upon it and submitted it to the convention. Two years ago he recognized the right of the Democrats in the state convention to elect their temporary chairman.

This time he did not dare to do it, for if he had done it he would have been repudiated by the convention. The minority presented a minority report, or wanted to, but the chairman of the committee, Mr. Hopkins, brought Mr. Quinn up to the convention platform and handing him the gavel, said that he was the chairman of the convention and Mr. Quinn, seizing the gavel, began his rule of tyranny and despotism and unfairness. (Great applause.)

Hopkins Ruled Convention.

Then they had their state committee put on the roll the delegates whom they wanted, but when the credentials committee brought in a minority report they refused to consider it and refused to allow a report upon it. And yet, in spite of the fact that that convention was not allowed to act upon its own credentials; was not allowed to decide the merits of its own delegates, yet, with all they seated, they did not seat enough, for more than half of the men actually seated by the Hopkins committee have signed petitions asking that they be sent back home and that Democrats who represent the people of that state be substituted for them in this convention. (Cheers.)

In the hearing before the committee it was asked why did not they present a minority report in the committee appointed to select delegates at large? Well, my friends, there was a contest in that committee. There was opposition to Hopkins and Cable, but why would you expect that a minority report would be filed? Why should they expect it when they had already held that a minority report was only advisory and could be put into the waste basket, and need not be acted upon.

They are estopped from asking why a minority report was not filed. They made no attempt, they declared no purpose to substitute delegates for the various districts, and, my friends, we admit in the report that if they had openly intended to substitute other men for the men selected by the districts they might have done so, but to do so it would have to be the act of the convention. The convention never attempted it. The convention was not asked to do it, and the evidence shows that the resolution that is a part of the record and upon which they relied was never introduced, was never passed, but is a fraud pure and simple presented here to this convention today. (Loud applause.)

Cannot Reward Democrats.

Now, my friends, what is the duty of this Democratic convention? The Democrats of Illinois are not like the Democrats of the south. Down south the Democrats have all the local offices and they can reward their men for their loyalty to the party. Up in Illinois there is a strong Republican majority, and the Democrats in Illinois are in many parts of the state struggling against overwhelming odds, but they are actuated by love of principles, not by hope of office. But what will you tell those men? Will you declare that the action of that convention is right? Will you support the methods employed? If they had a majority of the convention why did they not permit a roll call? Why would they deny it if they had the votes there? Men do not go wrong as a rule unless they think it is necessary to carry out some object, and the only way that you can decide that these men did wrong unnecessarily is to decide that they were so perverted in conscience that they did wrong from choice rather than from necessity. (Applause.)

Their whole conduct shows that their purpose was conceived in sin, born in iniquity and carried out to the destruction of Democratic hopes in that state. Give the Democrats of Illinois something to hope for. Do not tell them that when they go to a Democratic convention they must go armed as to war, prepared to fight their way up to the chairman of the convention. Let the Republican party stand as a representative of physical force if it will. Our party stands for government by the consent of the governed. What could they do? They could either resort to force and risk the killing that would result or, you say, they could bolt. Yes, three-fourths of the convention could have gotten up and walked out and left one-fourth in charge as the regular convention.

Convention Was Gagged.

They hoped for a roll call. They knew that whenever they could get a roll call they could assert their rights. They only had this one roll call, and when the convention was over those men had to submit to the disfranchisement of the Democratic majority of Illinois or they had to bring their protests to this convention, and so this petition was signed, and these men, 871, ask this convention to seat the men who have the right to seats from the districts as shown by a majority of the votes. They don't ask you to seat any one man. They don't ask you to seat any set of men. They don't ask you to seat Hearst men, Parker men or anybody's men. They ask you to seat the choice of the Democrats, no matter for whom they are here.

That convention was so openly, so notoriously a gag-ruled and gang-run convention, that two of the men who had been out and had made a canvass in the state for governor refused to be candidates before that convention, and I honor Judge Prentiss of Chicago and Mayor Crollus of Joliet—(applause)—I honor these men who refused to go out as candidates of that convention, and if Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Cable had any respect for the rights of a majority to rule they would be ashamed to be here, the representatives of a minority. (Applause.)

But, my friends, if they have not learned to be ashamed to misrepresent a great state, you ought to teach them that they cannot do it with the approval of the Democratic party of the United States. (Applause.)

Now their sin rests upon these men. You do not bear it, but when you, if you do decide to seat these men, these delegates from the districts, against the evidence presented in regard to the contestants from the districts and these two national delegates, in spite of the protests of 871 members—if you do that then you take from the shoulders of Hopkins and Quinn and Cable the odium that they do bear and put it upon the Democratic party of the nation and indorse that attempt. (Applause.)

You have not this condition in other states today, but let this convention indorse this conduct and the next national convention will see more than one state here as the result of gavel rule. And it is because this question transcends the interests of any state or any candidate or any faction that I am here to present the minority report and to ask you to do to the Democrats of Illinois that justice that this gang denied them, deliberately and insolently. (Cheers and continued applause.)

Quinn Replies to Bryan.

Frank J. Quinn of Illinois, replying to Bryan, spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I want to say to you that I am and always have been a Democrat, who believes that the majority of the Democratic party should rule. I am so good a Democrat that I do not reserve the right to vote until after the Democratic convention. I am so good a Democrat that I never call a man a train robber and a thief until I know the fact to be so. (Applause.)

I am so good a Democrat that in 1896, standing upon the platform of the Democratic national convention, I stumped the state of Illinois and hurled the lie into the teeth of Democrats and Republicans who charged that William J. Bryan was dishonest and a repudiator. In 1896 I ran for the office of recorder of my county and was defeated, but I never assumed the right, by reason of that defeat, to nominate harbor masters, coroners and mix up in Democratic petty quarrels all over the state.

Gentlemen of the convention, for nine long hours the national sub-committee heard contests; W. J. Bryan was there three-quarters of an hour; he was not present when this vote was heard before the committee on contests and he read to you a brief argument of Mr. Tillman of Chicago, who is here contesting us as attorney for the contestants. I want to say more to you. This is a contest for the purpose of advancing the personal spleen of Williard Filmore Dunlap of Illinois, who sits here upon the stage prompting Mr. Bryan. (Applause, followed by a storm of hisses.)

Gentlemen of the convention, what do you think of a man who says, in order to be fair we will give each side 15 minutes to argue the case, when he has already taken up an hour and a half in argument? I want to say to you that if Mr. Bryan wants to be fair, let him answer this question to you: "Mr. Bryan, when, where and from what source came any objection to the selection of Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Cable?" His answer will be the gavel rule. No protest will be heard.

Put Out by Police.

We held our convention on the 14th day of June last. No notice of contest was ever served upon any of the men whose seats are now attacked until last Saturday. We came here without a bit of proof except what we could gather up, and came unprepared for a contest, not knowing any was contemplated or that any right to make a contest existed. I will tell you about gavel rule. You want to hear about gavel rule—I will tell you.

(Mr. Quinn was here forced to cease speaking on account of the cries of dissent which arose from all parts of the hall. Several of the disturbers were put out by the police and it was some minutes before order was restored. Chairman Williams, having succeeded in obtaining order, Mr. Quinn continued.)

Gentlemen, they want to know about gavel rule. Let me tell you about gavel rule in that convention. The report of every committee was unanimous, except one. Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Cable were selected by a committee of 25, one from each congressional district, and the report was unanimous and they were unanimously elected. That is gavel rule. The report of the committee on permanent organization made at 5 o'clock was unanimous in my favor and I was unanimously elected the chairman of that committee, J. G. Browning putting the motion. I want to say to you in conclusion that we are the Democrats who believe in working at the polls, in working before elections and in working after elections, to elect Democrats. We put in our time, we organized the counties and I want to say to you that the gentlemen whose seats are here contested are the men who are in the saddle, who control the party and that delivered its electoral vote to Grover Cleveland in 1892. (Applause.)

The only thing that we ask of you is this. Mr. Bryan wants his personality to influence your judgment. We ask you, do you know the facts? We ask you, are you prepared to vote before you look for the facts to the conclusion of this committee of yours? We ask you for fair play. We ask you for fair treatment. The state of Illinois and its rights are greater than the desires or wishes of any man. (Applause.)

Bryan Has Last Word.

When Mr. Quinn had concluded his address, Mr. Bryan advanced to the front of the platform and was greeted with vigorous cheers. He said:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have only 10 minutes. Don't take my time. The first speaker said that I had not heard the evidence. I stayed in the sub-committee of the national committee and heard evidence until 3 o'clock in the morning (applause), and I have heard more evidence than the gentleman who talked to you and who impeached my knowledge of this case. (Applause.) More than that, I have examined affidavits; I have examined protests and I know 10 times as much about the facts of this case as the gentleman who dared to impeach my right to speak upon this platform. (Applause followed by cheers.)

The gentleman tries to obtain credit from the report of the national committee. The national committee referred this case to the credentials committee, on the ground that the national committee did not have time to investigate the merits, and in doing so by unanimous support, said in some congressional districts there was evidence to show that questionable methods prevailed: "In some it appears the delegates selected by district caucuses were replaced by persons who had not been selected by the delegates from the districts and in some instances it was at least doubtful whether the substitutions were properly made." That was the report, unanimous, of your national committee after listening nine hours to the testimony. (Applause.)

And now this committee listens two hours and does not give a chance for a single bit of evidence but only argument, and then tells you that there was no fraud and that you ought to seat these contestees. The gentleman says that he was unanimously re-elected five hours after he began his gavel rule. Yes, my friends, everything done in that convention was unanimous (loud cheers and laughter). If you don't believe it read the sworn testimony of the highwaymen who ruled the convention. The gentleman says that he is not a man who bolts or who waits until after the convention to decide, but he is the man who with a gavel rule tries to force upon the loyal Democrats of his state two men who supported Palmer and Buckner in 1896. (Prolonged cheering and applause.)

These two men who seek seats in this convention against protests of 872 delegates were the men who kept the path hot between their headquarters and Republican headquarters when the hundreds of thousands of Democrats of Illinois were marching up to support the ticket (cheers).

Mr. Quinn asks where does a protest come from against John P. Hopkins and wanted me to answer it. I will answer it. It comes from 871 better Democrats than John Hopkins ever was. (Cheers.) I am willing that the men who left us shall come back and be Democrats. I am willing that they shall come back and share with the party in the shaping of its destiny, but God forbid that the loyal Democrats shall by force and intimidation be made to march beneath the soiled banner of these men. (Cheers and continued applause.)

PARKER NEAR NOMINATION

would seem that Illinois is in a position to make Parker's nomination sure, even if some of the votes cast that were in the negative column should be cast for other candidates for president.

Delegates opposed to Parker are building hopes on the action of the sub-committee on platform in adopting a gold standard plank and asserting that some of the southern states instructed or pledged for Parker will desert him if the convention adopts the gold standard plank. Among the states named in this connection are South Carolina, Kentucky, Mississippi and Texas. This is apparent hope the opponents of Parker have tonight."

With the end of the convention in sight there is still a chaotic condition in regard to the vice presidency and the outlook is that a large number of candidates will be voted for and perhaps several ballots taken before anyone is chosen. Among those whose names are connected with the second place are David R. Francis and Gov. Alexander M. Dockery of Missouri, John W. Kern of Indiana, James A. Williams of Illinois, Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Gov. Charles B. Aycock of North Carolina and George Turner of Washington. Quite an effort has been made to concentrate on Francis and the same effort for Kern. The Carolinians are for Aycock and the Virginia delegation tonight secured the consent of Senator Daniel for the presentation of his name. Conferences on this subject were held late in the night and will probably continue during the convention hours tomorrow.

LOST BOARDER, BULLDOG AND FIVE POUNDS OF MEAT

Mrs. Mary Zins, who conducts a boarding house in Anderson street, Allegheny, lost a white bulldog, a five-pound roast and a boarder Monday night. The boarder was Edward Darragh, aged 19. Yesterday Mrs. Zins received word that a white bulldog answering the description of her pet, was running about wild in Ross township, to the terror of the population. The woman thereupon made information before Alderman W. C. Wadsworth charging Darragh with the larceny of the dog and the roast, and he was arrested in Ross township yesterday afternoon. He was committed to jail for court trial.

WANTED BRYAN TO FALL EASY

sylvania have a perfect understanding relative to who shall be chosen for vice president. On this matter Mr. Hill tonight refused to commit himself. His reasons are obvious. He has said all along that he would make no announcement relative to the vice presidential nomination until Judge Parker had been nominated. Last night, Col. Guffey declared that Gov. Dockery of Missouri was the most logical man for second place. In his opinion he thought that the convention would immediately recognize the Missouri executive's eligibility and name him on the first ballot. When Col. Guffey made this statement last night it was believed that Parker's nomination would be consummated today, but Mr. Bryan occupied too much time to permit this being done. For this reason it is probable that Mr. Hill will not announce his conclusion until tomorrow.

"Stand pat for Dockery," said Col. Guffey tonight. "I have nothing to add nor nothing to withdraw from my statement given The Gazette last night. Unless Gov. Dockery should decline to have his name presented to the convention I still believe he will be named as Judge Parker's running mate."

Whether or not Dockery is named, Col. Guffey has accomplished one important thing. He has eliminated from substantial consideration the name of ex-Senator Turner of Washington. Many people believe, although it is not confirmed, that Guffey's only object in booming Dockery was to take the decisive initiative in the elimination of Mr. Turner. Alabama and other southern states this morning indorsed Mr. Guffey's attitude.

Turner's Boom Vanishes.

So many pleasant things were said about Mr. Turner that those who have been tentatively for him were trying to explain their position. They claimed that they did not know, and especially the delegates from the southern states, that Turner was in the "carpet bag" class, and evidenced much chagrin in their acknowledgment that he had attracted their attention. Until Guffey spoke Turner seemed to have a clear field. There are grounds for believing that even Hill and Belmont felt friendly toward him. When I mentioned this fact to Col. Guffey today he answered:

"Well, they're not for him now."

Gov. Dockery, when asked about the indorsement given him by the Pennsylvania leader, assumed a great show of surprise, but he did not evidence unconcern. He permitted his interviewer to absorb the impression that, while he would be very much pleased with the vice presidential nomination, making it plain that he would accept it, he also rather enthusiastically reiterated the statement that his chief interest had been in bringing about the nomination of Senator Cockrell for president.

Senator Stone also was suspiciously emphatic in declaring that he had no advance information relative to the Dockery boom. This statement must be discounted, however, for Senator Stone was Col. Guffey's last visitor before the Pennsylvanian issued his statement in support of Missouri's governor.

There are half a dozen candidates under consideration for the honor in the event that Gov. Dockery does not accept, or, upon consideration, is not found to be available. But two things are certain: One is the nomination of Parker; the other that Turner will not be given second place.

NEW CONFERENCE PLAN.

Citizens Party's Leaders Not Meeting in a Body, but in Squads.

Murry A. Verner was a busy man yesterday. He called on Mayor Hays in the morning and afterwards he went to Thomas S. Bigelow's office and was closeted with Mr. Bigelow for awhile. In the afternoon he saw the mayor again, and at this meeting James W. Clark, director of the department of charities and secretary of the Citizens' party county committee, was present.

This is the new plan of holding conferences: Instead of discussing the prospective removals of city employes in the public safety building, for all the world to know, the Citizens leaders will whisper in squads at various places, convenient points to which they can summon their adherents for consultation.

Mr. Verner and the mayor both said there was nothing new; that they had talked of no removals or appointments.

THE BOROUGH COUNCILS.

Brief Statements of What Took Place at Last Night's Meetings.

The absence of Capt. John L. Kerr, chairman of the property committee of the Avalon council, prevented the report of that committee on the new borough hall being read last night. A special meeting will be held next week.

Emsworth council passed finally last night the ordinance relocating the Beaver road, the main street of the borough, which will be widened from 33 to 50 feet.

The Swissvale council received a communication from the Pittsburgh Railways Company stating that negotiations had been completed for the dedication of Monongahela avenue.

formed the functions of his high office. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote of the convention. Kerr has been a prominent figure in the work of the convention. He came here as an avowed Parker man and has been untiring in his missionary efforts for the New York judge. It was largely through him that Alabama and Wyoming were gotten into line. He was also strong with the delegates in Arizona and New Mexico.

It developed today that Guffey was bluffing a little on the boom of Gov. Dockery of Missouri for vice president. The Pittsburgher wanted to kill off the candidacy of Senator Turner, who is looked upon as a carpetbagger in the Democratic camp. Someone had to make a lead and Guffey selected Dockery. Some of the other Pennsylvanians were shouting for Gov. Beckham of Kentucky. Between them many delegates were led away from Turner and will be kept away until the real candidate for second place is found.

This afternoon Joseph Ramsey, president of the Wabash, and Judge John Blevens of St. Louis had a talk with Guffey. The colonel says that they said a good word for Dockery. Ramsey is a Republican, but says it would be a pleasure for him to see a Missourian named. He claims that he is not mixing in the work of the Democratic convention.

National Chairmanship Undecided.

It developed today that the national committee will not be organized immediately after the adjournment of the convention as is the custom. The members will be called together, but the election of a chairman will be deferred. Col. Guffey will then be asked to at least take the temporary chairmanship, and it is quite probable that he will agree to do so. After he has perfected the organization he may turn the conduct of the campaign over to someone else.

The delegation, with the exception of Col. Guffey, marched to the convention today. Isaac Long of Wilkesbarre secured a drum corps of 40 pieces to escort the delegates. H. E. Spyker acted as chief marshal and "Jim" Sweeney carried the flag. Delegates Guthrie, Wright and Kane rode in the parade.

OHIO DELEGATION IS NOT A UNIT

Anti-Parkerites Declare They Will Vote Separately on Candidates.

TWENTY-ONE SUPPORT BRYAN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—Ohio and West Virginia both gave votes to Bryan today when the minority report of the credentials committee was before the convention. Twenty-one Buckeye men went to the Nebraskan, while but three West Virginians supported him. The Ohio vote was 25 to 21. This is exactly the way the delegates split at the caucus. Tonight when a vote was taken on a presidential preference, Parker received the 25 votes and his friends are confident that he will hold them.

The 21 votes for Bryan were cast by the following men: B. W. Campbell, Cincinnati; C. E. Mason, Hamilton; Hiram Long, Edgerton; V. J. Dahl, Washington Court House; W. L. Finley, Kenton; W. R. Nevin, Bellefontaine; H. A. Kilmer, Oak Harbor; W. D. Yaple, Chillicothe; M. A. Daugherty, Lancaster; W. B. Francis, Martins Ferry; A. N. Combs, Cadiz; Wellington Stillwell, Millersburg; Thomas McNamara, Jr., Youngstown; R. J. Gregory, Canton; N. M. Padgett, Warren; C. A. Corbin, Ashtabula; Charles P. Salen (2 votes), Cleveland; W. A. Ault, Wadsworth; Tom L. Johnson, Cleveland; Edward H. Moore, Youngstown.

Salen is both a district delegate and a delegate-at-large. He is holding down both jobs, voting twice the same way on all propositions.

The anti-Parker men held a caucus this afternoon and decided to stick to the end against the New Yorker. They intend to attempt to jump the unit rule orders placed upon them by the state convention. Their argument is that all of the delegates save those elected to represent the state at large were chosen by district conventions and the unit rule is not binding upon them.

The Ohio Parker leaders say that the unit rule does bind, as they will give a working example in the convention tomorrow. It is pointed out that in the case of Pennsylvania today Chairman Williams ruled that the vote must be counted as a unit. Unless the anti-Parker men can take the majority away from Cleveland, Bernard and the other Parker leaders, they will doubtless find themselves up against the decision of the chair.

The three men to vote for Bryan in the West Virginia delegation were Charles Austin, Warren Hays and H. F. Wilson. John T. McGraw says that he is still hopeful that the whole 14 votes will tomorrow be cast for Parker. This afternoon ex-Senator Davis had a telephone talk with Senator Gorman. The Maryland man gave orders that his name is not to go before the convention.

On the question of the vice presidency, McGraw says that West Virginia will vote for W. A. McCorkle, if the ex-governor desires the delegation to present his name. In McGraw's opinion, D. R. Francis of St. Louis is the man to place on the ticket with Parker. He says that the president of the world's fair is daily meeting the people from all parts of the union and is making many friends.

McGraw is the national committeeman from West Virginia and is working hard to get Col. Guffey to take the chairmanship. He says that while there is a great deal of talk for Taggart of Indiana, the committeemen prefer Guffey. If the Pittsburgher will not consent to serve for the full term, they want him to take charge temporarily.

Held for Pointing Firearms.

Edward Tuscher, aged 28, of Green street, Allegheny, was held for court yesterday on charges made by Mrs. J. H. Graham, of 330 East Ohio street, who accused him of pointing firearms and of disorderly conduct. Tuscher is said to have pointed a revolver at a young son of Mrs. Graham, threatening him, and as the boy ran into the house is alleged to have broken in the front door.

Will Fight Miners' Union.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 7.—The coal operators in the Kanawha coal fields have entered into a combination known as the Kanawha Coal association, to fight the demands made by the United Mine Workers. Already 67 have signed the agreement and about 30 others are expected to join within the next two or three days.

Girl Killed by Lightning.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 7.—(Special.)—Lucille Wortman, aged 12, a daughter of Edward Wortman, of Sonora, was killed instantly by lightning Thursday afternoon. Her sister was at her side but escaped uninjured. Lightning struck the Wortman home, also injuring the mother.

VESSELS COLLIDE, PANIC FOLLOWS

DECK OFFICERS ALLAY FEARS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 7.

In the narrow channel off the new iron pier at Coney Island the steamboats Grand Republic, sister ship of the ill-fated General Slocum, and the Dreamland were in collision late this afternoon. Woodwork cracked and splintered and the passengers, fearing that the vessels were sinking, became panic stricken and rushed for life preservers and the boats.

Deck officers on both vessels hastened to assure those on board that there was no danger, and succeeded, after some difficulty, in restoring quiet among the hysterical men and women.

An examination on the Dreamland showed that the port paddle box was smashed in and a part of the rail carried away, and on the Grand Republic there were slight injuries about the bows.

That both boats were moving slowly because of fog alone saved the Dreamland from vital injury. In charge of Capt. P. A. B. Griffin, with several hundred passengers, the steamboat was going to her berth from a trip from New York.

The Grand Republic, with Capt. G. B. Carman at the wheel, had started for New York on the 5:30 o'clock trip with a fair load of passengers. Whistles on both were constantly blown and persons on board were nervous as the vessels went slowly toward the direction from which the sounds came.

In a few minutes those on the Dreamland saw the high bow of the Grand Republic headed for amidships of their boat and so near that a collision could not be averted. Women and men, fearful of the repetition of the disaster that befell the General Slocum, ran wildly about. The life preservers were torn down from the racks and some one cried: "The boats, the boats."

The work of the officers in allaying the fears of the passengers was successful, and, seeing that their boat was in no danger of foundering, the passengers on the Dreamland became tranquil. On the Grand Republic there was a semblance of nervousness remaining when the majority of those on board was landed at the Battery an hour and a half later.

STORMS DO DAMAGE IN PENNSYLVANIA AND OHIO

Buildings Washed Away and Railroads Suffer from Landslides and Washouts.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KITTANNING, PA., July 7.—Garrett's run and McCain, a few miles below here, were visited by a cloudburst this afternoon which washed away outbuildings and bridges and moved several residences from their foundations. The water rose seven feet at McCain in 15 minutes, imprisoning the occupants of dwelling houses and imperiling lives. The damage will reach nearly $20,000, and it will require a week's work to restore buildings to their former condition. There were many narrow escapes from death. Two railroad men belonging to a section gang were taken from a building a few minutes before it was swept away. The effects of the storm extended over a distance of 15 miles. The Pennsylvania railroad suffered from landslides, the most serious one being between Logansport and Rosslyn, where passengers had to be transferred almost a mile.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 7.—Northern Greene county and portions of Washington were swept by a terrific rainstorm, accompanied by high winds that did heavy damage to crops, railroads and farming lands. Deer Lick creek, running diagonally through Greene county, became a river, overflowing its banks and in some places destroying whole fields of wheat and oats. The fire in the boiler of a Waynesburg & Washington engine on its way to this city was drowned and its progress was stopped until the flood subsided. At Nineveh, in Green county, Ten Mile creek overflowed its banks for nearly two miles, and the town was inundated. The losses will reach thousands of dollars.

BURGETTSTOWN, PA., July 7.—The heavy storm that swept over this section this afternoon did serious damage. The slaughter house of Gillespie & Cook on the bank of a usually small stream west of here, was swept away by the swollen stream. In Main street business houses were flooded. Wallace's barber shop and Creese's restaurant suffered the most damage. The rain was accompanied by a high wind and sharp lightning.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 7.—The heavy rainstorm of last night and today has wrought inestimable damage to crops, while railroads have sustained severe damage from washouts. The interurban line between here and Newark is in a bad condition. The Stine Pottery warehouse at White Cottage has been washed away and manufactured goods dumped into Keats run.

COLUMBUS, O., July 7.—Because of rainfall in the Walnut creek valley northeast of the city, the heaviest in the history of the valley, Alum creek is higher than ever known, and persons living beyond the stream were unable to reach their places of business in the city this morning. The fertile bottoms are being swept by the flood and thousands of dollars worth of wheat and corn are destroyed.

DENTIST TOOK TEETH FROM WOMAN'S MOUTH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BELLEFONTAINE, O., July 7.—Dr. M. M. Keep, a dentist, has been bound over to common pleas court on charges brought by Mrs. Anna Pickering, who alleges that she purchased a set of artificial teeth from Dr. Keep, agreeing to pay him $20. She says that she had paid all but $3 when Dr. Keep visited her at her home July 5 and asked her how she was pleased with the teeth. She told him they were satisfactory, and he asked her to open her mouth so that he might see how they were working. Mrs. Pickering alleges he placed his hand in her mouth, took out the teeth, placed them in his pocket and told her that when she finished paying for them he would give her the teeth. Mrs. Pickering was indignant and consulted an attorney.

Seventeen Years of Successful Practice

This is the Record of Dr. Byers, Who is the Recognized Specialist in the Treatment of Catarrhal Troubles.

Many patients suffer from a complication of diseases. In fact, it is a rare thing to find a patient who has but a single ailment. As a general rule, in chronic catarrhal affections the symptoms run pretty much as follows:

The nose is stopped up with scabs and mucous, causing difficulty in breathing through the nostrils, with a tight feeling across the bridge of the nose.

The eyes are weak and watery, with a burning and itching sensation, the lids often glued together in the morning.

EYES EXAMINED FREE.

Doctor Byers Restoring Diseased Eyes.

The ears are often dry and itchey, or else an offensive discharge, there are ringing, roaring and buzzing noises, with impaired hearing.

The throat is sometimes dry and parched, at other times there is an accumulation of sticky phlegm, causing much hawking to discharge, often gagging and sometimes vomiting.

The bronchial tubes and lungs become affected at times, there is a aching darting pain through the chest and under the shoulder blades, shortness of breath, irritating, hacking cough, extreme weakness, with night sweats, and wasting away of the body.

Stomach trouble eventually develops, there is a loss of appetite, and even what little nourishment the patient takes is often vomited, or if retained causes distress, with bloating and rifting, smothering sensations, palpitation of the heart.

The bowels are alternately loose or constipated.

The kidneys and liver inactive, the fluid scanty, highly colored and irritating, pain in small of the back, nervous and despondent.

The above is a description of a typical case such as comes under the observation of Doctor Byers every day, and hundreds will recognize it as a description of their own symptoms.

EARS EXAMINED FREE.

Doctor Byers Curing Diseased Ears.

All these conditions are curable if patients only place themselves under the care of a specialist who has the necessary experience and facilities for treatment. Doctor Byers has been treating these troubles over 17 years. He has attained a scientific mastery over these diseases. His fees are the lowest in existence at which first-class treatment can be furnished.

Your Cigar Appropriation Will Buy Better Cigars

if you buy from United stores. Reason? Yes there is a mighty solid reason. We buy enormously, sell enormously, save enormously. Our customers receive the benefit.

Need we argue? Is it not clear that it cost more money to send the Oregon around Cape Horn than to have sent it through a Panama Canal? Our stores are the Panama Canal of the cigar trade. Our system cuts out the trip around "the Horn," the profits of "in-between" dealers. The product of twelve great factories flow directly across our counters into the hands of consumers. By cutting out at least five "in-between" handlings, we give you a cigar better by one half.

VEIL OF SECRECY COVERING PLANS

Tokyo Government Permits No Foreigners With Army Besieging Port Arthur.

NO NEWS IS SENT OUT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, July 7.—Operations of paramount importance are going on within the war zone, but the government succeeds in veiling them in almost absolute secrecy. Since the occupation of Dalny the government officials have been silent concerning conditions at Port Arthur. It is generally believed, however, that the Japanese army and navy are daily tightening their relentless grip on the besieged city, and that a final assault followed by the fall of the fortress is now only a matter of weeks. It is known that engagements of varying importance are constantly occurring on the hills surrounding the city. The fleet of Admiral Togo is in motion day and night and frequently engaged, but the forces and number of guns of the besiegers, as well as their positions, details of past operations and future plans are secrets which probably will not be revealed until the final and decisive action.

Fragmentary information from various sources, especially Chinese, reaches Japan, but its publication here or sending it abroad is forbidden under severe penalty.

To the Japanese people it is like the enactment of a great tragedy in a thronged theater upon which the curtain never is lifted.

Much concerning the siege of Port Arthur could be published without injury to the Japanese cause, but the general staff resolved to avoid aiding Gen. Kuropatkin with a single shred of information, has placed an absolute embargo on the transmission of all news. Geographical and local conditions, both in Japan and at the seat of war, make it possible to enforce this embargo with almost complete effect. No foreigner accompanies the Japanese forces which are besieging Port Arthur, the army under Gen. Oku or the army which was landed at Takushan, and the newspaper correspondents and foreign attaches with Gen. Kuroki are made to remain within a circle having a radius of a little over half a mile.

The Russians are forced to travel afield along the Japanese front, which extends for 250 miles, in order to determine in actual scouting the positions and strength of their enemy, and added to this they must discount a series of clever feints and rushes designated to deceive them.

Many false reports concerning the war operations are being sent abroad; these the Japanese welcome as being just so much more chaff and sand thrown in the eyes of the enemy. The curtain down over the theater of war will, however, soon be raised, and it is confidently expected that the lifting will reveal the Japanese to be in possession of splendid strategical advantages, with men and guns enough to carry the present campaign to a successful conclusion.

PRIESTS ORDAINED BY BISHOP CANEVIN

Among Those Who Take Holy Orders Are Young Men from Pittsburgh.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., July 7.—Seven new priests were ordained this morning at St. Vincent's monastery, the ordination ceremony being conducted by Coadjutor Bishop Canevin, of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church. Father Leopold and Father Aurelis of St. Vincent's abbey, assisted the bishop. The service was attended by several hundred people from Pittsburgh, Latrobe, Greensburg and other points in Western Pennsylvania. There were 30 priests in attendance, of whom 10 were visitors. Those who were ordained priests are: Rev. Gilbert Simon, O. S. B., of Beatty; Rev. Bernard Hamburger, O. S. B., and Rev. Linus Brugger, O. S. B., of Erie; Thomas Bryson, Benjamin Axmacher, John McCarthy and Joseph Rossman, secular priests, all of Pittsburgh. Wednesday morning seven young men were ordained as deacons by Bishop Canevin, their names being: Rev. Antonine Hintenach, O. S. B., Rev. Flovian Heiss, O. S. B., Rev. Mauritius Toole, O. S. B., and Revs. Bryson, Axmacher, McCarthy and Rossman. On next Sunday the priests will read their first mass. The two from Erie will read in the churches there, and the Rev. Gilbert Simon will read in a church at Covington, Ky.

The young priests with the monks of St. Vincent's have just returned from their annual retreat spent during the month of June in the Laurel Hill mountains. A second retreat of the monks of St. Vincent's will take place during August and will last for two weeks.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF ICEMAN

Filipino Scouts Rout Gateman at World's Fair and Gain Their Point.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—A detachment of 15 Philippine scouts, under command of Lieut. Brady, today took forcible possession of the Bellevue entrance at the world's fair, deposed the exposition gateman, allowed wagons carrying 4,000 pounds of ice for the Philippine government concession to enter, and escorted the wagons to the village.

This action was the result of efforts on the part of the ice concessionaires of the fair to compel the Philippine commission to buy its ice from them. The commission refused and continued to purchase ice from an outside concern.

The fair management today ordered that the outside ice wagons be refused admission to the grounds.

President Francis later sent orders to the gatemen to allow ice wagons intended for the Philippine reservation to enter.

LONDON BANKERS CALL.

Stillman and Harriman in the English Capital on a Pleasure Trip.

LONDON, July 7.—(Copyright Cable.)—James Stillman, president of the National City bank of New York, and E. H. Harriman, of the Union Pacific system, who have arrived at the Carlton hotel, were waited on today by many leading London bankers.

The calls, it was explained, were simply those of courtesy. Neither Mr. Stillman nor Mr. Harriman had anything to say for publication, and stated that their presence in London was for recreation and in no wise connected with business. After a brief stay in London they will proceed to Aix and will devote some time to automobiling on the continent. Among the Americans who called on Mr. Harriman was E. J. Berwind, of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

WANT BIENNIAL SESSIONS.

Board of Managers of B. Y. P. U. Thinks Meetings Every Year Are Too Irksome.

DETROIT, July 7.—The board of managers of the Baptist Young Peoples union at the opening session today of the 14th international convention in Light Guard armory, made the important recommendation that the society hereafter hold biennial instead of annual international conventions.

The board's report recommended that the next convention be held in July, 1906. The board pointed out the difficulty of entertaining the international convention, the great outlay necessary and the fact that the numerous summer assemblies now held in various states and provinces divert interest from the international convention.

The board recommended that the society's weekly paper be changed to a monthly magazine and called "Service."

GUNBOAT KAIMON SUNK BY MINE

Commander and 21 Other Officers and Men Reported Missing by Togo.

MORE JAPANESE TROOPS LAND

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, July 7.—Admiral Togo reports that on July 5 the Japanese gunboat Kaimon, while on a special mission in the waters outside of Tallenwan, in a dense fog, struck a Russian mine and sank. Three officers, including Commander Takahashi and 19 petty officers and men, are missing. The rest were saved.

TA TCHE KIAO, Wednesday, July 6 (delayed).—The Japanese swarmed over the mountain crests early this morning and advanced on Kaichou, compelling Gen. Chirikoff, with the center of the Russian vanguard, to fall back. A whole brigade of Japanese, with masses of cavalry, followed and occupied the village of Nan-Tay, driving out two companies of Russian infantry and two companies of Cossacks, who were entrenched there. The Japanese arrived within five miles of Kaichou. It was then nightfall. Gen. Samsonoff made a heroic attempt to check the Japanese, galloping out with guns to shell the Japanese left and inflicting great loss on them, but fearing his retreat would be cut off he fell back and is now holding Kaichou. Gen. Chirikoff's force is stationed southeast of Kaichou. The plans of the Japanese remain a mystery to the Russian commanders.

CHEFOO, July 7.—The Japanese, having occupied the second range of hills around Port Arthur, are now massing men to move upon the Russian camp that commands the principal pass through the hills, which is directly back of Port Arthur.

Is Vital Point.

This camp is considered vital to the safety of the fortress, and it is guarded, according to the Chinese, by 20,000 marines and sailors. In the Chinese-Japanese war the Japanese occupied this camp for seven days before they took possession of Port Arthur.

The last junk to leave Port Arthur was towed out of the harbor, and her passengers were compelled to remain below until she had cleared the harbor entrance. This measure was adopted to prevent the passengers from obtaining knowledge of conditions at the entrance to the harbor.

From a thoroughly reliable source it has been learned that ammunition at Port Arthur is plentiful, and at the present rate of consumption it will probably last longer than the provision supplies. There are enough of the latter to last one year.

Chinese say the entrance to the harbor of Port Arthur is unsafe for the passage of vessels. One Russian warship was slightly damaged while coming out recently as a result of striking a sunken wreck and two other warships collided in the entrance and had to undergo repairs.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 7.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, under date of July 5:

> Rifle firing between patrols took place July 4 on the outskirts of Vafangow, nine miles southeast of Senuchon and in the neighborhood of Potaitza. The Japanese patrols retired to the southward. We had only horses wounded.
>
> In the outskirts of Siabenuin, on Halo Heights, six miles south of Siadiama, a Russian patrol lost two Cossacks killed and two wounded. Nine horses were disabled.
>
> A reconnoissance to the southward showed that there was an advance guard of 1,000 of the enemy in the outskirts of Yan-Shau-Fan, six and a half miles southeast of Tchaima, and that there was a battalion and 20 guns and one squadron of cavalry at Diamelintza.

More Troops Are Landed.

More considerable forces are concentrated at Waofusan. Acording to Chinese accounts these troops were landed at Datchjuangkhe, 37 miles southwest of Takushan.

A Cossack patrol on July 4 pushed forward to Palamatezza, five and a half miles northeast of Yamalintzau, where considerable forces of the enemy were discovered.

There is no doubt here that the appearance of the Japanese so close to Kai-Chou is one of the most crucial features of the present situation. This leaves an opportunity either for a vigorous defense of Kai-Chu, bringing south for this purpose Gen. Kuropatkin, who is still at Ta-Tche-iKao, or for the Russians to evacuate Kai-Chou without serious resistance, probably concentrating at Ta-Tche-Kiao, at which is the end of the branch railroad connecting Niuchwang with the main line and apparently the last place where a stand could be successfully made to prevent the Japanese from pushing across the peninsula, seizing Niuchwang and Yin-Kow, and establishing a new base on the west coast of the peninsula.

The fact that the Japanese outposts are gradually being pushed out along the whole front, even to the north of Liao-Yang, makes fighting a possibility almost anywhere along the railroad.

LONDON, July 7.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says Vice Admiral Skrydloff has reported that on July 3 the Russian cruisers commanded by Vice Admiral Bezobrazoff met a Japanese squadron consisting of three battleships, four protected cruisers and torpedo boats, in the Korean gulf, and turned back. The Japanese pursued the Russians, the battleships and cruisers firing on them without result. The Japanese torpedo boats then attacked the Russian ships, which returned the attack, and Admiral Bezobrazoff believes that two of the enemy's torpedo boats were sunk by the Russian fire. The next morning the Japanese had disappeared. The Russians sustained no damage.

Admiral Skrydloff also reports, the news agency dispatch continues, that Russian torpedo boats have again visited Gensan, burned a tug and a schooner and destroyed numerous other boats. Japanese troops fired at the torpedo boats, which replied. The Russians sustained no losses.

Trying to Smoke Them Out.

CHEFOO, July 7.—(Special Cable.)—Admiral Togo has begun a heavy bombardment of Port Arthur and a determined attack is being made on the port from the land side. The Japanese warships went in closer than they have for a long time and were well within the range of the heavy guns of the forts. The battleships maneuvered near the fort practically all day, and it is said, inflicted considerable damage on the forts. None of the Japanese ships were damaged so far as has been heard here.

Simultaneous with the sea movements the land forces pushed their attack with renewed vigor. It was an artillery attack almost altogether. The Japanese gunners, it is said, are getting the range of the basin in Port Arthur, and it is believed to be their object to make it so hot for the Russian squadron that it will be forced to go out and meet Togo before the final land attack is made. It is believed here now that the final assault will be made when Marshal Oyama arrives, which will be within a week.

DEATH IS SUSPICIOUS,

Girl, Before Expiring, Says She Was Given Liquor and Candy.

WELLSVILLE, O., July 7.—(Special.)—Emma Tilton, aged 19, whose mysterious illness has puzzled physicians, died this morning at the home of Mrs. W. A. Moore, who had been engaged by the authorities to take care of her.

Before she died she said she had been given poisoned candy. The girl's home was in Coolville, Athens county. Mrs. F. M. Shull of this city brought her here to look for a position. A day or twq later she was taken violently ill. She told Mrs. Schull that while out walking with a young man she drank a glass of liquor and had eaten some candy he gave her. Then she lapsed into unconsciousness and for days lay as if asleep. An investigation is in progress. An autopsy will probably be held.

Eleven More Cadets Win.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., July 7.—One hundred and twenty-nine applicants to the Naval academy have thus far passed both mental and physical examinations, including 11 who were found today to be physically qualified. Of these 88 have been sworn in as midshipmen.

CHAMP CLARK WANTS TO RESTORE THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

REFERENCE TO P. C. KNOX

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri, in accepting the permanent chairmanship of the Democratic national convention, started to deliver a speech which he had prepared for the occasion but did not complete it. Following is his prepared speech:

In his haste King David said that all men are liars. Had he been in Chicago while Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was reading the Republican platform he would, no doubt, have pronounced the same opinion more leisurely, for surely there never was more mendacity packed into the space in any document purporting to be a grave state paper. Shakespeare says: "Thrice is he armed, that hath his quarrel just; And he but naked, though locked up in steel Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted."

In the impending conflict our quarrel is just and we are in the right beyond all cavil. To state it in a general way, our contention is that the government shall be restored to the democratic-republican basis on which the fathers of the republic intended it to rest and shall be made once more a government of the people, by the people and for the people, instead of a government of the classes, by the classes and for the classes.

To state it with more particularity, we insist that exorbitant taxation shall be reduced to just and reasonable rates, that extravagance in appropriations shall cease; that economy shall prevail in all the transactions of the government; that all the departments shall be thoroughly investigated from top to bottom by congressional committees; that all evildoers of whatever degree shall be driven from the public service and properly punished; that the trusts shall be proceeded against by indictment as are common and smaller criminals; that the constitution accompanies the American flag into our new possessions.

The proposition that we must support President Roosevelt's Philippine policy—if he has any, right or wrong, is the variest rot—a tale told by an idiot. I am willing to go as far as any one in patriotism; I will support my country in any emergency, but President Roosevelt is not the country. The time has not yet arrived—I pray Almighty God that it will never arrive—when the American people will accept the arrogant dictum of Louis XIV, if repeated by an American president.

"I am the state."

Supposes a Case.

If President Roosevelt is at all worthy of his high position he must entertain a supreme contempt for those political supple-jacks, particularly for those claiming to be Democrats, who go about with sanctimonious moan, saying:

"The president is wrong in his Philippine policy, but we must support the president."

Out upon all such cringing idocy. Suppose a case; Suppose that when George III. undertook to force our fathers to pay the stamp tax, Patrick Henry, instead of delivering that great lyric speech before the Virginia house of burgesses, which precipitated the revolution and which still stirs the heart like strains of martial music, had arisen in his place and said, gently as a sucking dove: "His most gracious majesty is wrong about this stamp business, but we must, as loyal subjects, support him, right or wrong." And suppose Washington, Jefferson, Warren, Adams, Greene, Lee, Hamilton—all that glorious host of warriors and sages, had meekly agreed to that—what would we be today? Instead of being the richest, most puissant republic in all the flood of time, we would still be English colonies ruled by British pro-consuls and governor generals without any voice whatever in the government under which we live.

These immortal state builders were reared on the fiction that "the king can do no wrong," but when he did do wrong they boldly and iconoclastically trampled that preposterous falsehood under their feet, and, wresting a continent from his iron grasp, dedicated it as the home of freedom, and to the twin propositions that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," and "that all men are created equal." There were men in the land in 1776.

Are there only manikins now? I do not believe such a monstrous libel. George III. did wrong. Our fathers fought and conquered him. Theodore Roosevelt does wrong. We will oppose and overthrow him.

Support the president's policy, eh? Will some gentleman please tell us what that policy is? Has he any? If so, why does he not say so? The truth is, he has none. He is an opportunist waiting for something to turn up. He is letting things drift and they are drifting to the deuce. Meantime our soldiers are being killed and are dying of disease in shoals. For what purpose?

Doesn't Know Party Policy.

Will anybody undertake to say? I defy any jingo to stand up and declare with a straight face what the president's policy or the Republican policy is. No one will say; no one can say. But some say—more's the pity and shame—"The president is wrong; but we must support the president."

To this complexion has it come at last by reason of the new fangled jingoism that we must shut up our thinkers, close our mouths and chloroform our consciences in order to be considered patriots.

It avails nothing to claim—as some do—that Colonel Roosevelt is better than his party. It is to be hoped most fervently that he is a great deal better; but truth to tell, a president cannot be better than his party. Even if he tries to be he is ruined politically. Johnson, Hayes, Arthur and the younger Harrison all tried that experiment, and all of them were refused second terms, either in convention or at the polls.

So it will be with Colonel Roosevelt. His particular friends may deem him better than his party. He may think so himself, but nevertheless the party will drag him down to its level. No man ever found himself in worse political company than does President Roosevelt in this year of grace. He is in the hands of the Republican Philistines and they will bind him with their withes.

In every state in the Union it is a felony to get property of any sort—or to attempt to get it—by false pretenses. If the same rule applied to the getting of offices or to attempts to get them the whole Republican party could be sent to the penitentiary.

One of their false pretenses—the one on which they harp the most this year—is that the Democratic party is in favor of free trade. The charge is utterly false—a lie made out of the whole cloth. There are individual Democrats who are free traders just as there are individual Republicans who are atheists, but it would be precisely as true and fair to denounce the Republican party as the party of atheism as to denounce the Democratic party as the party of free trade.

It never was a free trade party and is not now. The man who charges it does so because of his ignorance or because of his mendacity. Democrats favor the cutting down of exorbitant tariff rates to a reasonable basis. They believe that in many schedules of the present law the rates are too high; those that are too high we are in favor of cutting down.

Wants an Explanation.

"We favor any modification of the tariff schedules that may be required to prevent them becoming a shelter for monopoly." I wonder if Mr. Secretary Shaw ever heard those words before. They are taken verbatim from the Iowa Republican platform of 1901. The secretary whooped it up at a great rate for Governor A. B. Cummins and others nominated on that platform. He scornfully denounces it now as "the dead Iowa idea." But it was a righteous declaration borrowed from Democrats and is not dead—not even dying.

Where tariff rates are so high that they enable manufacturers to sell their wares abroad cheaper than they do to Americans here at home, we say that they ought to be reduced. Is this anarchy or treason? If so, make the most of it.

Let Republican spellbinders and editors explain why an American farmer should pay from a third to one-half more for an American plow than his competitor in farming pays for it in Australia or South America or the ends of the earth. Democrats say it is wrong, and they stand by the American farmer. Republicans say it is right, and they stand by the Australian and South American farmers. Choose ye between us in November.

Not quite all Republican statesmen believe it right. Once in a while a ray of light breaks in on the benighted intellect of a Republican. For example, a year or two ago the Hon. J. W. Babcock of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, had a lucid interval and advocated in several interviews the cutting down of tariff rates when they are so high as to encourage the formation of trusts and when they enabled the manufacturer to sell his wares cheaper abroad than at home. He went farther and introduced bills to that effect; but the Republican leaders got hold of "Bab" and by coaxing, bullying or other means, checked his ardor as a tariff reformer, since when he has been as dumb as an oyster.

I am citing Babcock's performance in his moment of lucidity to show that to advocate the cutting down of outrageous tariff rates in the foregoing cases does not prove that a man is the enemy of his country as the "stand patter" would have you believe. The "stand pat" organs and speakers claim that only antiquated sorts of our manufactured articles are sold abroad cheaper than to Americans at home. That theory is very ingenuous, but unfortunately, it is not true; for steel rails are sold abroad at $8 a ton less than they are sold at home, and the fashions in steel rails remain the same or substantially so.

Words of Napoleon.

Will he or some other "stand patter" explain why Americans should be made to pay one-third more for American steel rails than the citizens of other nations pay for them?

When Napoleon signed the title deeds to this vast country west of the Mississippi he turned to the American commissioners and said:

"Now I have given England a maritime rival," and so he had until insatiable greed and criminal maladministration banished the starry banner of the republic from the high seas and abdicated the rich domain of the ocean. In 1860 we had the second largest merchant marine in the world—our sails whitened every harbor and our flag floated in every breeze under the heavens. How sadly all this has changed after 35 years of Republican misrule. Last year of all the merchantmen that went through the Suez canal not a single vessel great or small, except battleships, bore the American flag at its masthead, and our flag is seen in foreign waters only when flying over a man of war.

Worse than this—more humiliating than this—a few years ago when congress appropriated a large sum of money to buy corn and wheat and meat to send to the famine-stricken East Indians, we could not send it in an American ship, for the all sufficient reason that there was none to send it in, but to our great humiliation had to hire a foreign ship in which to send our charity to our starving fellow man.

He may answer, as did Mr. Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania, that the railway companies pay for the steel rails and that it is the business of nobody else how much they pay for them, but Olmstead had more courage than information, for everybody with two ideas above a Hottentot knows that everybody that travels on a railroad, everybody that ships anything on one, everybody that uses anything so shipped, helps pay for the steel rails. The railroad companies foot the bills in the first instance and then make their customers repay them with interest—at the highest rate the traffic will bear.

Of a piece with the foregoing false pretenses is that other one that Democrats would destroy American industries. There is not a syllable of truth in it. Why should they desire to destroy industries? They are vitally interested in maintaining them and they wish to see that all prosper by giving to them all an equal chance, and not by fostering some at the expense of others.

Democratic Tariff Position.

The true Democratic position on the tariff is this:

Recognizing the fact that a large portion of our revenue has always been raised from customs duties or taxes, Democrats divide all imports into three classes: Necessaries, comforts and luxuries, and contend that the tariff taxes should be the highest on luxuries, lower on comforts and lowest or none at all on the necessaries. They furthermore say that taxes should be uniform on all articles belonging to one class.

That is the Democratic party's position, from which it will not be driven or coaxed or bullied. No amount of misrepresentation will cause them to budge from that position. We say furthermore that not one dollar more in the shape of tariff taxes or any other sort of taxes should be taken from the people than is necessary to pay the expenses of a government economically administered.

On these propositions we believe we are right, and on them we confidently rely in our appeal to the American people in November.

When an American goes abroad he must sail under a foreign flag, on a foreign ship, under a foreign officer. Why have things come to this shameful, this pitiful complexion in a country that has the finest material for ships and sailors in the world? Because our exorbitant tariff system has made it impossible for an American to build a ship in competition with the British shipbuilders of the River Clyde. Yet the Republican gang has the infinite gall to prate about its patriotism.

Our boys are rushing off to face death in search of gold in the Klondike region when the oceans of the world contain a million Klondikes, if the Republican party would only permit them to work the water main.

Republicans claim in public to be the great and only trust busters, notwithstanding the fact that under Republican misrule trusts have sprung up like mushrooms in a damp cellar and have become plentiful as berries in June. It is said that "straws show which way the wind blows."

Here is a "straw" which indicates that the trusts have nothing to fear from Republican trust busters. It is the appointment of Attorney-general Philander C. Knox, Republican trust buster par excellence, to succeed the late Matthew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvania, in the senate of the United States. There would have been nothing strange or suspicious about that performance were it not for the influence which secured the appointment for Mr. Knox. There can be no question about his intellectual qualifications for the position. The same can be said truly of some other Pennsylvania Republicans—Congressman John Dalzell and Joseph C. Sibley, for instance.

Appointment of Senator Knox.

People will open their eyes in astonishment and begin to inquire as to the why and wherefore of his appointment when they learn that the transfer of Mr. Knox from the attorney generalship to the senate was procured by the earnest and successful efforts of Mr. Frick, Mr. Cassatt and Mr. Donald Cameron, who induced United States Senator Penrose, the new Republican boss of Pennsylvania, to permit Mr. Knox to be senator—for Gov. Pennypacker, who nominally made the appointment, does not appear to have been considered at all in the premises.

The amazement of the people will grow like Jonah's gourd vine when they learn that Mr. Frick is the heaviest stockholder in the steel trust; that Mr. Cassatt is president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which is one of the defendants in the coal trust suit now pending, and that Mr. Cameron represented the Standard Oil trust and Wall street's interest in persuading boss Penrose to let Mr. Knox go to the senate.

Here we have the strange spectacle—the mystifying anomaly—of three of the chiefest trust magnates in the land securing the appointment to the senate of Attorney General Philander C. Knox, who has been exploited far and wide as the greatest trust buster on terra firma.

Folks who will dare to think will be forced to one of two conclusions:

First—Either that Mr. Knox is the only lawyer in America capable of conducting a suit against a trust—which is absolutely preposterous, for there are hundreds of lawyers as able as he is—and that the trusts were anxious to get him out of the attorney general's office, because they fear him more than they do any other human being; or, secondly, that the Knox anti-trust crusade has been a bunco game from the beginning and that Messrs. Frick, Cassatt and Cameron, together with those whom they represent, procured for him the senatorship as a reward for favors already rendered the trusts secretly while in the cabinet and to be hereafter rendered in the senate. According to the press reports President Roosevelt stood by consenting to the transfer of Knox from the cabinet just as Paul stood by consenting to the stoning of Stephen. One paper says:

"The president is greatly pleased that Mr. Knox will accept the position," which looks like he is glad to be rid of him.

More About Trusts.

Here is another straw: It has been told in Gath and proclaimed on the streets of Askalon by the Roosevelt shouters for lo these many months that the trust magnates—especially those whose habitat lair is Wall street—are bitterly opposed to the president. A change appears to have come o'er the spirit of their dream, if Hon. Francis B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, can be believed. That illustrious public functionary recently "swung around the circle" in New York and elsewhere to "survey the situation." Upon his return to Washington he delivered himself of an interview in which, inter alia, he says:

"While in New York I spent two days on Wall street chatting with many representatives of the financial interests and I find that there is no longer any disposition to make a fight. And in accepting the situation the feeling toward Mr. Roosevelt seems to have undergone a change, and I heard many friendly comments. I confess I was surprised at the extent of this change."

Yes, indeed, "the feeling toward Mr. Roosevelt seems to have undergone a change"—among the Wall street trust magnates, and Brother Loomis "heard many friendly comments" by the aforesaid trust magnates.

Mr. Loomis does not vouchsafe to an eager and inquisitive world the reasons why Wall street feeling has undergone such a change as to cause Wall street magnates who were erstwhile abusing the president as a menace to the republic to make "many friendly comments" upon him now.

Has the president changed his views or have the trust magnates changed theirs? Plain people cannot be blamed for being bewildered by all this kaleidoscopic performance. They cannot be censured because by an old process they figure it out that two and two make four, and that the transfer of Mr. Knox from cabinet to senate at the behest of Messrs. Frick, Cassatt and Cameron, taken in connection with the change of feeling in Wall street in favor of the president has a sinister meaning.

The trust magnates who secured the senatorial togs for Mr. Knox, since they have established the entente cordiale with that famous trust buster ought to compel the young ruffianly scions of great trust houses who some time ago insulted and assaulted Mr. Knox in a public restaurant to go down on their knees and make to him the amende honorable. Then all will be lovely—away the trust and the trust buster.

Adams Must Stay in Prison.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 7.—(Special.)—"Al" Adams, the former millionaire policy king, who sought his release from Sing Sing prison on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that he had been illegally sentenced, must stay in prison and serve out his sentence under a decision of Judge Keigh, filed today. His new term will probably not expire until October next.

Held on a Charge of Assault.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Exposition park.
New York at St. Louis.
Brooklyn at Chicago.
Philadelphia at Cincinnati.

The weather man put another crimp in the playing schedule of the Pirates and the final game of the series between the locals and Chicago, which was to have been played yesterday, had to be called off. This caused a lot of disappointment, as both teams were eager to get the game in and avoid a double header in the future. The Chicago team left last night for home, and will be ready to tackle the eastern teams starting today. Selee's hospital list has been pretty well cleared off and both himself and his players are hopeful for the future.

At the Pirates' headquarters yesterday it was reported that the ailing pitchers are coming around slowly, and that Leever may be expected to be back in the game in a few days. Phillippe is still wearing a patch over his eye, but his physician has given his word that the Deacon will soon be as good as ever, in the health line. Pitcher Lynch who has been ailing somewhat is reported as being all right, and that all he needed was a good rest, as he was sore and tired from jumping right in and pitching without any practice. The team has been cut down one player, as the release of Catcher Carrisch was sold to the Jersey City team of the Eastern league and the deal went into effect yesterday. Of course the local club still has a string on the player as Manager Clarke thinks too well of him to allow him to get away altogether.

The second series of the season with the eastern teams opens today, and the first club here will be Al Buckenberger's Boston team, which has been playing in the toughest kind of luck all season. The former manager of the Pirates has a couple of good pitchers on his staff in Willis and Pittenger, and he has Wilhelm and Fisher to fall back on, but the trouble is a weakness in the other parts of the team. Now that Billings, one of the owners who had the player end to look after, and who was awfully close in his dealings, has retired, there is a chance that Buckenberger will be allowed to use his own judgment in the matter of selecting players, and the team will be strengthened in the weak spots. It will be Miller's turn to work for the Pirates today, and either Willis or Pittenger will do the pitching for the visitors.

Up to date 11 games in which the Pittsburgh club has been scheduled have been postponed on account of bad weather. There have been more than that number of postponements because in the case of the St. Louis and the Chicago clubs dates, set aside for the playing off of postponed games, were unavailable on account of rain. On May 31 the Pirates arranged to play off a game with St. Louis, but it rained hard on that day. Yesterday was an open date in the original schedule, and it was given to Chicago, but the game remains unplayed.

The postponements are as follows: With St. Louis 4, Chicago 2, Cincinnati 1, Brooklyn 2, New York 2. Total 11. Two of the games with St. Louis have been played off, one is scheduled for July 28 and no date has been fixed for the fourth game. This leaves nine games with other clubs to play off, and even if no more games are prevented, it will be impossible to avoid playing double headers. As the schedule stands now the champions will play at Exposition park every day this month and on August 1.

Manager Clarke complained last night about the misfortune of having to play so many games on soft fields. "We have the speed but it does not avail us anything on a muddy field," said he. "The park is in better shape than it has been at any other time since I came to Pittsburgh, but the hard and effective work of the groundkeeper has been undone by the bad weather. On July 4 the ground was hard for the first time this season, and we came nearer showing our speed then than at any other time. A week or two of dry weather now would be a great help to us."

Manager Clarke said he expects to use Sam Leever in one of the games against Boston. If the professor works today, Lynch will probably officiate Saturday. Leever warmed up before the Chicago game Wednesday and pitched some speed without hurting his arm.

WILL MAKE O'BRIEN JUMP OUT OF RING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 7.—In an interview Robert Fitzsimmons said today: "O'Brien will never go the limit of our six-round bout at Philadelphia Friday night. That is my honest opinion, for I believe I will stop him long before the final. It is going to be a fast fight. I will go after him from the gong and will never let up until I have finished him. They say O'Brien is fast and that I may never lay a glove on him. Those who really entertain this opinion will be sadly fooled when we come together.

"I know O'Brien is a clever and tricky fighter but he has had pretty easy game compared to what he will encounter on Friday night. O'Brien will be very lucky if he can keep away from me. I have it on him when it comes to the wallop and I guess I will be there with the speed when quick action is necessary.

"It will be a case of hurry up if I want to win in six rounds and I will cut loose in the first. I would not be surprised to see O'Brien jump out of the ring. When we fight he will be meeting a legitimate middleweight—a chance which he claims to have been waiting for so long."

ENGLAND AGAIN LOSES FAMOUS DIAMOND SCULLS

This Time They Were Won by Lou Scholes of Canada, Who Broke Record for Course.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HENLEY, July 7.—L. F. Scholes of the Don Rowing Club of Toronto beat H. Cloutt of the London Rowing club in the final heat of the race for the diamond sculls. Scholes won by a length and a quarter and created a new time record, 8 minutes and 23 seconds, beating the record of B. H. Howell of New York in 1898 by 6 seconds.

The wind was up-stream, and the conditions were favorable for fast traveling. Under the prevailing conditions there was little advantage in the choice of stations. Scholes, who was on the Bucks side, got away first and led by half a length at a quarter of a mile from the start. The Canadian continued to travel so fast that he had two lengths the advantage at Fawley court. Cloutt there put in a series of fine spurts and once got within three-quarters of a length of his adversary, but Scholes again drew away and won by a length and a quarter amidst a scene of great excitement.

In the final for the steward's cup Third Trinity, Cambridge, beat the Winnipeg crew. Third Trinity had a rather easy day, defeating the Canadians by a length and a half in excellent time, 7 minutes 30 seconds, equal to the Leanders' record of 1898. The Winnipegs steered badly in the early part of the race.

JOINS NASSAU CLUB.

Walter J. Travis Will Hereafter Represent That Organization.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Special.)—Walter J. Travis, amateur golf champion of the United States and Great Britain has become identified with the Nassau Country club. He spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday playing over the Nassau course. Fourth of July he had a four ball match, being paired with C. C. Gates against W. L. Hicks and Richard Carlson. It is not understood that Mr. Travis will give up his membership in the Garden City club, of which he has been a member since he resigned from the Oakland club at Bay Side several years ago.

He lives on the edge of the Garden City links. Travis has always played more or less at Nassau and his election bespeaks yet more intimate relations with that course, which is probably being more steadily improved than any other on Long Island. Nassau is also the home club of Findlay S. Douglas, former metropolitan champion.

Directors Uphold Manager Moyer.

SHARON, PA., July 7.—(Special.)—Efforts to adjust the trouble between the Sharon and Youngstown teams have proven unavailing and the chances are that no more games will be played this season between these clubs. The directors of the local team uphold Manager Moyer in his decision not to play any games with Evans officiating as umpire.

Dorans Win Again.

NEGROES CONFESS HEINOUS OFFENSE

NEIGHBORS TALK OF LYNCHING

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Through the good work of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania authorities, coupled with fortunate circumstances, all the negroes implicated in the assault on Mrs. Charles Biddle, at her home, near Burlington, N. J., on Tuesday, are now under arrest. Aaron Timbers, the leader of the attacking party, and Jonas Sims are in the Lancaster county (Pa.) jail, having been captured in Columbia, near Lancaster; William Austin is in Moyamensing prison here and Thomas Jones is in the Burlington county jail at Mount Holly.

The machinery of the law for the transfer of the three men in Pennsylvania jails to New Jersey has already been set in motion. For fear that the citizens of Burlington county might take the law into their own hands, the authorities of that county have promised a speedy trial for the accused men.

Public clamor for vengeance was increased today when it became known that Mrs. Biddle had collapsed under the strain. She lapsed into semi-consciousness, coming to her senses only to go into a series of spasms. The family physician was in attendance most of the day. At one time her condition was so serious that it was deemed best to send for all the relatives of the family. She is somewhat improved tonight.

There is no denying the fact that there is still danger of trouble if Timbers and his companions are soon taken to Burlington. Expressions are heard on all sides that the farmers of the county and citizens of Burlington should not wait for the slow movements of the law. The county authorities, however, are taking every precaution, and feel confident they will be able to meet any overt act that might be attempted. It is possible that the three prisoners in this state will not be taken to New Jersey until feeling against the men has calmed down.

Timbers and Sims were arrested in Columbia early this morning. After confessing to their part in the outrage they were taken to the county jail at Lancaster. Timbers says there were only three in the party, Austin, Sims and himself. Sims disclaims all knowledge of anything that transpired upstairs and says he never went beyond the first floor, where he had been placed on guard.

Timbers, Sims and Austin are almost crazed from fear. They begged the officers not to take them to Burlington county because they feel sure that they will be roughly handled.

BUCKET BRIGADE SAVES VILLAGE

BUSINESS BLOCK DESTROYED

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 7.—At 6:10 p. m. fire broke out in the rear of the hardware store in the business block of the assembly grounds. In a few minutes the flames had spread to rear of the adjoining buildings. The excitement was intense. It seemed as if every person on the grounds gathered in a moment to witness the greatest fire Chautauqua had ever had.

The buildings were of frame and proved an easy prey to the flames, which rapidly spread. The crowd instantly began carrying everything of value from the burning buildings. The postoffice demanded first attention, as the flames were nearing the rear of the one-story structure. All mail and furnishings were quickly removed to a place of safety; then the men and boys, and even women, hastened to the other stores in the same block. Goods were carried out and passed from hand to hand until a place of safety for them was reached.

As the flames spread and shot higher and higher, shop owners frantically threw their wares from the upper windows to the pavement, where they were seized by friendly hands and placed out of reach of the flames.

As soon as the flames were discovered a volunteer fire department was organized in an incredibly short time and worked heroically and indefatigably. In spite of the able efforts put forth, it was soon seen that the whole block was doomed. While several streams of water continued to play on the burning buildings others were turned on the buildings across the street.

Aid from Mayville.

The Mayville fire department responded in a very short time and came racing down the hillsides. The horses were nearly exhausted from their frantic race and it is doubtful if they will recover. The Mayville department did excellent work, and was nobly assisted by the men and boys who had worked unceasingly since the fire started. In spite of their efforts, the Anne Kellogg Memorial hall ignited on the roof, but before the fire had made great headway it was under control and was extinguished in short time.

The burned block comprised the business part of Chautauqua and included a hardware store, two groceries, a drygoods store, shoe store and the postoffice. In spite of the burning of this block, Chautauqua is most admirably equipped to continue in just the same way as before the fire.

Chautauqua is managed by a corporation of men who are too intelligent and far-sighted not to be prepared for a continuance of their regular routine work even after such a fire. Even while the fire was raging Scott Brown was planning and arranging affairs, so that all should be on the morrow just as orderly, as systematic as if such a thing as fire were unknown.

Fire Well Handled.

The fire was admirably handled. Young boys, men and even older men worked heroically and in wonderful unison. In an hour from the time flames were discovered the fire was not only under control, but dying out. That the fire did not spread to the buildings closely adjoining is due entirely to the efficient aid and intelligence of the summer residents of the city in the grove.

In one way the fire may be a blessing in disguise. New buildings and better ones will be erected, and the improved appearance of that part of Chautauqua may compensate for the loss by the fire.

The streets near the burned block were lined in a few places by trunks, pieces of furniture, bundles of clothing, etc. At no time during the fire was there occasion for this, but it would not have been a fire if the carrying out of such things from a place of safety had been omitted.

The fire cannot make the slightest difference to visitors to Chautauqua, save that the ruins will be an added point of interest to a place which holds more attraction for visitors than any other American resort.

The fire caused a loss of about $15,000. The buildings were owned by the assembly and leased to the occupants.

HER HUSBAND GONE.

Mrs. J. Morgan Smith Says He Will Not Return Until Nan Patterson Is Tried.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(Special.)—Asserting that her husband has left the United States, and that he will not return until her sister "Nan" Patterson is brought to trial for the murder of "Caesar" Young next fall, Mrs. J. Morgan Smith has returned to Washington and is seeking her old clerical position in the office of the auditor for the war department. "My husband is not in Washington and he has not been here for over a month," said Mrs. Smith tonight. "I do not know where he is now, but I can tell you positively that he is not in the United States. The rumor that he and I have separated is absolutely false. We have no idea of separating and I have come back to Washington to remain for a while, simply because I was unable to accompany him on his travels to elude detectives."

LAKE OF OIL BURNING.

Two Others In Danger in Yellowstone County and Half Million Barrels May Be Lost.

ST. PAUL, July 7.—A dispatch to the Dispatch from Lander, Wyo., says the keeper of the Belgo-American oil property south of Yellowstone while burning surplus oil that escaped from the wells there lost control of the blaze, which swept down a small rivulet that communicates with lakes 100 feet from the wells. Immediately a vast column of dense smoke rolled into the air, while flames leaped hundreds of feet high.

The burning lake is in close touch with two more, even larger, and should the wind change they, too, probably will catch fire.

If the fire reaches these two lakes it will mean a total loss of at least 500,000 barrels of oil, as well as the destruction of all machinery, derricks, etc. The gravest apprehension is felt.

Report Not Confirmed.

BERLIN, July 7.—The foreign office here has no information tending to confirm the report circulated in the United States by a news agency yesterday, in a dispatch from Berlin, that the Congo Independent state authorities have decided to expel all American missionaries from the Congo country on the ground that they incited the natives to insubordination.

BRITISH WILLING TO MAKE PEACE

OUR OVERTURES PLEASING

YANGTSE, TIBET, July 7.—A messenger from the British expedition was sent to the Tibetan peace delegates today to inform them that Col. Younghusband was still willing to treat with them, provided they arrive at the place appointed within a reasonable time. Sappers have been engaged all day in destroying the fortifications of the Jong.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The discreet inquiries of the state department into the object of the British-Tibetan expedition, as related in yesterday's cablegram from London, appear to have developed a rather curious fact, namely, that the British home government was lukewarm if not absolutely indifferent in the matter of sending Younghusband's expedition toward Lhasa. Indeed, it is said here that Col. Younghusband was allowed to go forward only to save the pride of Viceroy Curzon. The latter fancied that he had not been treated with proper consideration by the half-wild Tibetans, and failing to secure what he deemed due official recognition of the representatives of the Indian government sent by him into Tibet, he appealed to the home government for an armed escort to secure proper treatment for his envoys and the home government reluctantly assented.

It is said here that the British government already has indicated its willingness to withdraw this punitive expedition as soon as it can obtain from the Tibetans promises of yielding the points which were at issue between India and Tibet before the expedition crossed the border of the latter country.

These are pledges of freedom of trade between the two countries and official recognition of the right of the British government's representative to exercise his functions in Tibet.

The British are willing to retire on this basis the more readily now that they are satisfied, from their own experience, that there is no danger to be apprehended of Russian encroachments on India by way of Tibet, in view of the tremendous geographical obstacles.

It is stated that the British government has received the American overtures on this subject in the best of temper; indeed, they were rather welcome, as tending to emphasize the determination of the American government to do everything possible to protect the integrity of China, an object quite as dear to the British as to Americans.

CREW UNDER ARREST FOR ROBBING CARS

Had Caboose Well Stocked When Taken from Train at Kittanning.

A member of the freight crew of train No. 73 on the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad, talked carelessly to an outsider, and in doing this let drop information that led to the uncovering of a plan for systematically robbing freight cars of merchandise while en route. Detectives were detailed to watch suspected train crews, and yesterday, when train No. 73 arrived at Kittanning, Pa., the entire crew was arrested.

It is alleged the detectives discovered that a locker in the caboose attached to the freight, which was running from Pittsburgh to Phillipston, was stocked with beer, whisky, wines and other merchandise stolen from cars. Detective Henderson boarded the caboose in Pittsburgh and rode to Kittanning, where Detectives Dempsey, Bailey and Lieutenant Distall boarded the train and arrested the crew, consisting of Conductor R. Seybert of Kittanning, Engineer D. R. Berg, Fireman John Dunlap and John Mull, Richard Seymore and William Ernest, brakemen, all of Pittsburgh.

The train was run on a siding and another crew telegraphed for to take the train to its destination. The men arrested were then marched in their working clothes to the office of Justice Donaldson of Kittanning, given a hearing immediately and those who were unable to furnish bail were held in custody. Several of the men arrested have employed Attorney W. J. Christy of Kittanning to look after their interests.

The arrest of this crew is the result of an investigation instituted by the railroad several months ago because of numerous complaints received at the Valley offices from merchants between Pittsburgh and Phillipston. The merchants alleged that goods shipped to them were in many cases far short of the invoice made out by the wholesale dealers who shipped the goods. One Kittanning firm claims to have lost over $500 worth of goods in this manner during the last six months. Hotel men entered numerous complaints with the railroad that beer, whisky, wine and food when received by them was in less quantities than the amounts shipped. In some cases, it is alleged, jugs of whisky were missing entirely, while the vessels in which wines and beers had been sent to them were short in measure. Other employes on the Valley division are suspected of stealing goods from cars and they are being watched by railroad officers and more arrests may follow.

DEPRESSION IS DISCUSSED.

Cotton Factors Agree That Something Must Be Done for Betterment of Conditions.

FALL RIVER, MASS., July 7.—The depression in the cotton manufacturing industry was considered at length at a meeting of Fall River treasurers, representing 1,500,000 spindles out of a total of nearly 3,000,000, and at the conclusion of the discussion a committee was appointed to consider the best method of meeting the situation.

As recent attempts to act in unison have not met with success, it is thought that a reorganization of the manufacturers' association will be undertaken. Six weeks ago a plan to decrease the cost of production by cutting wages was defeated through the inability to agree.

Few of the mills are in operation this week and the production for three months has not been much above two-thirds of the normal.

Wreck at Loyalhanna.

LATROBE, PA., July 7.—(Special.)—A costly wreck was caused at Loyalhanna, a mile and a half east of here, this evening, by a heavily loaded train that was pulling out of the yards on a siding being sideswiped by an Alexandria branch shifting engine on the main track of the Pennsylvania railroad. Both engines were thrown from the rails and one of them was literally buried in the mud beside the track. Both the east and west bound tracks were piled with cars. The crews of both trains escaped by jumping.

TOY PISTOLS CAUSE TWO LOCKJAW CASES

Two cases of lockjaw resulting from toy pistols were discovered in McKeesport yesterday. James O'Neil, aged 9, of Linden avenue, shot himself with a pistol about 10 days ago and had received no medical attention until yesterday when Dr. R. J. Hunter discovered a well-developed case of tetanus. The second case was that of Thomas O'Toole, aged 11, who was taken to the McKeesport hospital with a fully developed case of lockjaw resulting from a pistol wound received last Thursday.

SOCIETY

THOUGH delightfully informal, the "at home" which Mrs. Edward A. Kitzmiller held yesterday afternoon was quite large, over 150 friends of the hostess and her daughters being received between the hours of 3 and 5. The reception was given in honor of Mrs. Kitzmiller's daughters, Mrs. Harry Timkin of Canton, O., who came to remain two weeks with her parents, and Miss Edith Kitzmiller, whose engagement to Dr. R. A. Matheny was recently announced. In the receiving party was another daughter, Mrs. W. W. Miller. Miss Marjoria Blythe, who was to have been one of the guests of honor, and whose engagement to Frank Kitzmiller was announced at the same time as that of Miss Kitzmiller and Dr. Matheny, was prevented from attending by illness.

Assisting throughout the house, which is one of the most hospitable homes at Hawkins station, were several friends of the hostess and her daughters, including Miss Jeffries, Mrs. John B. Reynolds, Mrs. George W. Wurzell and Miss Baker. Mrs. Kitzmiller was gowned in soft gray voile, while her daughters and the assisting ladies were all in white—pretty summer gowns of sheer material.

The house was simply decorated with palms, ferns and white roses, except in the dining room, where ferns and yellow calliopsis appeared. Tea was served informally, and because of the warm afternoon the piazzas and the lawns were utilized. An informal dinner followed the afternoon reception, when the assistants of the afternoon and as many men were entertained. Mrs. Timkin will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Kitzmiller over Sunday, intending next week to return to Canton. The reception yesterday was the first formal occasion at which Miss Kitzmiller has appeared since her engagement was announced. The wedding will not take place for almost a year, a day in the early spring having been decided upon.

Meeting of Teachers and Chairmen.

A meeting of the teachers in the summer playgrounds and vacation schools and the chairmen of the committees in charge of this work, was held yesterday afternoon at the Grant school. Many interesting details of the opening of the playgrounds were given. The work is becoming well systematized now, though not until next week will a very general idea of the entire enrollment and attendance be secured.

Today is flower day and this morning Miss Eliza D. Armstrong and the members of her flower committee will spend it in the gymnasium of the Central Young Women's Christian association arranging the flowers into small bouquets, which will be sent to each of the 20 playgrounds in the two cities to be distributed among the children when the morning session is over. Flower day will be observed every Friday throughout the short season of five weeks. Both cultivated and wild flowers are asked for by the committee and the flowers should reach the Central Young Women's Christian Association building, Fifth street, by 9 o'clock in the morning. If there are any who wish to contribute and cannot send their donation, a telephone message or postal to Miss Armstrong the day before will enable her to send someone of her committee early Friday morning for the flowers.

One of the new schools in Pittsburgh is the Minersville school, which the Wimodausis club has charge of this season. On Tuesday morning there was an enrollment of 164 children and an enthusiastic class in carpentry was started, composed of 43 boys, who became very much interested in their work, an interest which has been increasing each day since. The sewing class is composed of 40 girls while a large class was organized for basketry. Mrs. J. K. Duff is the chairman of the committee consisting of members of the Wimodausis club, which is in charge of this school.

Outing of Iron City Fishing Club.

The Iron City Fishing club will leave for its camping ground on Monday, August 1, over the Allegheny Valley road. It will camp this year, as for several seasons past, in the Georgian Bay district, Canada. This year the party will include 125 people, who will be in camp from August 2 to August 26.

The camping ground, consisting of 193 acres of mainland, about 40 miles north of Penetanguishene, is owned by the club and two years ago a large and commodious club house was built. There is a fine bathing beach and the fishing is excellent. A steamer, with a capacity of 122 people, will be at the disposal of the club while in camp.

The officers of the club include the president, the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Smith; vice president, Samuel C. Johnson; secretary, John W. MacGregor; assistant secretary, John O. Conahey; treasurer, W. S. Horner; master of transportation, Capt. T. J. Wood; commissary, the Rev. C. L. Smith, and superintendent of boats, S. L. Wood.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me.

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

SAYS DAUGHTER IS HYPNOTIZED

HE REFUSES TO GIVE NAMES

NORRISTOWN, PA., July 7.—C. Edward Green, father of Bessie Green, who today attempted to take her life by swallowing ammonia, would like to prosecute the men he thinks threw his daughter under a hypnotic spell and drove her to attempt suicide.

Who these men are Mr. Green would not disclose, but he did say that his suspicions rested on a Philadelphia banker and a Methodist minister of the same city. Green is a contractor.

"I can only account for my daughter's strange actions by the belief that she is under a hypnotic spell," said Green. "The spell was put on her about one year ago when she went to Philadelphia on the advice of a Methodist minister of that city. She was treated at his house for an impediment in her speech. At the end of three days I was sent for and found Bessie in bed. I was told that she was sick, but decided, on finding her pulse normal, that she was not. When I first entered the room Bessie looked at me strangely, and at first did not recognize me. Because of this trance-like condition, I suspected that she had been hypnotized.

"In pursuing an investigation of the case I learned that the Methodist minister who had undertaken the curing of Bessie for $100 was connected with a stammering institute on Spring Garden street. I went there and after hearing my statement, the doctor in charge agreed that Bessie doubtless was a hypnotic victim, and offered to take off the spell.

"This was more hypnotism than I cared for, but on the promise that the spell could be taken off in my presence I took my daughter to the doctor. My sister accompanied us. When the time came to restore Bessie to her senses the doctor declared he must have the girl in a room alone. I would not consent to this and we returned home."

LIFE GUARDS GO THROUGH PACES

PITTSBURGHERS AT THE SHORE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Young's Ocean Pier.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.

That Atlantic City has one of the most proficient bodies of life guards in the country was shown this morning when the guards doing duty on the beach above Young's pier were given a severe test in the presence of Mayor Franklin P. Stoy, Beach Physician Beckwith and Capt. Peter Parker. Each guard was thoroughly tested as to his ability to handle a boat, swim with a buoy and without a buoy, and every one of them did fine work.

Mayor Stoy was highly elated at the proficiency of the guards and said he never saw such good work of men employed to look after the safety of visitors.

"They are veritable sea-dogs," said the mayor.

The guards assembled at 8 o'clock above the steel pier and then one by one they were required to go through the test. First they would be told to take the life boat out and bring it in, and next were required to swim a considerable distance in the water with a buoy and there was not one of the men but received the praise of the three officials who conducted the test.

Although the guards on the lower side of the pier were given a test several days ago it is likely that they will be put through another during the week by Mayor Stoy.

Charles R. Jones of Philadelphia, chairman of the state Prohibition committee, was here today in conference with Dr. Swallow with regard to the campaign in Pennsylvania. The doctor has not yet said that he will accept the nomination, but those in confidence have no doubt of his acceptance, unless there should be a change for the worse in the condition of Mrs. Swallow, who is still very ill.

DRUG CLERK WINS HEIRESS.

Potency of Ice Cream Soda as Love Potion Proved by Results at Harlem Dispensary.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Special.)—Harlem social circles breakfasted on a rare piece of gossip today when it was noised about that Miss May Smith, a pretty young heiress, had been secretly married to Louis Toussant, a drug clerk, possessed of nothing more valuable than his diploma.

Mrs. Toussant lived with her parents at No. 317 West Seventieth street. On a visit to a drug store at Amsterdam avenue and Seventieth street she met Toussant a few weeks ago. It was noticed that Miss Smith's liking for ice cream soda became very pronounced.

Mrs. Smith and her two daughters went to their summer home at Seabright, N. J., last week and during the absence of her mother and sister, Miss Smith and Toussant eloped.

Conservative Candidate Won.

LONDON, July 7.—A bye-election yesterday at Chertsey, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. Fyler (Conservative), resulted in the election of Lord Bingham (Conservative), who polled 5,425 votes against 4,876 cast for Mr. Sadler, the Liberal candidate. The campaign was fought almost wholly on the question of admitting Chinese labor into the Transvaal, this, the Liberals declared, being tantamount to slavery.

Assailant Sent to Prison.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., July 7.—(Special.)—William McLean, colored, aged 21, pleaded guilty today to having attacked Miss Richards, daughter of Prof. C. B. Richards, and Miss Mary V. Flanagan. Judge Thayer sentenced McLean to a term in state's prison of not less than two nor more than three years for the attack on Miss Richards and five years for the attack on Miss Flanagan.

Must Comply With Law.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The district supreme court today decided in favor of the government the case of Anna Bowes and others against the secretary of the interior. The effect of the decision is to stop cattle companies from the misuse of the soldiers' homestead right belonging to widows so as to secure large bodies of land without compliance with the law by the entry-women.

Mr. Sam Pickering writes from Grand Rapids that the display at the furniture exposition is bigger and better than ever. He is now busy making selections for his fall trade. In the meantime we are busy getting rid of the odds and ends from our warehouses. Every odd piece in the big furniture house is marked 25 per cent less than they were two weeks ago. Go-carts and refrigerators are also marked down; lawn benches are cut in half; queensware cut about one-third.

DEPORTED MEN IN MOB'S HANDS

SEARCH IS OF NO AVAIL

VICTOR, COL., July 7.—Considerable anxiety is felt here for the safety of five men deported from this district by the military, but who returned within the last week.

The men were arrested by the civil authorities as soon as it was learned that they had defied the orders given them at the time of their deportation. They were kept under guard at a hotel until last night, when two deputy sheriffs started presumably to escort them out of the camp.

At a point west of the city, near the Santa Rita mine, the deputies were suddenly confronted by half a dozen masked men who were heavily armed. The prisoners were taken from the deputies, as also were their guns, and they were ordered to return to town. This order they obeyed.

A short distance from the point where the masked men first appeared the deputies saw a large band of other masked men, numbering, they estimate, at least fifty.

Immediately on returning to the city the deputies told the sheriff's office and the military headquarters of their experience. Details of the troops were sent out to search for the kidnaped men, and Sheriff Edward Bell also headed a posse in pursuit. The pursuing parties returned to this city after several hours' fruitless search. The hunt was resumed at daylight by the military.

SILENCE STILL RULES.

Cleveland Continues to Look Blank When St. Louis Convention Is Mentioned.

BUZZARDS BAY, July 7.—(Special.)—Former President Grover Cleveland declined this morning to discuss the situation at St. Louis or the ovation which greeted the mention of his name in the convention yesterday.

Mr. Cleveland is not showing any particular interest in the proceedings. He is here seeking rest and absolute quiet, he says, and no special arrangements have been made for receiving early reports from St. Louis.

His purpose in coming here at this time was to avoid all consultation or interviews concerning politics and the time is spent for the most part in fishing trips to nearby ponds and Buttermilk bay.

When not fishing, Mr. Cleveland, with Dr. Bryant and Joe Jefferson and the latter's son, Charles B. Jefferson, spend much time in roaming through the beautiful grounds and gardens of the veteran actor's fine estate.

ENCIRCLED BY WIRE.

John Schuiski Has Close Call from Death by Electricity in New York.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Special.)—A fire in the baggage office of the Pennsylvania railroad in Jersey City today caused an entanglement in the power of the local electric light company which resulted in a wire dropping and almost electrocuting John Schuiski, who was walking along the sidewalk. The fire also burned out the local ticker wires, and the numerous poolrooms in Jersey City were cut off from racing service. Sparks from one of the wires in the baggage room at No. 14 Exchange place caused the blaze.

When it began spreading railroad men cut all the wires for fear the electricity would cause a serious fire. This action concentrated the power in the electric light wires and melted one at Henderson and Seventeenth streets.

As it fell it completely encircled Schuiski and he was frightfully burned.

ACRES AT LOT PRICES.

Believing that the public is tired paying six hundred, one thousand and up to sixteen hundred dollars for country lots only thirty feet front, we have succeeded in getting a company of men to put on the market a plan of one, two and five-acre lots at the low price of from five hundred to one thousand dollars.

Why should you pay one thousand dollars for a thirty-foot lot when we can sell you two acres (equal to 16 thirty-foot lots) for one thousand dollars, and only thirty-five minutes' ride from the postoffice when the new tunnel is completed, and that will be in a month or two.

Streets are all laid out, boardwalks laid, gas on the premises, fruit and shade trees beyond number, many springs of fine, cool water, and the ground is rolling just enough to insure perfect drainage.

By giving the people what they want we expect to sell the entire plan out within a few days and will advise you to come out either Saturday or Sunday. Salesmen on the ground daily.

THE GARDEN SPOT OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

Take Hilltop car and transfer to Charleroi car and tell the conductor to let you off at "LIBRARY ACRES."

TERMS—Ten per cent down and the balance to suit YOU. No taxes until 1906.

STOCK MARKET REACTED, CLOSING AT THE LOWEST

Profit-Taking Sales and Reports of Crop Damage Were the Influences at Work—Local Securities Were Very Quiet.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a natural and very general reaction in the New York stock market yesterday. The sharp advance of Wednesday invited profit-taking sales by professional traders who had helped the movement along, and London was less of a factor in the dealings. The sales fell off a third compared with the day before, and prices of leadings stocks averaged 1 per cent off, the close being at or near the lowest of the day. There was some irregularity at the opening, the railroad stocks declining while U. S. Steel held firm and advanced fractionally. The common reached 11⅛ and the preferred 58⅛, the highest on this movement. The strength was in the face of reported cuts in wages and the closing down of additional mills, indicating anything but improvement in the trade. In fact, it was alleged that the sharp and unexpected cut in wages was for the purpose of covering the desire of the corporation to further reduce output, owing to an accumulation of stock. On the other hand, there are unofficial reports that the earnings for the past quarter were in excess of full dividend requirements on the preferred stock, and there is now scarcely any doubt that the regular 1¾ per cent will be declared by the directors on the 26th inst. The other industrial stocks were also firmer at the opening, Amalgamated Copper reaching 51⅝, but later these shares joined in the general reaction and closed ¼ to ¾ per cent lower for the day.

There was heavy profit-taking in Pennsylvania, which, after opening at 118⅛, steadily dropped to 116⅞ and closed at 117. Baltimore & Ohio was also heavy, opening lower at 82½ and selling down to 81⅝ at the close. The largest declines for the day, however, were in the granger stocks, under the lead of St. Paul and Atchison. St. Paul sold off to 144½ and closed at the lowest, a net loss of 1¾ per cent. Atchison declined from 75¼ to 73⅞ and recovered only a small portion of the loss. There were alarming reports of damage to crops in Kansas and Nebraska, and Kansas City wired that a serious flood was imminent. Excessive rains seldom do serious damage to growing corn, but they are interfering with the winter wheat harvest. Grain markets responded to the news, wheat advancing 1⅛ cents and corn being fractionally higher, the rise being based entirely upon domestic conditions.

There is little doubt that bears on the stock market were taken completely by surprise on Wednesday, and their position was rendered more uncomfortable by large professional traders who bid up prices. Yesterday these professionals were taking profits, and the bears retaliated by setting afloat unsettling rumors. One of these was that there had been a break of 1¼ per cent in English consols. The report was entirely groundless. Less attention was paid to the proceedings of the Democratic national convention, Wall street feeling confident that its forecast of the nomination and platform would be confirmed by events. While the stock market closed near the lowest, it could hardly be described as weak. Opinion was divided as to the immediate future, but perhaps the majority view was that on reactions the active stocks would be a purchase for a further rise.

Call loans closed offered at 1 per cent, and the rate did not get above 1¼ per cent all day. The banks made another large gain from the sub-treasury, bringing the total net gain since last Friday up to about $4,500,000. The foreign bank statement reflected a return to normal conditions following semi-annual settlements. The loans of the Bank of England decreased more than $41,000,000 and the reserve liability increased nearly 5 per cent. The Bank of France reported a decrease of $4,050,000 gold and a reduction in loans of more than $42,000,000. Foreign money markets readjust themselves more rapidly than the home market at the various quarterly periods, but there is some reason to believe that New York bank loans tomorrow will show a considerable decrease.

The local stock market was very dull and narrow yesterday, the sales footing up only 1,414 shares. Activity in Westinghouse Electric entirely subsided, and after selling at 79 the stock declined to 78. Crucible Steel preferred and U. S. Steel preferred declined slightly on light sales. Harbison-Walker preferred was offered at 50 and closed without bid. The coal stocks were dull and nominally unchanged. There were no transactions in bonds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The reduction of the quarterly dividend on Harbison-Walker Refractories preferred from 1½ to 1 per cent had no appreciable effect upon the stock which was offered at 50 and closed without bid or sale. The common stock was not quoted. The very frank statement of the president of the company that business is bad and profits poor was received philosophically by traders. The securities of the company were never active in the market, the sales of the preferred during the past six months only slightly exceeding 500 shares, while sales of the common were less than 500 shares. When the stocks were listed on the local exchange in February last year it was stated that the earnings at that time were at a rate equivalent to 5 per cent on the common stock.

Philadelphia Company common was not affected by the poor earnings for June, being quoted at 39⅛ bid. The estimated gross receipts for the past month were $1,187,218 for the entire system, a decrease of $23,121 compared with the same month last year.

Westinghouse Electric opened at 79, 100 shares changing hands at that price. In the afternoon the price declined to 78 and closed 78 bid, 78⅛ asked. Union Switch and Signal common was offered at 62 and the preferred at 95. Westinghouse Air Brake closed nominal at 125½ bid.

There were no sales of River Coal preferred, but the stock was heavy, being offered down to 20⅞ and closing at 20½ bid. So far as street opinion is concerned, there is very little expectation that the full semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent will be declared next Tuesday, when the directors are scheduled to meet. Some holders think, however, that the directors may follow the Harbison-Walker example and pay a reduced dividend.

The directors of the Consolidated Ice Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 20 to stock of record July 16, on which latter date transfer books will close. The stock was not quoted yesterday, but the common was wanted at 5½ bid and was offered at 6½.

An officer of the National Fire Proofing Company states that there has recently been an improvement in the demand for the company's products, and that the outlook is considerably brighter. The company booked a good contract in Baltimore within the past few days.

The Diamond Light and Power Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent and an extra dividend of 4 per cent.

The Goettman company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2¼ per cent, payable forthwith.

The German Fire Insurance Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent and the National Insurance Company of Allegheny, a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent and an extra dividend of 2 per cent.

The gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the last week in June was $346,958, an increase of $39,223.

Of a total capitalization of 600,000 shares of the United States Realty and Construction Company, 500,000 shares have been deposited with the committee in accordance with the terms of the reorganization plan.

The usual semi-annual 2 per cent dividend on Norfolk & Western preferred has been ordered payable August 19 to stock of record August 5.

The $20,000 park and $150,000 road improvement 4 per cent serial bonds of Washington, Pa., were sold to Heyden, Miller & Co. of Cleveland, O., at par and interest and a premium of $5,074.45. N. Holmes & Son of Pittsburg, bid par and interest and a premium of $4,097; Rudolph Kleybolte & Co., Cincinnati, par, interest and $3,810 premium; N. W. Harris, New York, par, interest and $3,660 premium; Dick & Robinson, Philadelphia, par, interest and $3,120.70 premium; W. R. Todd, Cincinnati, par, interest and $1,800 premium; W. J. Hayes & Co., Cleveland, par, interest and $25 premium, and the Municipal Securities and Corporation Company, Pittsburgh, par, flat.

American Sewer Pipe 6s were higher at 96½ bid. Pittsburgh-Buffalo 5s were quoted at 100½ bid.

The Steel Billet association at its meeting in New York yesterday decided to make no change in quotations. This may have had something to do with the relative firmness of United States Steel stocks.

It was rumored yesterday that Canadian Pacific will increase its capital to $100,000,000. The amount at present outstanding is about $84,000,000.

An idea of the rapid growth of trust companies in the last eight years is obtained from the statistics just issued by the comptroller of the currency. According to these figures it appears that the growth of trust companies has been far more rapid than the growth of state banks, savings banks or the national banks. Since 1896 the individual deposits of the state banks have increased 27.8 per cent. During the same period the individual deposits in the savings banks increased 60.8 per cent, while the increase reported by the national banks is 88.8 per cent. The increase in deposits reported by the trust companies is very much larger, amounting to no less than 184 per cent, or considerably more than twice the percentage increase shown by the national banks. The explanation of this astonishing increase in the deposits of the trust companies is the fact that these institutions allow interest on deposits, whereas the state and national banks as a rule pay no interest on individual deposits.

The Alabama Consolidated Coal and Iron Company is offering under date of July 9 to its preferred stockholders for purchase and in exchange of preferred stock $1,500,000 of an issue of $3,500,000 of 30-year 5 per cent gold bonds. The company expects to realize $510,000 for treasury purposes as the result of the project.

Country bankers say that never before have the New York bond houses been as active in pushing their wares. Not only bond houses, but brokerage houses as well, are sending bond salesmen through the country to sell securities to country banks. This has been going on for some months. Country bankers are, if anything, more conservative than ever in their purchases of securities. Some of the small banks have been weakened by their ill-advised investments during the period of inflated values. In consequence of past mistakes country bankers are scrutinizing more carefully than ever the bonds offered to them from New York. Many of the bond houses are pushing traction bonds which yield a considerably larger income than the steam railway issues. Country bankers, in their present mood, do not take very favorably to these more speculative securities. The most popular issues are 4 per cent steam railway bonds selling at about par.

STORY OF DEBT TOLD BY WOMAN

WIDOW M'CLOY IS UP AGAIN

A rule has been granted on T. Lee Clark in his suit against Clara S. Huddleston to show cause why judgment should not be opened and Mrs. Huddleston let in on a defense. In the meantime an execution for $14,941.19 has been stayed.

The defendant denies she is indebted to Clark in that sum or any other by reason of an account which she admits exists between them. She alleges she conveyed different pieces of real estate to Clark without consideration, and also mentions other real estate transactions, all of which she alleges he failed to give her credit for in the account between them.

The judgment was entered October 23, 1902, on a note given by her to Clark on June 20, 1902, payable one day after date. The execution was issued June 6, 1904. She states that Clark occupied the position of confidential agent and induced her not to employ counsel.

Louis Americus, Harry Americus and David Ross, charged with killing Otto E. Vail, were convicted of voluntary manslaughter. Ross was recommended to the mercy of the court. The jury went out at 10:30 Wednesday night and came back at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Martin Stonic was acquitted on a charge of the murder of his brother. They lived in the rear of 332 Thirty-third street, where on April 22 Joseph was killed by a shot from a revolver held by Martin. The latter said the weapon was accidentally discharged. The evidence bore out the prisoner's story and by Judge Rodgers' direction the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal without leaving the box.

A petition has been presented in the United States district court asking that certain goods in the stock of Durbin & Fuhr be given to Sheafer & Lloyd. The goods are worth $15,000 and were placed in the possessin of Durbin & Fuhr when the firm was formed. Judge Buffington postponed the hearing on the petition until the creditors of Durbin & Fuhr can be notified.

Francis J. Whalen of McKees Rocks filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving liabilities as $3,850, with assets of $25.

Attorney William S. McDowell succeeded in completing the satisfaction of a mortgage that fell due and payable just 100 years ago, but which has remained unsatisfied on the county records, and was still a cloud upon the title of 256 acres of land in Ross township, close to the borough of Bellevue. While the presumption is that the century would render the lien obsolete at the same time real estate men viewed the matter as a blemish on the title. When the matter was taken up by Judge John D. Shafer he remarked that it "was a ghost scared up by the title companies."

The mortgage was given by William Whitesill to James Robinson and George Wallace, to secure the payment of $377.40 on or before September 14, 1804. Recently a granddaughter of Wallace, hearing that the proceedings had been instituted, presented herself to the attorney for a share in the amount, thinking she was entitled to it.

Christopher Scherf has sued Ralph Wighton for $5,000 damages, alleging the defendant has deprived him of his wife's affections.

Chauncey Hays pleaded guilty in criminal court to a charge of burglary. He was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and serve four years in the Western penitentiary. Hays is alleged to have entered the home of Mrs. Mary Carey, 832 Rebecca street, Allegheny, on June 26, last. William Clark pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from the person, made by Robert Wilson of Wilmerding. He is said to have stolen a watch and chain. He was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and serve two years in the penitentiary.

Stephen Howard and J. H. Smith were fined $50 and costs and sent to the workhouse for four months, and H. W. Carroll was sentenced to serve two months in the workhouse and pay a fine of $50. All are colored. The two were convicted of a charge of conspiracy, made by John G. Ehman. They are alleged to have rented the hall of the Central Turn Verein in Forbes street, on April 5 last and to have paid the $50 rent with a bogus check signed by Carroll and drawn on the Diamond [illegible]tional bank. It was alleged that Carroll [illegible] had an account at the bank.

[illegible] was entered against Jozsef Gregosists [illegible] $3,000 damages for alleged slander by Is[illegible] Wolfinger and Denis Wolfinger. They al[illegible] that Gregosists, in the capacity of a sten[illegible]er, reported a meeting of the Verhoray [illegible]ial association held in Cleveland, O., and that his reports, as published in a local Hungarian paper, were slanderous. Attorney Joseph M. Friedman represents the plaintiffs.

In an opinion in the suit of Eliza A. Devenny against John A. Shaw, Judge James R. Macfarlane decides that the assignment of a mortgage by the plaintiff could not be used by the defendant to secure the debt of the plaintiff's son, James. Shaw loaned the son a sum of money, the latter agreeing to have his mother assign the mortgage for $500 in consideration of the loan. The mother, who is an aged woman, assigned the mortgage with the expectation of receiving the money it called for, but it developed the sum was applied to the debt. The court states a period for the correction of the record showing satisfaction of the mortgage and directs a reassignment.

The following executions were issued yesterday: McKay & Reilly vs. Joseph Myers et al, $156.05; J. Bryhen vs. Saleem Feriod, $40; H. Habcet vs. Essie Shabem, et al, $64; Eliza L. McGuffin vs. Joseph Briel, $2,324.

Mrs. Sarah E. McCloy under the name of "Mrs. J. M. Thomas," has entered suit without counsel for $200,000 damages for alleged injury to her health and character and for false arrest against Judge C. F. McKenna, John McAleese, James M. McCurdy, J. R. Might and W. S. Ross. Mrs. McCloy is well known by reason of her bringing suit against Rev. J. M. Thomas, formerly of the South Side, some time ago, for alleged breach of promise. She was subsequently declared to be a lunatic and sent to Marshalsea. The papers filed in court by Mrs. McCloy are 17 pages long and tell the story of the inquisition in lunacy begun against her and of her being sent to Marshalsea.

The following decrees in divorce were made yesterday afternoon: Leola M. Barto against Avery Barto, desertion; Rachael J. E. Irving against Orrin G. Irving, desertion; Helena Lomask against Charles Lomask, desertion and David Edwards against Annie Edwards, infidelity. In the latter decree the court orders that Mrs. Edwards shall not marry Thomas Moore, named as co-respondent, during the lifetime of Edwards.

SILVER IS PLENTIFUL.

The Philippine Government Announces No Occasion for More Purchases.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A cablegram received by the bureau of insular affairs announces that the Philippine government has no occasion for purchasing more silver.

The silver purchased last year produced substantially 2,000,000 more pesos than all the Mexicans exported since January 1, 1902. The recoinage of Spanish-Filipino coins, which is being actively prosecuted in the San Francisco mint, fully supplies the vacuum created by their withdrawal from circulation.

The Philippine government has in circulation in the islands, in transit and in process of recoinage 16,000,000 more silver coins than were in the islands January 1, 1904, and 2,000,000 more than were in the islands January 1, 1903, when there was a great surplus of currency.

BROKERS IN WALL STREET GET TOO ENTHUSIASTIC

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says: Stock prices gave 'way precipitately in yesterday's market to conditions which should have been given consideration in the buoyant market of Wednesday. It was clear that the enthusiasm of previous days was overdone and that the actual conditions, though improved, did not warrant any such advance as was witnessed in the early days of this week. Such starts and sudden relapses, it must be pointed out, are not very conducive to the spread of confidence in the minds of the public, who are not in a temper to condone such occurrences. Explanations might be made that wholly unforeseen conditions, such as the floods in the southwest, and the delay in the fulfillment of the gold plank in the Democratic platform, arose overnight, but ordinary precaution might have told the speculative world that there are always "unforeseen" occurrences developing, and at this particular season it would be well to make haste slowly.

It could well be inferred from the course of prices that the market is closely interwoven with the progress of the crops and that the movement of prices is based more on crop news than political developments in St. Louis. The volume of stock business was materially lower and there was a shrinkage in the bond transactions, as might have been expected.

The losses sustained by the leading railroad stocks ranged from one to nearly two points, and these recessions applied to the highly active and manipulated issues. The profit taking was an important feature in the early trading, and later, when Wall street became gloomy over the multitude of reports from Kansas and the southwest concerning the damage done the crops, there was considerable and aggressive short selling. It was remarked that the bulls of the previous day were the most active bears in the closing hours of the session. If this impression was correct, how much real merit was there to the recent advance of security prices?

KILLED BY CARTRIDGE.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—(Special.)—Frank Steigler, night operator at the Pennsylvania railroad freight office, was found unconscious on the floor of the room by the police, who heard shots fired just before daylight this morning. Steigler says two masked men entered the office and ordered him to open the safe, striking him down with an iron bar after he had opened fire with his revolver. # Statistics Show Railroads Are in Good Financial Condition

Although the first six months of 1904 have witnessed many failures of manufacturing, mercantile and financial interests, no railway in the United States has gone into the hands of a receiver as a result of the decreased industrial and commercial activity in that period. Two or three minor companies have passed their dividends, but of the nearly 1,800 operating and subsidiary roads, whose securities are in the hands of the public, only six, representing about 300 miles of line, have defaulted in their interest or otherwise confessed insolvency thus far in 1904. Only 20 railroads, with less than 1,000 miles of line out of the 210,000 miles in the United States, are at present in the hands of receivers.

In the case of each of the six small roads for which receivers were appointed during the last six months, bankruptcy appears to have been the result of inherent difficulties not caused by the cessation of boom times and which would not have been cured if the times had continued to boom. Among those placed in the hands of a receiver is the Lake & River Railroad Company, having a few miles of grade near Akron, O. The road is one of the several of Col. French's projects in Northern Ohio which failed to materialize successfully.

The total number of foreclosures are seven. There is no road of importance in the list and the sales will enable the carrying out of reorganization plans, long pending, without any immediate effect, financial or physical, except in the direction of improvement.

World's Fair Coach Excursions.

The four railroads running from Pittsburgh to St. Louis will each have a coach excursion this month. If they are well patronized others will be arranged, but if not, none will be run until September. The passenger officials of the four lines met yesterday in the office of J. K. Dillon and discussed the matter of running excursions to the fair. It was the consensus of opinion that the distance from Pittsburgh to St. Louis being so long, people do not care to ride in a coach, but are willing to pay the difference for a Pullman sleeper. The dates for each railroad were fixed at the meeting. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie heads the list and will run its first excursion on Tuesday, July 12. This will be followed by the Pennsylvania lines on Thursday, July 14. The date for the Wabash was set for Tuesday, July 19, and the Baltimore & Ohio on Thursday, July 21. The rates for these excursions is $12 for the round trip.

Workmen Being Reinstated.

A significant move has been made by General Manager G. L. Peck of the Pennsylvania lines west, which is taken as a sure indication of a revival of railroad activity. He issued orders yesterday that the steel-laying on both the Panhandle and the Ft. Wayne be resumed. Simultaneously with this order is one from Philadelphia ordering the reinstatement of a large number of car repairmen at different points on the Pennsylvania railroad. This order affects the Pitcairn repair shops, the ones at Altoona, and at West Philadelphia. The Pitcairn shops have been placed on full time. Heretofore the men only worked five days a week.

To Run 18 Special Trains.

The Pennsylvania system will have the largest passenger movement next Sunday that has ever been handled in one day on that system. Seven special trains will be run to New York on account of the annual meeting of the Prudential Life Insurance Company. Three trains will come from Chicago, one from Columbus and one from Pittsburgh. There will also be one train from Chicago and one from Cincinnati, connecting with two trains from this city, carrying delegates to a meeting of the Mystic Shriners at Atlantic City. This will give the Pennsylvania 18 trains in addition to its heavy regular travel.

Increase in Wabash Earnings.

The financial statement of the Wabash railroad for the fiscal year ending June 30, gives a gain of $1,888,028 in the gross earnings over the previous 12 months. The total gross earnings from all sources were $23,013,754 62. The gross passenger earnings were $7,048,669, an increase of $906,411, or 14.7 per cent over last year. The freight department shows an increase of $734,949, or 5.5 per cent over the previous year. The total gross freight earnings were $14,663,103.

Railroad Notes.

W. C. Walls, president of the Lewisburg Bridge Company, and director of a Pennsylvania railroad subsidiary line, running from Uniondale to Bellefonte, known as the Tyrone & Lewisburg railroad, was the guest yesterday of Col. W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent of the Wabash railroad. Mr. Walls is in business at Lewisburg.

J. T. Campbell, division agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, left last night for Wheeling, where he will attend a meeting today of the division agents of the Wheeling system.

W. F. Loree, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio, spent yesterday inspecting the Connellsville division. He was accompanied as far as Connellsville by B. W. Duer, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division.

J. B. Yohe, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, returned yesterday from a two-days' inspection of the Monongahela division.

H. L. Born, agent at Fitzhenry, on the Baltimore & Ohio, has been transferred to Scott Haven. He succeeds C. P. Paul, who has been transferred to the telegraph department. W. J. Burrell, formerly at Gibsonia, has taken the position at Fitzhenry.

B. C. Vaughn, assistant to Vice President and General Manager John M. Schoonmaker of the P. & L. E., took a trip in his private car up the Youghiogheny division.

REPORT SHOWS SURPLUS.

Good Earning Capacity Proven by Annual Report of Mercantile Marine Company.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The first annual report of the International Mercantile Marine Company, made public today, shows the gross voyage earnings as $29,667,756; miscellaneous earnings, $1,359,664; total, $31,037,420; gross expenses, $27,036,898; net, $4,000,522; charges, $3,645,227; surplus earnings, $355,295; surplus insurance account, $1,442,502; total surplus for the year, $1,797,797.

President J. Bruce Ismay says in his report that the board of directors has determined that the fiscal year shall correspond with the calendar year, in order that the reports may be prepared in time for the annual stockholders' meeting, which is held annually on the first Monday in June.

The gross earnings of $31,037,420 do not include the gross earnings of the Leyland and National lines, which bring the aggregate of the fleet to nearly $37,500,000. With the continuance of the organization it is stated that there will be an elimination of unnecessary duplication of expenditures and a consequent increase in the surplus each year.

NINETEENTH WARD HOUSES BOUGHT

ACTIVITY IN FARM LANDS

Five houses belonging to ex-City Treasurer D. B. Torrence, located at Euclid and Hampton avenues, Nineteenth ward, have been sold to Francis E. McGillick, the builder, for $30,000, or $6,000 each. The houses were built by Mr. Torrence about two years ago, before he left for California, where he is now engaged in the real estate business. They occupy a lot 120x160 feet, and are nine-room side-hall dwellings with brick veneered walls. The houses rent for $35 a month and were bought for an investment. This makes a total of over 30 houses in the Nineteenth ward that have changed hands within three weeks. In most cases the buyers have bought for homes, and the prices have ranged from $6,000 to $21,000 each.

Last year more first-class houses were sold in the Nineteenth ward than in any other ward in the city, and the growing popularity of the neighborhood is evidenced again by the number and importance of the transactions and the class of buyers interested. More good houses are being built in the Nineteenth ward this year than in any other East End ward, with the possible exception of the twenty-first, and speculative builders who have houses ready for occupancy are having little trouble in disposing of them at a good profit or renting them at rates that assure a good income on the investment.

Buying Farms Near Etna.

The proposed street car line from Pittsburgh to Butler, by way of Etna, is likely to develop a considerable boom in farm lands along the route. Surveys have been completed for the line and some of the rights of way secured. Last year a few hundred feet of track was laid in Etna in order to hold the charter of the company. It is said that this work will be pushed in a few weeks and that by fall the work will be started all along the line. Within the past week a number of options have been secured on properties along the line and some interesting deals for farm properties are likely to be announced soon. Last week a five-acre tract, the last of the Hagan property, situated about two miles north of Etna, was sold for $5,500, or $1,100 an acre. The Krauss farm of 17 acres, situated on the little Pine Creek road and less than a mile from Senator Flinn's property, was also sold recently for $3,000, or about $183 an acre. Along the line of the proposed railway prices have advanced rapidly in anticipation of the benefits that will accrue from the street car service direct to the city. Much of the country along the route is well adapted for summer homes, and if the road goes through, as now seems certain, it will probably be sold off in plots of a few acres for this purpose.

Park Will Cost $40,000.

The Allegheny-Bellevue Land Company has started a force of 130 men and 25 teams working on the park which it will provide at the bend in the Perrysville plank road near the Schwitter allotment. The feature of the park will be a lake fed by springs and encircled by a boulevard 80 feet wide and over a mile in length. The improvement will cost at least $40,000, which will bring the total of the company's investment for improvements on the three West View properties marketed up to about $200,000. Next week the company will begin to lay 15 miles of water mains on the Schwitter allotment. The sewer and gas mains are already in position and some of the streets have been paved. Since June 15, 117 lots at Schwitter have been sold, including all the valuable business corners and most of the high-priced residence lots on the main streets.

The lots sold range in price from $450 to $800. Four houses have been started on the allotment this month in Wentworth, West View and Bellevue avenues. This makes a total of 98 houses now under way or finished on the three properties. Three churches are already assured on the West View allotments. The Presbyterians have lately bought three lots in Ridgewood avenue for $3,600, and will build a $15,000 church. The Lutherans have also secured a site in Ridgewood avenue, in West View No. 2. Last year the Roman Catholics got a site on the hill overlooking the Schwitter farm and have had plans prepared for a church to cost $20,000.

Six-Story Hotel Will Be Built.

The work of razing the old four-story building on the Robinson lot at the lower end of Diamond street, adjoining the Frank McCann property, was started Wednesday. The site will be used for a six-story fireproof hotel to be erected by Charles L. Walther. Architect Fred C. Sauer will take bids on this structure in a few days. It will contain 100 rooms and be provided with strictly modern appliances. Some time ago Mr. Walther leased the site through the Real Estate Trust Company for a period of 20 years.

Renova street: William S. Haynes sold to W. R. Browne, an improved lot, 21x69 feet, in the south side of Renova street, Twenty-third ward, for $5,000.

Webster avenue: Abraham Cooper sold to Harry Hirsch an improved lot, 20x126 feet, on the north side of Webster avenue, near Devilliers street, Eleventh ward, for $3,000.

Veeder for a two-story brick and frame dwelling in Dennison avenue, near Hastings street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $12,000; to George Knorr, for a three-story brick apartment house in Waverly street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $15,000; to J. S. Marshall, for a two-story brick dwelling, at Dennison avenue and Hastings street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $12,000.

The following building permits were issued in Allegheny yesterday: To L. McLaWall, for a brick three-story store at 1609 Beaver avenue, Sixth ward, to cost $8,500; to Charles Herman, for a frame two-story dwelling, in Observatory avenue, Second ward, to cost $3,500.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The drygoods market is slightly improved so far as inquiry is concerned. Export demand has cleaned up considerable stock on hand and the situation is by so much improved. Yet buyers seem to possess comparatively little confidence in the situation.

EGGS STILL FIRMER; POTATOES STRONGER

Peaches Are Lower—Poultry Is Slow—Oats Are Looking Better.

Commercial buyers were more plentiful yesterday than the day before and business showed an improvement all around. There was a decided upward tendency in eggs; shrinkage in supply is now very general and quotations are likely to go above 19 cents almost any time. Butter is steady to firm and a great deal is being stored. Cheese is in good request and the supply is sufficient. Coffee is strong and so is sugar. The grocery market, however, was without any particular features yesterday.

Poultry is slow. Spring chickens are wanted but buying is somewhat scant on most everything else. There is an easier feeling on peaches and prices are reduced on both Georgias and Texas. Cabbage is some easier; arrivals yesterday were light but the demand seems to have eased up. Potatoes continue firm, receipts yesterday being but 16 cars. Sixteen cars of bananas and one car of pineapples arrived. Melons are holding about steady. New Washington tomatoes arrived yesterday and were wanted. Berries stiffened and commanded full prices.

Although there is considerable hay on hand now, No. 1 timothy is none too plentiful and prices below are advanced 50 cents. There was a firmer feeling on oats on account of the change in Chicago yesterday and quotations will likely advance here today. Nine dollars is the top on straw and very little is to be had. Millfeed is slow, prices still being too high to attract buyers beyond the extent of immediate needs. Corn is selling in limited quantities with no better market than last week. The local flour situation is unchanged although reports are that mills have advanced spring patent.

COKE TRADE BECOMES SOMEWHAT MORE FIRM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., July 7.—The coke trade became a little more firm during last week but the production was light. It begins to look as though the business has now reached its lowest mark and if any turn comes in the trade it will be for the better. The shipments were over 800 cars more than the previous week and exceeded the production by 30,000 tons. The June record was extremely poor. The total production was 719,047 tons and the shipments 708,889 tons. With the exception of January, the trade was the lowest reported since 1900. The production for the second quarter aggregated 2,656,127 tons, as compared to 2,548,837 tons the first quarter of the year. For the half year the total is 5,204,964 tons, a yield at the present rate of 10,000,000 tons. Production last year up to the present time was 1,000,000 tons greater. The shipments for the first half of the year amounted to 4,904,075 tons. The summary of the region for the week shows 22,963 ovens in the region with 13,404 in blast and 9,649 idle. Of the 70 active plants in the region 59 plants made six days, nine plants five days and one plant, the Semet-Solway biproduct, seven days, an average of 5.80 days as compared to 5.4 days the last week. Production amounted to 160,065 tons, a decrease of 10,310 tons as compared to the previous week.

Shipments were 8,123 cars, an increase of 818 cars over last week. Shipments were distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river points 3,000 cars, an increase of 550 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 3,494 cars, a decrease of 222 cars; to points east of Everson, 1,630 cars, a gain of 490 cars. Shipments in tons were 182,708 tons compared to 168,650 tons, the previous week. Shipments from Masontown field were 1,108 cars, a decrease of 89 cars.

FLOODS IN WHEAT BELT SEND PRICES BOOMING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 7.—Continuation of heavy rains throughout the winter wheat country gave the wheat market a strong send-off. There was an active general demand for both the July and September deliveries but offerings were exceedingly meager. In consequence of the light offerings the price was bid up rapidly, sentiment in the pit being extremely bullish. The market was governed almost entirely by news from the southwest. The most sensational damage reports of the year found their way into the pit, flood conditions being reported from all sections of the southwest. A Kansas City paper estimated the loss in Kansas and Nebraska at 50,000,000 bushels. There was also a note of alarm in advices from the spring wheat country, a report from the Red river valley stating that the crop there was in worse condition than it had been since 1884. The Kentucky crop report was about the only distinctly reassuring feature of the day's news, official figures giving the condition of wheat of that state at 79, compared with 67 last month. Offerings of wheat continued light until the price of September had been forced up to 84¾c. On the advance a number of local holders took profits, causing a reaction, September declining to 84¼@84⅛c. The market, however, lost none of its bullishness, closing strong. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 9,600 bushels. Primary receipts were 219,500 bushels, compared with 287,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 170 cars, against 209 cars last week and 62 cars a year ago.

For the first time in some weeks there was activity in the corn market. Strength of wheat was the main factor, although the floods in the southwest affect the corn crop almost as seriously as they do wheat. There was a good general demand the entire day and prices advanced steadily throughout the session. The strength of the cash market helped speculative trading. The market closed almost at the highest point. Local receipts were 79 cars, with two of contract grade.

Strength of wheat and corn had a bullish effect on the oats market. There was more trading today than had been witnessed for some time, the pit crowd being an active buyer of September. Commission houses also had liberal buying orders. The market closed strong and near the best price of the day. Local receipts were 28 cars.

Provisions experienced a little setback early in the day as a result of a weak tone in the hog market, but the strength of grains overcame this handicap and sentiment during the latter part of the session was quite firm.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 5 cars; corn, 123 cars; oats, 62 cars; hogs, 26,000 head.

Encouraging Developments in West Virginia's Oil Fields

Developments in the lower southwest fields were a little more encouraging yesterday than for some time past. More good producers were drilled in or completed than for any one day during a month. In the Big Injun sand development, near Wick, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company's No. 8 on the J. W. Ankrom farm, drilled in Tuesday and which produced 450 barrels the first 24 hours, was drilled a little deeper and its production increased to 50 barrels an hour.

The Pine Grove extension, Wetzel county, has introduced the nearest approach to a gusher for any time during the current year. It is E. H. Jennings & Brothers' test on the Marcellus Postalwait farm. The well was drilled in last Tuesday and at the end of the second 24 hours was holding up at 350 barrels a day.

Near Burton, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia Company's test on the S. Anderson farm produced 70 barrels the first 12 hours after it had been drilled into the fifth sand pay. A producing well in the fifth sand is a new feature for this locality, and will be the incentive for making additional tests in the fifth sand.

On Buffalo run, Wetzel county, the Kanawha Oil Company has drilled its No. 104 on the John Mills tract into the Big Injun, and the well produced 100 barrels the first 24 hours.

In the fifth sand development, at Fairview, Marion county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the Wilson heirs' farm into the fifth sand and has a producer good for 100 barrels a day from that level.

On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 8 on the C. E. Robinson farm through the Gordon, and has a show for a very light pumper. The same company has shot its No. 3 on the Mary Heldreth farm and the hole filled up 700 feet with fluid. The same company drilled its test on the W. S. Davidson farm into the Little Dunkard sand and the hole filled up 400 feet with fluid. The Dunkard sand in this well was encountered at 400 feet below the Pittsburgh coal.

Near Weston, Lewis county, the Reserve Gas Company has drilled its test well on the Frank Alfred farm into the fifth sand, and has a fair gasser.

In the Elm run district, Ritchie county, the Hochstetter Oil Company has completed its second test on the J. O. Linch farm, and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the salt sand. In the Yellow creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its Nos. 9 and 10 on the Camden-Sommers farm and has two good producers: No. 9 is good for 50 or 60 barrels, and No. 10, 100 barrels a day.

The Cresco Oil and Gas Company has completed its No. 3 on the E. Jackson farm and will not have better than a 25 or 30-barrel producer. The Guaranty Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the P. S. Cox farm, and will have a 50 or 75-barrel producer.

The new wells coming in are maintaining the production of the shallow sand territory development, which is now about 1,800 barrels a day. The South Penn company's Nos. 3 and 4 on the Camden-Sommers farm are producing 100 barrels a day each, and the same company's No. 1 on the R. E. Gardner farm 150 barrels a day.

In the development near Jerusalem, Monroe county, O., Mooney & Company have completed their test on the Elizabeth Winland farm and have a show for a 20 or 25-barrel producer in the Keener sand. West of the Harper pool, in the same county, the tank at the Carter Oil Company's No. 2 on the Bennett heirs' farm was struck by lightning yesterday and burned to the ground. The tank contained a small quantity of oil.

Near Germantown, in the Macksburg field, H. C. Lord & Company have completed their test on the R. R. Warren farm and have a duster. In the same district, the Consolidated Oil and Gas has drilled its second test on the A. G. Parks farm into the Germantown sand and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper.

On the Economy tract, in Beaver county, Pa., P. M. Shannon has drilled in his No. 62 on the big tract and has a show for a small pumper in the 100-foot.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A rare happening in the annals of mining crops out in the case of the Addie C. Mining Company, which holds some excellent territory in the Cripple Creek district. All of the directors chosen at the last annual meeting are now dead. Hence a call has been issued by holders of the stock for a meeting in Denver August 3, 1904, to elect another directory.

During the month of June Horace Granfield, operating the C. K. and N. at Cripple Creek under lease, shipped 900 tons of ore having an average value of $100 a ton, making his output worth $90,000. The tonnage was low compared to what it usually is, the mine having been closed eight days during the month. Now that the railroad switch has been built to the ore bins, Lessee Granfield this month expects to ship more than 2,000 tons of ore.

Work on the big mining enterprise managed by N. R. Bagley, representing St. Louis capitalists, which will develop the most extensive single group of claims in the San Juan, will be started at once near Animas Forks, says the Silverton Miner. It had been the intention of Mr. Bagley to work from the other side of the range, and he had made arrangements to begin a mammoth tunnel at a point in Poughkeepsie gulch and drive it under the Continental divide, tapping in its course a large number of big veins of known richness. Certain parties knowing of his intentions made locations on the line of his work and attempted to force him to buy them out. In order not to be held up and also because his work on this side will be much nearer a railroad, making supplies easier of access, Mr. Bagley has transferred his base of operations to Animas Forks, and from near there will start his big tunnel. The major portion of his property is comprised in the old Mineral mountain group of 64 claims to which he has added by purchase and location until he has almost 75 claims. A number of his new properties are now in process of patent.

Denver News: George Crawford, manager for the reorganized Red Mountain companies, spent Wednesday in Silverton arranging for the arrival of a large excursion party which will be in Silverton on the evening of July 9. The party will comprise about 60, of whom probably 15 will be ladies. They will leave New York July 2 on a special train of six coaches, carrying dining, observation and sleeping cars, and will land in Alabama on the morning of the 9th. This is probably the most elaborate excursion that has ever been brought from the east to inspect the wonderful resources of Colorado's mineral wealth. The party is composed of wealthy people, who are coming to see for themselves what we possess. Their visit cannot help but result in great good to this section, and Mr. Crawford is entitled to great credit for arranging for the excursion.

The Spearfish Gold Mining and Reduction Company, operating in the Black Hills of South Dakota, has declared a dividend of one-half a cent a share on its outstanding stock. This is the fourteenth dividend of the company and amounts to $17,410. The total disbursements of the company, including this dividend, sum up $117,640.

July in Utah will truly be a record-breaker in the way of dividends, says the Deseret News. It is forecasted that approximately $890,000 will be passed out as earnings from the mines of Utah. Among those likely to be heard from, and their respective amounts, are: Utah Consolidated, $450,000; United States, $200,000; Silver King, $100,000; Daly West, $72,000; Grand Central, $25,000; Annie Laurie, $12,500; Century, $3,000; Salvator, $2,500; Utah, $1,000. These nine mines will bring the aggregate up to $856,000. The Mammoth will pay 5 cents a share, or $20,000.

A single South Africa company—the Ferreira—passed a dividend last month of 112.5 per cent, making 2,015 per cent since 1891.

The richest of any strike so far this season has been made by J. McCaskey and J. M. Belisle on the Hattie lode, located near the head of Chapman gulch, on the range dividing the Ophir district from the Bear creek region, says the Telluride Examiner. For the past four weeks ore running from 50 cents to $1 per pound has been steadily encountered. In addition to the rich ore, which of course is shipped crude to the refineries, mineral of a lower grade is regularly extracted. The owners are taking out from $15,000 to $20,000 per month.

Despite the labor strike, the output of the Cripple Creek camp for June amounted to 52,700 tons of ore, averaging $27 a ton, or a total of $1,607,000.

The Metal Market.

RECEIVER FOR E. T. C. SLEASE & CO.

Well-Known Brokerage Firm Is Obliged to Close Its Doors in New York.

LOCAL MANAGER SURPRISED

The brokerage firm of Edward T. C. Slease & Co., with headquarters in New York and Pittsburgh, and numerous branch offices in smaller towns, has suspended, and Robert C. Morris of New York has been appointed receiver. The petitioners in bankruptcy represent claims aggregating less than $3,500. The assets consist of seats in the Consolidated exchange, the Petroleum exchange, office furniture and some outstanding accounts. The fact that the firm was short of the market is said to be the immediate cause of the failure.

E. T. C. Slease is well known in Pittsburgh. He made rapid progress in his financial undertakings. Several years ago he opened a small office carrying on a margin trade and established agencies in small towns surrounding Pittsburgh. Subsequently his brother, C. H. Slease, became a member of the firm. About a year ago they went to New York and bought out the firm of Cowan & Co., thus securing memberships in the Consolidated exchange. They furnished handsome offices near the Waldorf, having a short time previously equipped a sumptuous suite in the Arrott building in this city. It was the boast of the firm that it had the finest brokerage offices in the country.

T. Edward Barrett, manager of the Pittsburgh offices, stated last night that he was surprised to hear of the failure and had received no intimation of the firm's financial instability. He said:

"I have been in charge of the Pittsburgh office only three weeks, succeeding S. C. Moran, who resigned to embark in business on his own account. At noon I received a telegram from New York informing me that the firm had gone into the hands of a receiver and to accept no more business. I believe the suspension will be only temporary, and do not think that any of the clients will lose their money."

Last evening Alexander Dodds, The Gazette's New York correspondent, sent the following story of the Slease failure:

NEW YORK, July 7.—Announcement of the failure of Slease & Co. to settle their clearing house balance was made on the Consolidated stock exchange this morning. The handsome offices of the company in the Hanover Bank building were opened for business today up to the time a message was received from Charles W. Zaring, counsel for Mr. Slease, stating the firm had been placed in the hands of a receiver. Last December Clyde H. Slease retired and since then E. T. C. Slease has been the whole firm.

It developed Slease & Co. were short of the market to a considerable extent. Apparently they had been caught by yesterday's big market bulge. The firm has been sending market letters to its customers advising them strongly to buy stock, and this fact excited comment in Wall street today. The market letter of the firm sent out Tuesday night predicted a big stock advance and read:

"Wire us your orders to buy immediately upon receipt of this letter, and let your marginal remittance follow by mail."

The customers were particularly advised to buy Atchison, Union Pacific, St. Paul and United States Steel preferred, all of which have since gone up sharply. It was said at the exchange that the firm owed the clearing house about $2,500.

Judge Adams of the United States district court appointed Robert C. Morris receiver of the assets of the company, his bond being placed at $5,000. It was stated the assets consist of a seat in the consolidated exchange and petroleum exchange, cash, stocks, office furniture estimated worth being $5,000 and $10,000, and also some outstanding accounts. The main office of the company is in the Hanover bank building, Wall and Nassau streets, but they also had branches in Astor Court building, this city, and at Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Steubenville, O.; Paterson, N. J.; Wheeling, W. Va., and Youngstown, O., and New Castle, Pa., but the last three, it was said at the office, were lately discontinued.

The petitioners in bankruptcy are three in number, Joseph Cowan, with a claim of $1,800; S. H. Philo, $1,268, and J. H. Fallon, with a third claim of $65. Attached to the petition is a statement signed by the firm admitting insolvency and expressing a willingness to be adjudged a bankrupt.

Charles W. Zaring of 20 Broad street, attorney for Slease, said his client's suspension was necessitated by the filing of involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against him by Philo & Co., stationers; J. [illegible] printer, and Joseph Cowan.

Nothing regarding the status of the firm could be learned at the office. A man named Stone, who said he was the order clerk, referred all inquiries to Lawyer Zaring. The latter was not at his office.

Mr. Stone said that C. H. Slease had been on hand today, but he did not know whether he had knowledge of the impending failure. At any rate, no one else in the office did.

E. T. C. Slease had not been there since yesterday. A crowd of customers were in the office, who were awaiting some news as to whether they were likely to obtain anything on their accounts or not. Joseph Cowan, one of the petitioners, sold the New York office to Slease, and soon after his disposal of the Consolidated seat became involved in a litigation with Blanche Smith, who came from a Pennsylvania city and alleged he had withheld stocks amounting to $50,000 belonging to her. Mr. Slease at that time was about to sail for Europe, but remained in New York, and the proceedings against Cowan were finally dropped.

ALEXANDER DODDS.

TWO BIG RAILROADS ACQUIRED BY C., H. & D.

Controling Interest Secured in Pierre Marquette and Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville.

NEW YORK, July 7.—What is said to be one of the biggest railroad deals ever put through in the middle west was announced tonight, after a meeting in this city of the directors of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton has acquired a controlling interest in the Pere Marquette and the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville railroads.

Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati was elected president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton at the meeting today, and George M. Cumming of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, of this city, was elected vice president. The New York interests of the system will be looked after by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, of which George W. Young is president.

M. D. Woodford who has for many years been president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, has been an invalid for some time and three weeks ago retired as president.

The annual gross earnings of the three roads is between $20,000,000 and $22,000,000. It is said the capital stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton system will be equivalent to $2,000 a mile. Extensive improvements are contemplated.

THE PENNINGTON'S NOW FACE CHARGES

WOMEN RELEASED ON BAIL

Edward J. Pennington, better known as "Airship Pennington," who was arrested in St. Louis last week on two charges of conspiracy to defraud, and brought here Wednesday of this week, was committed to jail yesterday by Magistrate Stewart, to answer at court for his alleged misdoings.

Mattie Pennington, alias Mattie La Mar, who was known here as Pennington's wife, or rather as Mrs. John Howard, the name of Howard having been taken by Pennington for a portion of the time he and the woman were here, and Catherine Sherman, a woman who was here with the Penningtons ,apparently as the companion of Mattie, waived hearings before Magistrate Stewart and gave bail to answer at court. Mrs. Pennington is charged with conspiracy to defraud and the Sherman woman with obtaining money under false pretense. Attorney Harry L. Goehring has been retained to defend Pennington and the women. Attorney H. H. Patterson withdrew from the case yesterday. Bail for the women, in the sum of $500 each, was furnished by a man who gave the name of W. C. Copeland.

The criminal informations on which Pennington is held were made by Dr. L. W. Swope, who performed an operation on Mrs. Pennington at the Passavant hospital, and by Hattie E. Geis, a well known manicurist, who was induced to part with some of her money by the cleverness of Mrs. Pennington. Civil suits have been entered against Pennington and the woman known as his wife, before Alderman John Groetzinger. One was entered by A. W. Smith, a florist, and the other by C. H. Douglass, manager of the Hotel Duquesne. Both were to recover unpaid bills.

A number of other persons called at Central police station yesterday to tell of their troubles with the Penningtons. There was a nurse and a boarding house keeper. The nurse said she attended Mrs. Pennington at the Passavant hospital. Mrs. Pennington wanted young chickens. The nurse bought a number of broilers, paying $1.25 apiece for them. Mrs. Pennington left the hospital without leaving any money and the nurse was compelled to pay for the chickens.

Florist Smith has a high opinion of Pennington's methods. He said Pennington came in his store and ordered a $10-box of flowers. He asked the clerk if there was any place nearby where he could buy a drink quick and left the store. In a few minutes Pennington returned in an automobile. He was handed the flowers and rode away without paying for them. The clerk thought he was some distinguished person and would call later and pay for the flowers.

"They 'did' me, all right," said Hattie Geis. "Mrs. Pennington came to my place to have her hair dressed a number of times. We became familiar, and she told me she knew of some stock that she could make money on. She said her name was Howard, and that she knew a man who had run off from Cleveland with another man's wife and that the police were after him and he needed money. She told me the man had some stock which he would almost give away for $25 a share. I let the woman have $225 to buy the stock. She said we would take the stock to Cleveland and sell it for $40 a share and have a profit of $15 a share to divide. The woman said the stock was for an automobile company, but she did not tell me that the man who had it for sale was her husband."

Dr. Swope did not say much, but his attorney presented an affidavit charging Pennington with "engaging him to perform an operation on Mrs. Pennington, and did wilfully, maliciously and with criminal intent refuse to render payment for said professional service." Dr. Swope's bill is for $500.

Pennington is a fine-appearing fellow. He is 45 years old and is six feet three inches tall, and weighs over 245 pounds. He possesses all the manners of a man of the world. He was taken to jail in a patrol wagon from the Central station. His long brown frock coat and high silk hat attracted considerable attention when he got out of the wagon in Ross street.

He carried a handbag and was much impressed with the interior of the jail office. Deputy Warden Charles Taylor stood Pennington up to search him. The prisoner spread out his arms and jokingly said:

"I want a suite of rooms and bath, and three $1 meals sent to me each day."

"You will get three meals," said the deputy, "and as for a bath, you will get one right away." And then Pennington was hustled away to the big scrubbing bath.

Among Pennington's possessions was a newspaper clipping, found in his handbag. The clipping was about his career in London. "Pennington Now Rich" was the headline. The story told of Pennington selling a war automobile to the British government and of taking King Edward on his first auto ride. There was another detail about him being at the head of a $5,000,000 company in the United States.

Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide is of the opinion Pennington is somewhat demented, and that he is the dupe of the two women under arrest. Pennington is said to be a machinist and to have lost his right thumb while working at his trade years ago.

Mrs. Pennington rebelled against the prison fare at Central station, but hunger finally drove her to eat a luncheon from a basket at the station house. She said she was accustomed to using her private linen at the best hotels, as she could not bear hotel linen.

CELEBRATION OF FOURTH IN BERLIN DISPLEASING

German Paper Denounces Custom—Kaiser's Friendliness Dissatisfies Aristocracy.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, July 7.—The ultra-conservative paper Deutsche Tages Zeitung, in a leading article furiously denounces the spread of the custom of celebrating the Fourth of July in this city. Every year the number of Germans who show their friendship for America by decorating their houses with the American colors on July 4, is increasing. All the large hotels this year had their fronts covered from top to bottom with American flags, and two of them even had pictures of President Roosevelt.

The papers say that this is absolutely undignified and might pass without objection in America, where the object is only to acquire business, but although the German hotel keepers naturally like to see their houses filled with American tourists, there is no reason why they should lower themselves and their country in the estimation of the world, the paper says, by flattering Americans in this disgraceful manner. Among the aristocracy there is also great dissatisfaction that the kaiser showed a marked preference for Americans and Englishmen during the regatta week at Kiel, and also that he seemed much more interested in talking with Hamburg and Bremen merchant princes than in the conversation of the few members of the nobility who were invited to take part in the festivities.

INSPECTION BEGUN ON PASSENGER BOATS

NEW YORK, July 7.—The reinspection of passenger carrying boats in New York harbor as ordered by former Secretary George B. Cortelyou, as a result of the Slocum disaster, was begun today. The investigation by the local board of inspectors conducted by Gen. Dumont and Inspector Barrett was continued today.

Spragg Admitted to Bail.

WAYNESBURG, PA., July 7.—(Special.)—A habeas corpus hearing was held tonight in the case of Lazar Spragg, charged with the killing of David Seals on June 20 during a quarrel near Spragg's home in Jackson township. Seals said before dying he held no ill will against Spragg. He was admitted to bail upon a bond of $12,000.

STRANGE TURN IN PHIPPS CASE

Plaintiff's Counsel Reported to Have Pleaded for Time for Defense.

NEWS TO ATTORNEY YOUNG

James S. Young, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps in the proceedings in divorce that have been instituted against her by Lawrence Cowle Phipps, returned from the east last night after having had a conference with Attorney James Beck and Senator P. C. Knox, and stated that there would be no immediate developments in the case as far as the defense was concerned.

A dispatch received by The Gazette from Denver earlier in the day announced that Gerald Hughes, attorney for Mr. Phipps, had taken the almost unprecedented action, in that city, of applying to the court and securing for the defendant an extension of time of 30 days, in order to allow her to file an answer to the complaint entered by Mr. Phipps. The action is said to have been taken because the court has no right to determine the property rights of the defendant if the defendant is out of the state. The fact that the plaintiff did not take judgment by default is considered in Denver as something startling.

The dispatch further announces that Mrs. Phipps will force her husband to drop the case in Denver and to assume the role of defendant in another case in Pittsburgh, in which desertion or incompatibility of temper will be the charge. Property rights and the custody of the children are to be determined out of court. It is further stated in the Denver dispatch that when Mr. Phipps arrives in Pittsburgh he will, under pain of contempt, have to produce the two children whom he took from New York, and that Mrs. Phipps will then have an even chance to secure them, while the properties now standing in her name are to remain in a status quo until finally settled. Mrs. Phipps is also said to have entered a complaint in a divorce suit in this city which the Denver report states was filed at a time so near that of Mr. Phipps' that there is some question as to which was filed first.

Mr. Young, when apprised of this information last night, stated that it was news to him. He said Mrs. Phipps had entered no complaint against her husband at any time and that as far as he knew there was no truth in the report. He said the information that Mr. Hughes had asked for an extension of time for the defendant might be true, but that he had received no official notification of the fact. Whether or not Mrs. Phipps would fight the case in Denver Mr. Young refused to say, but stated that the defense was not ready at this time to disclose any developments in the case.

Mrs. Phipps last night also denied emphatically that any complaint had as yet been entered by her against her husband in Pittsburgh or anywhere else, and that the reported action of Mr. Hughes in asking for an extension of time for her was news as far as she is concerned.

FOX HUNTERS HAVE FIGHT WITH FARMER AND SON

One Man Loses Hand—Warrants Issued—Prominent People Are Involved.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WAYNESBURG, PA., July 7.—Warrants were sworn out by Spencer Chambers and his son, Joseph Chambers, today before Justice John C. Knox, charging Marion Shriver and Albert Shriver with assault with intent to kill and charging Elijah Caddick with assault and battery. The story told by the Chambers is that the father owns a large farm six miles east of Waynesburg and has been greatly annoyed by foxes taking his chickens, as well as by fox hunters trespassing upon his property. He has been shooting young foxes at every opportunity, which angered the lovers of the chase. Last evening Chambers and his son James started out with a shotgun to kill young foxes and passed Marion Shriver of Waynesburg, his son Albert of Khedive, Constables James Zimmerman of Franklin township, and Elijah Caddick, of West Waynesburg, who had been out fox hunting during the day. They accosted Chambers, who told the men to keep away from him. Caddick seized Chambers' gun and dealt him a blow across the forehead. The weapon was discharged, tearing away one of Caddick's hands. Marion Shriver also struck Chambers, knocking him down, and was in turn knocked down with a stone by James Chambers. Shriver had warrants issued for Spencer and James Chambers last night, but they were at once admitted to bail by Justice Samuel Montgomery. Today Spencer Chambers made an information against Shriver and Caddick for assault and battery. Marion Shriver is ex-register and recorder of Greene county, is a director of the Peoples National bank, president of the Waynesburg Brewing Company and is prominent in politics. The accused were admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000 each, this being the amount of bond given by Chambers and his son in the counter prosecution.

The fox hunting party allege that Spencer Chambers halted Marion Shriver in the road, threatening to kill him, and that Shriver knocked him down and as he did so Chambers' gun was discharged. Chambers and his son deny this version of the fight, as also do other witnesses. It is alleged by the fox hunters that Chambers was angry because he was made to pay for a fox hound belonging to Constable Zimmerman, which he had killed.

PEACEMAKER ARRESTED.

Female Cripple Without Legs Knocked Out Two—Police Balk on Carrying Her.

Rather than carry Mrs. John Lee, a woman without legs, down the steep hill at Fifty-seventh street, Capt. Peter Welsh left her in the house, exulting over her escape from the clutches of the law. Although a cripple she knocked out her husband and almost rendered unconscious a neighbor woman who ran to the rescue of the head of the household.

Mrs. Lee had her legs cut off by a street car some time ago. A quarrel with her husband last night ended in her hurling a beer bottle which cut him. Mrs. Mary Foley tried to interfere, but was met by Mrs. Lee wielding a poker with which she put Mrs. Foley down and out. The police captain came, arrested Mrs. Foley, but left Mrs. Lee behind because he could not carry her.

Templars to Hold Temperance Rally.

A midsummer temperance rally will be held this evening in the Hazelwood Methodist Episcopal church, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars. Erasmus Wilson, the "Quiet Observer" of The Gazette, and George Rankin, Jr., grand chief templar, will speak.

GIRLS LEAP FROM BLAZING HOUSES

NEGRO SAVED BY FIREMEN

One man had a narrow escape from asphyxiation, two girls were compelled to jump from windows to save themselves and Lieutenant Harry Sill of truck No. 4 had his hand badly cut during a fire that broke out in two tenement houses in Browns court, in the rear of No. 135 Federal street, shortly after 9 o'clock last night. The interior of the houses were ruined. The damage is estimated at about $500.

The fire originated in the house occupied by Mary Lewis, colored, who left a lamp on the table. The lamp exploded. The burning oil set fire to the furniture and before anyone had knowledge of the fire the flames had found their way to the adjoining tenement occupied by Thomas Green and family, colored.

Mary Lewis, her daughter and boarders were away at the time of the explosion. Green and his family had retired. Green's wife, Lydia, rushed out of the house while he went upstairs to assist his daughters, Mary and Sadie, 15 and 17 years old, to get out. Green was lost in the smoke and the girls were awakened by the cries of their mother. The girls jumped from the second-story windows into the court. They were caught by a colored man.

An alarm was sent in from box No. 84, and when the firemen arrived both houses were blazing.

The firemen used the chemical apparatus on the flames and tried to find Green, who had been rendered unconscious by the smoke in searching for his children. Green was found lying in the corner of a room. He was brought into the court way and was soon revived. Lieutenant Sill heard someone call for assistance, and in groping his way through the smoke, accidentally pushed his hand through a window, cutting the wrist badly.

NEW SUBURBAN CHURCHES.

Presbyterians of Sharpsburg and Avalon Decide to Build New Edifices.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church of Sharpsburg yesterday decided to sell its building in Main street, Sharpsburg, and to erect a new building to cost $35,000. Italians of the borough who have been trying to secure a home for their recently organized Roman Catholic congregation, have offered the Presbyterians $14,000 for the Main street building. The offer will probably be accepted by the congregation at its next meeting. The site for the new Presbyterian church has not yet been selected.

The Avalon Presbyterian congregation has decided to build a church to cost between $40,000 and $50,000. The building committee last night elected Lee Duncan chairman, and G. B. Lewis secretary. Rev. C. H. Dunlap is the pastor.

No Extra Pay for Guardsmen.

FRANKLIN, PA., July 7.—(Special.)—A letter received by Capt. Frank Barr from the treasury department indicates that the expectation of the members of the Sixteenth regiment, N. G. P., that they will receive additional pay for their services in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war, will not be realized. The letter states that the members of command received the benefit of a furlough and for that reason they are not entitled to extra pay.

Not Dead, But in Army.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 7.—(Special.)—The many friends of Arthur Garrison, formerly employed in the department of pharmacy at the state hospital, were surprised and startled at his reappearance in this city today. Mr. Garrison disappeared mysteriously a year ago, and the story of his death was published in local papers. He is now employed as a pharmacist on board the United States army transport Kilpatrick.

STARVED OUT.

Many a garrison has been forced to give up the fight and hang out the white flag of surrender, when lack of food has weakened the men past all power to continue the struggle.

Many a man is similarly starved out of business. His digestion is impaired. His food does not nourish him, and for lack of strength to carry on the struggle he turns his store over to another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength to weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

"About ten years ago I began to be afflicted with stomach trouble, also diarrhea," writes Mr. Wm. Walters, of Antrim, Mo. "In warm weather it grew worse, until it would throw me into a cramping chill. Was troubled so often that I sometimes thought my end had come. Tried many remedies, but they gave only temporary relief. In November, 1899, thought I would try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I got six bottles and took five in succession, then thought I would wait for a time and take the one left. Soon found I had symptoms of the trouble coming back, so took the sixth bottle and it cured me. I have enjoyed the best of health this summer, and the credit all belongs to your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can't express my many thanks to Dr. Pierce for his remedy, for it did so much for me. Words cannot express how severely I suffered.

"If any doubt the above statement let them address me, and I will take great pleasure in answering."
